LEAGUE GROUP ACTS TO BEGIN ARMS HOLIDAY

Adopts Resolution Paving Way for Truce Dating From Nov. 1.

NAVAL ORGANIZATION IN U. S. FIGHTS PLAN

Declares Building Cessation Disadvantageous; Favors London Pact Terms.

Geneva, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The disarmament committee of the League of Nations late tonight adopted a resolution designed to prepare for a possible one-year truce in armaments beginning November 1.

The resolution, embodying a compromise between the Italian proposal for an immediate truce—which the United States and the majority of the league members supported—and objections raised by Japan and France, reads as follows:

"The assembly requests the governments invited to the disarmament conference (to be held in Geneva next February) to prepare for this event by means of an armaments truce and accordingly

"Requests the council (of the league) to urge the governments convened to the said conference to give proof of their earnest desire for a successful issue of efforts to insure and organize peace, and without prejudicing the decision of the conference or the programs or proposals submitted to it by each government, to refrain from any measure involving an increase in their armaments.

Sounded on Year's Truce.

"It likewise requests the Council to ask the governments to state before November 1 whether they are prepared for a period of one year, as from that date, to accept this truce in armaments."

The proposal for an immediate truce in the building of armaments, to last until after the close of the disarmament conference which is to open next February, was made in the league Assembly on September 8 by Dino Grandi, Italy's foreign minister.

It evoked no demonstration of enthusiasm among the delegates at the time, but it set up a buzz of discussion in the lobbies afterward, and the German delegates were said to have been particularly well pleased.

"Such an agreement," Grandi said, "not only would be an example of good will but would create for the disarmament conference a better political and psychological atmosphere which would do more good than all the declarations of principle which might be made.

Hailed as Economic Measure.

"It is hard to see the utility of adjusting war payments while the present armaments competition continues. Let us reduce our war-making weapons and we shall see that economic barriers will lower themselves."

The proposal was viewed "with friendly sympathy" by the United States Government the next day and was supported with unusual enthusiasm by the Italian press. Two days later Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, told the league assembly that the problem of security would have to be solved before real reduction of armaments could be realized.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, also proposed a naval holiday plan.

Its formal invitation was issued by the league assembly to the United States and eight other nations, nonmembers of the league, to participate in the discussions of the assembly's disarmament committee over the "holiday" proposal, and Hugh Wilson, United States Ambassador to Switzerland, was named as United States representative after the invitation was accepted.

Proposed Gentlemen's Agreement.

During the discussion Gen. Alberto de Martinis, Italian spokesman, made the proposal for a definite truce for one year on land, sea and air armaments. It was to be a "gentleman's agreement" forbidding increases in expenditure for land armament, suspending all new naval construction and all military air construction ex-

Forbes Urges Raising Bar Against Japanese

Seattle, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Removal of immigration barriers against Japanese and putting them under the quota system on an equal footing with other world powers was advocated by W. Cameron Forbes, United States Ambassador to Japan, when he passed through here on his way to Boston for a 30-day vacation.

"It would be a gracious move on the part of the United States," Forbes said. "The Japanese feel deeply hurt over our immigration restriction."

The ambassador expects to visit President Hoover.

Child-Everson Wedding Performed at Newport

Newport, R. I., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Richard Washburn Child, former United States Ambassador to Italy, and Mrs. Dorothy Gallagher Everson, of Newport, were married here tonight at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gallagher.

A quiet ceremony was performed in the presence of a small group of relatives by Justice Hugh B. Baker, of superior court, after which the couple left on a motor trip. They will reside at Mr. Child's residence on their return here.

DENMARK TO DROP GOLD BASIS TODAY

Leaders Reported Agreed to Bill Suspending Standard Until November 30.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 28 (A. P.).—The government tonight officially confirmed reports that a measure suspending the gold standard until November 30 will be introduced in Parliament tomorrow.

The government's decision was announced in an official statement issued late tonight. The statement said that following the decision of the Swedish and Norwegian banks and governments to suspend the convertability of notes into gold it was clear that Denmark could not maintain the policy it pursued after the British suspension.

Officials of the Danish National Bank discussed the situation at length with government officials yesterday and the government was requested to authorize the suspension.

Party leaders were informed that a bill will be introduced into the lower house tomorrow morning. The prime minister said the leaders had agreed to the proposed measures, which would make the suspension effective until November 30, and authorize the appointment of an exchange committee.

It also was stated that it would be possible, by royal decree, to meet the wishes of the National Bank and reduce the metallic coverage from 50 to 33 1-3 per cent.

Otherwise the principal financial developments in Europe were further increases in bank rates.

The Irish Bank discount rate went up from 5½ per cent to 6½ per cent and that of the Bank of the Netherlands was raised from 2 per cent to 3 per cent. Ireland, because its currency is tied up with that of England, already was off the gold standard. The Bank of the Netherlands has announced that Holland does not intend to suspend the gold standard, since stability of the guilder is assured.

The Finnish Riksbank, on the other hand, said Finland had no intention of going off the standard.

Demands on Sweden for gold have been heavy since the British action, commissioners of the Swedish Riksbank said, and the bank's gold reserve had been reduced last week by $25,000,000.

Norway's action would have been necessary in any event, Chief Director Rygg, of the Bank of Norway, explained, and that country took the

Roosevelt's Selection On First Ballot Seen

(Associated Press.)

Prediction was made yesterday by Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, that Gov. Roosevelt of New York would be nominated for President by the Democrats on the first ballot at the next convention.

Senator Harris added that if nominated Mr. Roosevelt would be elected. The Georgia senator conferred last week with the New York Governor as he returned through Albany to Washington from a vacation trip.

'Certainly the people of Georgia are for Gov. Roosevelt," said Senator Harris.

FRENCH ENVOYS DISCUSS AMITY WITH GERMANY

Permanent Commission to Promote Friendship Is Created.

ALTERNATE CONTROL OF BODY IS PLANNED

Bruening May Join Laval in Visit to United States Next Month.

Berlin, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Government leaders of France and Germany joined today in creating a permanent economic commission as an initial step toward reconciliation of business and political interests of the two nations.

The "modest" achievement, as Premier Pierre Laval of France described it, was announced formally after the French Premier and his foreign minister, Aristide Briand, had visited President Paul von Hindenburg, veteran of Germany's most serious crises in war and peace.

First Meeting Friendly.

Although Von Hindenburg was one of the Germans listed on the famous "criminal list" of war time, Laval and Briand expressed eagerness to meet him and spent half an hour in friendly conversation. It was the first time Von Hindenburg had received active statesmen of the French republic.

Andre Francois-Ponce, French Ambassador to Berlin, accompanied the French ministers on their visit. Secretary of State Meissner acted as interpreter.

The French ministers, who conferred with Chancellor Heinrich Bruenipg and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius yesterday, saw some of the sights of Berlin and talked again with the German government leaders prior to announcement of the economic commission, which was agreed upon last night.

A joint communique was issued by the French and German ministers saying they had decided to establian a permanent commission which would be presided over alternately by a French and German cabinet minister. It was understood Briand and Curtius would be the presidents.

Alternate Sessions Planned.

The commission will hold sessions alternately in France and Germany. It will include representatives of various branches of business and labor.

The commission will examine economic questions affecting both peoples, with due regard for other nations and for international obligations. It also will develop existing economic agreements and create new

(Associated Press.)

Ten Nicaraguan insurgents were reported killed and 22 wounded in five engagements with Guardia patrols September 24 and 25.

Brig. Gen. F. L. Bradman reported there were no Guardia casualties.

The Guardia patrol includes Sergt. Jackson B. Hancock, of Jackson, Tenn.; Lieut. M. A. Cromer, of Marmarth, N. Dak.; Corpl. Ross A. Trosper, of Albion, Nebr., and Sergt. Sidney M. Ragsdale, of Seattle, Wash., all members of the Marine Corps.

Episcopal Bishops Approve Canon Liberalizing Divorce

Liquor Report Recognizes Difference of Opinion in Church, But Conclave Declines Action; Houses Split Over City for Next Convention.

Denver, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Liberalization of the canons to permit divorced persons who have been remarried by civil authority to remain in the church, upon approval of an ecclesiastical court, was endorsed today by the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church. This modification of existing regulations previously had been approved by the house of clerical and lay deputies.

The House of Deputies tonight agreed with the House of Bishops that there is a widespread difference of opinion among the church membership as to the wisdom and desirability of retaining the eighteenth amendment in its present form.

Although recognizing the difference of opinion, the church's general convention declined to take action on the ground that "it would not be the part of wisdom to ask the church, in its corporate capacity, to pass upon question of method thus involved in issues which in their nature are highly controversial, and closely related to partisan politics."

The prohibition issue was contained in the report of the committee of 21, appointed to study industrial dislocation, world peace and prohibition and lawlessness, which was adopted tonight by the House of Deputies. The House of Bishops had previously approved the report.

The House of Deputies late today rejected the selection of Atlantic City for the 1934 triennial convention, which had previously been made by the House of Bishops. Minneapolis was chosen by the deputies. Both houses must approve a selection before it becomes final.

The deputies tonight took up consideration of a marriage and divorce canon proposed by the bishops as a substitute for one adopted by the deputies. The differences between

Watson and Wood Beaten By Austin in Fight On Clark Project.

(United Press.)

A conflict between Vermont granite and Indiana limestone for prestige and business yesterday embroiled high Republican leaders in an acrimonious dispute—and resulted in a victory for granite.

The clash was before the George Rogers Clark Sesquicentennial Commission, which two months ago let a $733,800 contract for a massive memorial at Vincennes, Ind., to the man who first explored the Northwest. The contract specified that $400,000 worth of "Stanstead" granite be used.

Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, charged the contract was a "fraud and a scandal" and warned that it would be aired before Congress. Senator James E. Watson, Republican floor leader, also of Indiana, moved that the contract be abrogated.

Senator Watson's motion was voted down, 9 to 6, after Chairman Simeon D. Fess of the commission, who is also chairman of the Republican national committee, said if fraud was present it was a matter for the courts.

The commission then met the issue raised by the Indiana men—that the Stanstead Sub-Contracting Co. was a

200 WILL BE HEARD IN BRUTALITY PROBE

Subpenas Ready for Witnesses; Garrett Reports on Knowing Mason.

Subpenas last night were ready to go out to more than 200 witnesses whose testimony of alleged police brutality to prisoners will be repeated here next week before a new grand jury.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover is waiting only on determination of a date for resumption of the third degree hearings temporarily discontinued last week when discovery of a Government pensioner on the grand jury invalidated its findings, he told The Post.

The new grand jury will be sworn in October 6. Only two new third degree cases in addition to those presented to the adjourned grand jury—those two involving cases of alleged intimidation of Government witnesses—are now scheduled for presentation, Mr. Rover said.

Familiarity with the charges, which already have resulted in five valid indictments against policemen, and allegations against a score more, will enable the district attorney's office to present them concisely, and with more expedition, he said.

Mr. Rover said he had not made up his mind whether to ask the October grand jury to indict James Henry Harker on housebreaking charges. It was the alleged beating of Harker to obtain a confession, exposed in The Post, that led to the Department of Justice investigation. The housebreaking was ignored by the last grand jury.

Missing Boy Seen Victim of Hazing

Father Asks Police Aid in Search for Son, 15, Who Vanished.

Police last night were asked to aid in locating Ferguson Hungerford, 15 years old, who left his home at 1773 Lanier place northwest early yesterday to attend classes at Central High School and failed to return.

The boy's father, J. G. Hungerford, expressed the belief that his son was the victim of "hazing" activities at the high school. Ferguson, a first-year student, had complained recently that his companions in the upper classes forced him to submit to severe "rookie" initiations.

At a late hour last night police and the missing boy's father were searching the community. It was thought that perhaps the boy was locked in a vacant house or garage near the school.

Akron Finishes Cruise To Test Turning Radius

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The U. S. S. Akron tied up at its dock at 7:52 p. m. (E. S. T.) tonight after a nine-hour cruise, the longest test flight since it was turned over to the Navy a week ago. The flight was made without apparent incident. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl ordered the ship up at 10:44 a. m. in the fourth of five scheduled test flights.

The airship was sent through a series of maneuvers designed to determine turning radius. Prior to the flight it had been given speed and control tests. Cruising northward, the Akron appeared over Cleveland shortly after noon and then headed out over Lake Erie, where it maneuvered for more than an hour.

BOAST OF FRAME-UP IS LAID TO SCHENCK

Letter From Another Prisoner Given to Committee on Staples Probe.

A letter from a prisoner in Leavenworth Penitentiary who says that former Policeman Frederick A. Schenck boasted he was "going to frame a couple of cops" is before the committee designated by the District Commissioners to review the grand jury report which recommended reinstatement of former Policeman Orville Staples and the punishment of those responsible for his dismissal.

This mislaive, it was learned at the District Building yesterday, was received by the Commissioners last week and was forwarded to the investigating committee which has brought Schenck from Leavenworth to hear his story of the reputed framing of Staples.

The letter in substance, it was learned, is to the effect that Schenck, who is serving a 20-year sentence on a robbery charge, had told other convicts in July that he was going to Washington "to frame a couple of cops." After his testimony before the grand jury on the alleged framing of Staples he was returned to Leavenworth and boasted to other prisoners how he had "put it across."

Following Schenck's testimony, the grand jury on September 4 issued an excoriation of the Police Department, recommended the reinstatement of Staples, the dismissal of Patrolman Joseph H. Hunt, who was said to have aided in the alleged

Missouri May Fix Control of House

Voting Today for Member to Be Triangular Fight; Dry Issue Involved.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Upon the votes tomorrow of a few thousand citizens of southern Missouri, most of whom are farmers disgruntled over the low prices of corn, may hinge control of the House of Representatives in the next Congress.

The voters of the Seventh Congressional District go to the polls to select a successor to the late Representative Samuel C. Major, Democrat. They will choose among a Democrat, a Republican and an Independent who entered the race on an antiprohibition platform.

Ordinarily Democratic by a majority of some 2,700, the district was regarded as safe for Robert D. Johnson until the entry of L. L. Collins on a prohibition repeal platform. Collins was expected to draw considerable support from Johnson, Democratic leaders said that at least as many Collins votes would be taken from the column of John W. Palmer, Republican candidate, who has campaigned on an appeal for loyalty to President Hoover "in these trying times."

Lindberghs Turn Flood Survey to Wuhu Region

Nanking, China (Tuesday), Sept. 29 (A.P.).—Bound for the Wuhu region, southwest of Nanking, and Hankow, on a survey flight of flooded areas, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Lotus Lake at 10:30 a. m. today (9:30 p. m. Monday, E. S. T.).

BEER DISPUTE SPLITS RANKS ON BOTH SIDES

Jersey Delegation Fails to Agree on Appeal to President.

M'BRIDE TO DEFENSE OF LEGION MEETING

Bingham and Capper Differ; McKellar for Dry Stand by Democrats.

The furore over beer and the prohibition question in general continued yesterday, with most of the noise coming from wet New Jersey.

The New Jersey delegation in the National Congress, led by Representative Isaac Bacharach, met in Newark prepared to request President Hoover to come out for 4 per cent beer. They failed to agree In attendance was Senator Dwight Morrow, close friend of the President.

Here in Washington, Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas, head of the Senate farm bloc, argued against legalized beer, saying it would reopen the saloons and hurt the dairy and soft drink industries.

Dry Leaders Disagree.

A quarrel between two dry leaders developed when Dr. F. Scott McBride, of the Antisaloon League, said there was "noticeably little drinking" at the American Legion convention in Detroit. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals, had said the convention was an "orgy," attended by "staggering drunks."

Henry Leonidas Stevens, jr., new national commander of the American Legion, called on President Hoover and afterward said that the legion's resolution at Detroit was neither wet nor dry, but designed simply to urge a referendum. He again denied that "staggering drunks" adopted the resolution.

Senator Kenntth D. McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, in a speech in his home State warned that a wet plank in the Democratic platform would cost the party millions of dry votes in 1932 and would bring it none "because the wets are going to vote against Hoover anyway."

Jersey Conference Fails.

Newark, N. J. Sept. 28 (A.P.).—New Jersey's Republican congressional delegation, after a four-hour conference today with David Baird, jr., the party's candidate for governor, apparently failed to reach an agreement for a united plea to President Hoover for 4 per cent beer.

The meeting was called by Representative Isaac Bacharach, dean of the delegation and ranking member of the House ways and means committee, with the avowed purpose of uniting the delegation for the return of beer as an unemployment relief measure and to aid Baird's campaign.

It attracted unusual attention because of the attendance of Dwight W. Morrow, the State's junior senator and a leading advocate of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

At its conclusion, those partici-

Davis Will Retain Philippines Post

Statement Ends Rumors of Quitting, Guesses on Successor.

Manila, P. I., Sept. 29 (Tuesday) (U.P.).—Dwight Davis, governor general of the Philippine Islands, announced today he would take a temporary leave of absence this winter instead of resigning from his post.

The statement set at rest many reports that Davis would leave the islands permanently, and subsequent conjecture as to his possible successor.

The governor general said he would remain in Manila until after the adjournment of the Territorial Legislature on November 9.

TREASURY REJECTS DEBT PAYMENT CUT

Proposal to Suspend Expenditures From War Sinking Fund Opposed.

(Associated Press.)

Suspension of debt-retirement payments as a means of preventing tax increases was ruled out yesterday by the administration.

About $450,000,000 must be spent next year by the Treasury in cutting down America's war debt, which stands now at almost $16,000,000,000, and some members of Congress have proposed a suspension of these sinking fund payments during the depression.

As it became known that Government fiscal experts regard such a suspension unfavorably, it also was learned that various sources of new revenue open to the Government are being canvassed.

Despite this apparent move for new taxes, it was made clear that no decision has been reached by the administration on next year's fiscal program and means of meeting the prospective billion dollar deficit.

Administration opposition to suspension of the sinking fund operations was regarded also as indicative of a stand against the proposal of some Democratic leaders to modify the debt retirement program so as to make a part of this money available for Government expenditures.

Congress at the close of the war created the sinking fund for retirement of the public debt, then amounting to about $26,000,000,000. The fund increases each year.

It is the argument of the Democrats that the Government has gone far ahead of the sinking fund program in paying $10,000,000,000 on the public debt in ten years. This was done through the application of the Treasury surpluses of past years.

While the Democrats say it is time now to slow up debt payments, this was definitely opposed today in administration circles. It was contended in these quarters that to keep borrowing money to meet the Government's expenditures rather than to try to balance the budget was wrong in principle and in the end would react against the credit of the Government by forcing interest rates higher.

Justice Van Devanter Ill At Residence of Friend

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Willis Van Devanter, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, was ill today in the home of Judge Montgomery Webster, where he and Mrs. Van Devanter are visiting.

Although he kept to his bed, on advice of the attending physician, he expected to return to Washington late this week to be present for the court session, opening next week.

Gandhi Offers Concessions For Moslems' Help in India

Hindu Leader Expresses Willingness to Let Aga Khan Write Own Ticket in Return for His Support in Federal Scheme.

London, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The conflict between Hindus and Moslems, the settlement of which is one of the most vital problems facing the second Indian round-table conference, was attacked tonight in the privacy of the hotel rooms of his highness, the Aga Khan, Moslem potentate, by Mahatma Gandhi and the Indian prince.

The shaven-clad Hindu leader, who ended his weekly period of silence at 7 p. m., and the Aga Khan talked at length about the relative representation of the two strongest Indian factions in the projected federation of India.

Gandhi, it was understood, expressed willingness to give the Moslems almost a "blank check" which they might fill in as they willed with concessions from the Hindus in order to assure their cooperation in the federal scheme.

There were rumblings from other Hindu quarters, however, at the prospect of the Moslems writing in too much and of Gandhi conceding their request. It was virtually certain the mahatma would face serious disaffection in his own camp if he went too far in concessions to the Agha Khan.

Most of the delegates to the conference undoubtedly would like the British government to arbitrate the differences between the two factions, but Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, in convening the minorities committee today, refused to do so.

"I have been the scapegoat too often in my life," Mr. MacDonald said, "and, while I am willing to do it again if necessary, I think that in this respect you should be your own scapegoats and take the responsibility for solution of this very difficult problem."

STEP IS TAKEN FOR REPUBLIC IN MANCHURIA

Kirin Province Under New Rule; Japan Denies Territorial Aim.

WANG, MOB VICTIM, IN GRAVE CONDITION

League Will Create Body to Probe Clashes and Set Evacuation Date.

Tokyo, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Movements to make Manchuria a republic independent of China proper, with a provisional government for Kirin province already declared established, were reported today in Rengo News Agency dispatches from Mukden.

Meanwhile, the Japanese government disavowed inception of any political movement in Manchuria since its troops occupied cities along and outside the south Manchurian railway zone after conflicts with Chinese soldiers. Disclaiming territorial ambitions, Japan said its troops would be withdrawn.

With Chang Hsueh-Liang, 30-year-old governor of Manchuria, remaining in the Rockefeller Hospital at Peiping after weeks of illness, Manchurian plotters hoped to oust him from his rule over 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 people in a rich country of 363,610 square miles.

Gen. Hai Sia, former chief of the Kirin provincial army, was said to have been set up as governor of Kirin, with a cabinet and commissioner of police.

Favors Independent State.

The Manchuria for Manchurians Association, meeting in Mukden, said a Rengo dispatch, declared itself in favor of an independent state with a parlimentary form of government. This government, the association hoped, would function without Chang Hsueh-Liang after the Japanese retire to the railway zone.

Other reports to Tokyo said Manchurian leaders vetoed pro-Japs for a monarchial form of government and plotted to rename Manchuria the Chungho Republic.

The Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi said Kan Chao-Hsi, former governor of Jehol Province, was one of the leading spirits of the movement to unite Mongolians, Manchus and Hans under a republic, with Mukden continuing as capital.

Since New Clashes.

Advocates of independence from China proper were said to have taken the initiative since Japanese clashes with Chinese troops at Mukden and elsewhere recently.

Nanking, China, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Foreign Minister C. T. Wang was in a critical condition tonight as a result of an attack by Chinese students protesting against his policy toward Japanese occupation of Manchuria. It was believed, however, that he would live.

Wang's personal servants were credited with rescuing him from the crowd of about 5,000 students who beat him mercilessly and demanded that China go to war with Japan. Wang was taken away in an automobile, reportedly to the home of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the National government, who provided him with a strong military guard.

(United Press.)

New Chinese and Japanese notes regarding the fighting in Manchuria left the powers still uncertain last night what the situation really is, except that it is one for gravest concern.

China's note was delivered at the State Department late yesterday by Yung Kwai, Chinese charge d'affaires. It expressed hope of early solution, but charged Japan with acts of open aggression. It said bluntly:

"The Chinese government can conceive of no other way to satisfy the requirements of international law and international agreements, when law and agreements already have been trampled under foot, than for Japan to withdraw her troops immediately and completely from the occupied areas and to give full redress to the aggrieved party, the Chinese government and people."

The note endeavored to invoke the Kellogg-Briand pact of renunciation of war, as well as other treaties which China regards as supporting its position.

A bill of particulars attached to the note cited instances in which, it was asserted, Japanese troops had taken reasonless aggressive action in Manchuria.

Press reports of the instances, carried as unconfirmed, have been pub-

M'KELLAR INDORSED TO OPPOSE HOOVER

Draws Cheers by Supporting Roosevelt; Tells Party to Shun Rum Issue.

Rogersville, Tenn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—United States Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, of Tennessee, was indorsed tonight by the State Democratic leaders for the presidential nomination. The indorsement was given at a barbecue in the senator's honor at the farm of George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union of North America.

McKellar did not decline or accept the indorsement, but drew cheers from the assemblage of several hundred men and women by presenting the name of Franklin Roosevelt, of New York, who he said, "if nominated, will sweep the country from Maine to California."

"I am a sensible man," he said, "and I believe no Southern man can be elected. I wish to take no steps which would jeopardize the chances of the Democratic party."

Senator McKellar, who made the principal address, warned the Democratic party against putting a wet plank in its platform and declared there was not a chance for the Democrats to be defeated "if we make the fight on economic issues, on the tariff, on just taxation, on economy, on honest government, on enforcing the law against trusts and combinations and on looking after America's affairs."

Rum Would Give Hoover Chance.

"But if we are misled into making the liquor issue the sole issue in this campaign we will be put into a false position and one that will give to Mr. Hoover his only possible chance. With the issue out of the platform, we will win in a walk. With the liquor issue in the platform, it will be the only issue, as we all know, and we will lose the advantage of all economic issues and there is no telling what will take place."

Declaring the prohibition laws "have never been enforced by the Republican party," Mr. McKinley said he did not think "there should be any provision in the Democratic platform on the liquor question except enforcement of all laws."

While Mr. McKellar said he believed Gov. Roosevelt could win and would make a "splendid President," he suggested that Tennessee's delegates to the Democratic convention should go uninstructed so that "if anything should arise between now and the convention that some other good and honest Democrat would have a better chance to win than Roosevelt, our delegates should be free to cast their votes for that other Democrat."

Attacks Treasury Deficit.

Criticising the Hoover administration, Senator McKellar called attention to the existing deficit and asserted that "unless something is done and done quickly, we are likely to have a receiver instead of a President."

The senator advocated lowering of the tariff, reduction of appropriations, increase in the higher brackets on the income tax, abolition of the Farm Board "as soon as possible," unemployment legislation, no further cancellation of foreign debts, operation of Muscle Shoals and Cove Creek "in the interest of the people," stopping of tax refunds and recognition of Soviet Russia.

He also favored World War veterans being relieved of interest on what they have borrowed on their bonus certificates, and announced that "at the very earliest possible moment I will vote for a cash payment of the remaining part of their obligations."

FRENCH MINISTERS MEET HINDENBURG

ones, presumably such as the huge European cartels. The plan does not envisage an increase in customs duties. Germany has proposed at various times a European agreement to reduce all customs duties.

A German spokesman said the conversations among the ministers included economic problems, world financial subjects and some political problems, but no decisions were reached.

The newspaper Tageblatt published an unconfirmed report that Laval had telephoned France's Washington ambassador, Paul Claudel, who is now in Paris, instructing him to sound out the United States Government on a question of inviting Bruening to the United States when Laval visits President Hoover next month.

Berlin, Sept. 29 (Tuesday) (A.P.).—The newspaper Volkzeitung this morning said that Chancellor Heinrich Bruening is contemplating a trip to Washington in late December to confer with President Hoover.

Paris, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Premier Pierre Laval, it was understood here today, wishes to be back in France by the end of October, and therefore may sail on his trip to the United States October 12, if that fits in with President Hoover's engagements.

At any rate, he is expected to sail on the Ile de France, whose schedule will be arranged to suit his plans.

The premier will be accompanied on his visit to Washington by four or five technical experts, including one for disarmament, one on economics, another on finance, and a fourth from the foreign office.

BEER DISPUTE SPLITS RANKS ON BOTH SIDES OF QUESTION

pating maintained tight-lipped silence or confined themselves to the brief assertion, "Baird will issue a statement."

Bacharach Promised Talk.

The majority hastily left the candidate's campaign headquarters, only Senator Morrow remaining to pose with Baird for photographers.

Before the conference, Bacharach had promised to "speak freely" upon its conclusion, but he was among those who hurried from the headquarters when the delegation emerged.

Baird's statement, issued shortly after the conference had dissolved, said "beer," among other issues, had been discussed. He emphatically declined to amplify the statement. The purpose of the meeting, he said, was to discuss the issues of the campaign, and its purpose had been fulfilled.

He declined to say whether there had been a disagreement on the beer question.

The New Jersey congressional delegation of nine representatives and two senators contains three avowed drys. The remainder range in their views from liberalization of the Volstead act to outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

McBride Defends Legion.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Dr. F. Scott McBride, general secretary of the Antisaloon League, asserted here today that there was little drunkenness at the recent American Legion national convention in Detroit.

"There was noticeably little drinking and drunkenness in Detroit during the convention," said Dr. McBride, who is here for a conference of dry leaders.

At the same time Dr. Harry M. Chalfant, of Philadelphia, editor of the American Issue, Antisaloon League publication, interpreted a statement by Henry L. Stevens, jr., new legion commander, that the convention "was the soberest I have ever attended," as an argument for prohibition.

"There is no city in America where it could have been easier to get liquor than at Detroit," Dr. Chalfant said, "yet their leader bears witness to the fact that fewer men were intoxicated than at any previous convention. I regard Mr. Stevens' statement as a tribute to prohibition."

Dispute Simmers at Capitol.

(Associated Press.)

The beer conflict that's brewing for Congress simmered on yesterday at the Capitol.

Opposite sides were stoutly held by two Republican Senators, Bingham and Capper. The former went ahead on his plan to back anew a 4 per cent beer bill, while the latter issued a lengthy argument against such legislation.

Bingham, who comes from Connecticut, is determined that Congress should vote on his bill.

Capper, a Kansan, insists sentiment of the law makers overwhelmingly opposes liberalizing the Volstead act. He challenged contentions the beverage would have salutary economic effects.

Split Reaches Democrats.

This division in the Republican ranks extends also to the Democratic fold. It led Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, to predict both national conventions next year would abandon any attempt to commit their parties on this issue.

Meanwhile it was learned that a movement for a national referendum on prohibition had been begun with the solicitation of views of members of Congress by one of the antiprohibition associations. This organization is reported to be asking members to state whether they favor submission of the prohibition question to State conventions to be called for the sole consideration of the amendment.

Congress should be compelled to vote on the issue during the next session, in the opinion of Representative Schneider, of Wisconsin, a Republican opponent of national prohibition.

He wants a vote to modify the Volstead act to permit of light wines and beer.

Capper Rallies to Drys.

Senator Capper, in rallying the dry forces, said production of 4 per cent beer would result in a reduction in the consumption of dairy products, soft drinks, ice cream, candy and other sweets. The number who would be employed in manufacture of beer would be "infinitesimal," he said, as compared with the total of unemployed and the amount of grain used would be "infinitesimal" to the amount produced.

"Germany," he continued, "the greatest beer-consuming nation in the world, as well as Great Britain and other countries which have legalized beer, have felt the effects of the depression to a very greater extent than has the United States."

The Kansan said legalization of 4 per cent beer would result in the return of the saloon, because all Federal control over such beer would necessarily be abandoned.

Moreover, he said that should Congress legalize the 4 per cent beer, it could be sold only in 6 of the 48 States because the State constitutions and laws in 42 States now provide for prohibition enforcement.

Would Hit Other Industries.

Arguing that other industries would be affected by manufacture of beer, Capper cited census figures showing that the value of soft drinks increased from $58,000,000 in 1914 to $256,000,000 in 1929; that production of candy jumped from $153,000,000 in 1914 to $393,000,00 in 1929 and that production of ice cream advanced from $55,000,000 in 1914 to $305,000,000 in 1929.

Meanwhile, the board of strategy of the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment pushed its plans for the most powerful offensive of recent years.

Edwin C. Dinwiddie, superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau, one of 33 organizations belonging to the conference, has been designated to lead the campaign to register a majority of the American Legion, labor unions, lawyers and doctors on the side of prohibition.

"I'll admit we've lost some ground," Dinwiddie said. "Recent developments have awakened us. Now we will become vocal all over the country."

Eyes on the Conventions.

Next spring's national political conventions are the hub of the board's program.

"We are opposed to submission of the eighteenth amendment as proposed by the legion because we don't believe the country had had a fair chance to try the dry law," he said. "The old regime had centuries of operation."

Dinwiddie pronounced his group "ready to meet the beer issue." He said this was discussed incidentally at the board of strategy's meeting last week and said he had discussed with Walter H. Newton, the presidential secretary's request for information on the beer industry from the Census Bureau.

"In proportion to the capital invested the liquor business employs less labor than any other industry," he said. "They say beer will bring more taxes. You can't pull money out of a hat. What is spent on beer comes from the purchasing power of the people."

Dinwiddie said it was the intention of his campaign "to refeed these arguments to the American people who have sense enough to see it."

BOAST OF FRAME-UP IS LAID TO SCHENCK

frame-up; and the punishment of others responsible for Staples' dismissal.

In its investigation of the Schenck charges, the Department of Justice interviewed fellow prisoners of Schenck at Leavenworth and unearthed information which tends to substantiate the statements contained in the prisoner's letter, it was said.

This corroboration of the prisoner's letter as to Schenck's motive in his testimony of the frame-up is reported to be embodied in a report of the Department of Justice's investigation, which is now at the disposal of the investigative committee.

Schenck was brought here last week from Leavenworth to repeat his story of the reputed frame-up and is now in the District Jail. When he appears before the investigative committee it is probable that they will question him regarding the allegations contained in the letter.

Henry P. Blair, head of the committee of lawyers, which will advise the District Commissioners on the grand jury's recommendations, last night would neither deny nor confirm the report that such a letter was among the evidence to be studied by the committee.

The identity of the author of the letter was not revealed.

Whether the committee will ask that the prisoner be brought to Washington to relate his story is problematical. If the committee chooses not to bring him here it is likely that a Department of Justice agent will obtain an affidavit from the convict and forward it to the committee.

Other members of the committee with Mr. Blair are: Col. Walter C. Clephane, Col. J. Miller Kenyon, Daniel W. O'Donoghue and Stanton C. Peelle. Schenck will be brought before them some time this week to relate his story.

The members, according to Mr. Blair, have practically completed their review of the testimony upon which Staples was convicted in 1928 by a police trial board of conduct prejudicial to Police Department. In a few days, Mr. Blair said, the committee would begin to question witnesses.

HOOVER IS INVITED TO ADDRESS LEGION

Stevens Again Denies Methodist Charges After White House Call.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was invited yesterday by Henry L. Stevens, jr., the new national commander of the American Legion, to address the legion's Armistice Day meeting here.

The President told the legion official he would consider the invitation.

Stevens left Washington last night for his home at Warsaw, N. C., where a celebration will be held today over his election to the legion post.

As he left the White House, Stevens vigorously replied again to the charges of Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist board of prohibition, temperance and public morals, that the legion convention had been a "drunken orgy."

"It was the soberest convention I have ever attended," Stevens said. "The delegates were as sober-minded a group as you have ever seen sit down to face a set of problems."

The commander said he believed that Dr. Wilson "could have been more dignified and more truthful."

"We will treat that with quiet dignity and let the country decide," he said of Dr. Wilson's latest attack on the legion from a Kansas City, Mo., church pulpit yesterday.

Stevens said 92,000 in the parade at Detroit were not drunk and the delegates soberly gathered in committee meetings to discuss the program before the convention. He reiterated the legion, in voting to resubmit the eighteenth amendment, "did not go on record for the wet side or the dry side of the prohibition controversy but merely for the eternal right of the American people to express their views on any question."

Stevens, telling of President Hoover's reaction to the invitation for an Armistice Day speech, said he was told the President was very busy now and that he felt he should regard his first duty as being to governmental affairs.

"The President was pleased at the reception given him in Detroit," Stevens said. "Certainly the welcome given him at the convention was cordial and I believe genuine."

FRAUD CLAIM MADE IN G. O. P. WRANGLE

Quebec concern and intended to furnish Canadian granite rather than United States granite. The commission entered into an interpretative stipulation with the general contractors, W. R. Heath Construction Co., Greencastle, Ind. Specifying that the stone must be quarried in the United States, cut by American workmen, and shipped over American railroads.

During the animated session, a Labor Department immigration inspector, James Ford, of Newport, Vt., testified he investigated the Stanstead company "discreetly" under directions of Assistant Secretary of Labor W. W. Husband.

Mr. Ford said the truthfulness of his report, which held the Stanstead company was a Canadian concern, had been questioned.

"This is going to get my head cut off," he predicted.

But Senator Warren Austin, young new U. S. senator from Vermont, said the report was merely "laughable blundering," based on an "unjust and unfair memorandum" from the Labor Department.

The Labor Department investigation and an investigation by a committee of the Federal commission both showed that the Canadian company had leased quarries in Vermont and planned to cut half the stone in a leased Vermont quarry and half in the Vermont side of the Stanstead Co.'s own quarry, which straddles the international line.

Mr. Wood charged that fraud was shown by two things, submission of a sample of Canadian granite from one of the company's quarries, and the fact that the Stanstead Co. did not incorporate in Vermont laws until July 20—after it had the contract for furnishing granite for the memorial.

The six members who voted to abrogate the contract were: Watson, Wood, Representative Albert Vestal (Republican), Indiana; Ewing Emison, Vincennes, Ind.; Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of Louisville, and F. E. Ball, Muncie, Ind. Those voting against were: Fess, Senator McKellar, of Tennessee (by proxy); Representative Greenwood, of Indiana; Frank D. Culbertson, of Vincennes; Luther Ely Smith, St. Louis; Mgr. Francis H. Gavick, of Indianapolis; Lew O'Bannon, of Corydon, and Clem J. Richards, of Terre Haute.

Majority members cited architects' opinions that granite was more endurable than limestone for the outside of the memorial.

Treasury Offering Twice Subscribed

$100,000,000 Bills Bring $213,103,000 Tenders; Rate Is Low.

(Associated Press.)

Subscriptions totaling $213,103,000 for $100,000,000 in 91-day Treasury bills were announced yesterday by Secretary Mellon.

Tenders for the bills, which are dated September 30 and will mature December 30, were opened yesterday at Federal Reserve banks. The highest bid was 99.876, equivalent to an interest rate of about 0.49 per cent on an annual basis, the lowest accepted was 99.847, equivalent to an annual interest rate of 1.4 per cent.

The average price of the bills is 99.692, with an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 1.22 per cent.

Fish Hears West Point Employs Alien Workers

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Complaints to Representative J. Hamilton Fish that alien labor is being employed on the United States military reservation at West Point brought from him the statement here tonight there would be "the deuce to pay" if he found any truth in the reports.

"If we find any aliens employed in the Military Academy at West Point," he said, "those responsible will be held accountable."

Full Bonus Plea In Congress Seen

Patman, of Texas, Renews His Fight and Predicts House Majority.

(Associated Press.)

The American Legion's action in sidetracking demands for bonus legislation is regarded by Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, as a stimulus toward asking full payment of the certificates at the next session.

Returning yesterday from Detroit where he attended the legion convention, the Texan said many delegations "swapped bonus for beer" votes apparently "with the acquiescence if not the approval of President Hoover."

"The legion represents only 25 per cent of the World War veterans," Patman said. "The unorganized majority, I feel sure, wants full payment of this debt at this time. I am renewing my fight for full payment and believe a majority of the House will vote for it."

PATMAN REPEATS MELLON CHARGES

Texas Democrat Renews Plans to Impeach Secretary of Treasury.

(Associated Press.)

After accumulating data on Secretary Mellon all summer, Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, tonight Patman (Democrat), Texas, yesterday reiterated his intention of bringing impeachment proceedings against the Treasury head when Congress convenes.

Citing the law that prohibits a Secretary of the Treasury from being directly or indirectly interested in trade and commerce, the Texan said Mellon had violated his oath of office. He said the Treasury Secretary was a stockholder in the Aluminum Co. of America, and that he and his family owned and controlled the Gulf Oil Corporation and the Koppers Co.

Mellon Silent.

Secretary Mellon declined to comment on the charges, maintaining the same attitude as when Patman made a similar announcement in Texas some time ago.

It was recalled at the Treasury, however, that Supreme Court decisions had held that ownership of stock in a corporation did not bring a Secretary of the Treasury in conflict with the law which prohibits him from engaging in commerce.

Previously Secretary Mellon had said that he had severed all business connections when he became Secretary of the Treasury and had no part in carrying on the business of any corporation in which he owned stock.

The Gulf Oil Corporation, Patman said, was a holding company which owned many ships under foreign registry. He said the law provides that a Secretary of the Treasury shall not be "the owner in whole or in part of any vessel."

Removal Is Penalty.

The law further stipulates that "every person who offends against the prohibitions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor and forfeit to the United States the penalty of $3,000, and shall upon conviction be removed from office and forever thereafter be incapable of holding any office under the United States."

The Texan said that Mellon "plainly, as stockholder in these companies, is directly interested in the business of trade and commerce, and comes under the meaning of the law."

The proceedings, Patman continued, would be instituted by a privileged resolution he plans to introduce. Under usual proceedings, the House member may take the floor on a point of high personal privilege to present the measure. It then may be referred by the speaker to the judiciary committee for investigation.

Senate Would Be Court.

The action of the House on its committee's report would determine whether Mellon would be tried before the Senate, which would act as a court.

Patman said he would show that the Koppers Company, controlled by Mellon and his associates, was constructing a $200,000,000 steel, iron and coke plant in the Ural Mountains for the Soviet. He also said he had evidence that the Gulf Oil Corporation operated ships under foreign registry to avoid the benefits for seamen carried in the American Merchant Marine Act.

"Mr. Mellon relinquishes his position on the board of directors of the aluminum company," Patman said, "but, as a stockholder, he directs the board. His brother represents him."

Mr. Mellon declined to comment upon the action of the aluminum corporation in reducing salaries 10 per cent.

Patman's attack is one of a long list made upon the Secretary of the Treasury by members of Congress.

Former Senator Tom Watson, of Georgia, was among the first to criticize. Since then there have been a succession of attacks by various members of Congress, all of which have brought only a smile and a shrug from the Secretary as he followed the policy of never commenting upon them in any way.

At one time a congressional investigation of charges that the Secretary was active in conflict with the law was conducted.

It was found that he had divested himself of all active business connections. It also was pointed out that the Supreme Court had held that a stockholder of a corporation had no part in its management and no influence or power, but that its officers carried on its business. It was said that exhaustive research had shown that every Secretary of the Treasury since Alexander Hamilton had owned stocks in various business enterprises.

Legion's Liquor Supply To Be Probed by Church

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Hamilton Ministerial Association of the United Churches of Canada in a resolution adopted today requested the Ontario attorney general to order an immediate investigation into the sale of liquor in Windsor, Ontario, and general conditions there during the meeting of the American Legion in Detroit.

The preamble to the resolution declared "the public has a right to know the facts of the situation."

Buchanan Ordered to Duty.

Second Lieut. John Anderson Buchanan, Quartermaster Corps Reserve, of 411 South Chestnut, Clarendon, Va., has been ordered to active duty for 14 days, effective Thursday for training at Fort Myer, Va.

CREATION OF JOBS COMMITTEE'S TASK

Relief Body Lays Plans to Use Maximum Labor on Public Works.

(Associated Press.)

Making public construction yield a maximum of jobs for the winter's unemployed yesterday became a major objective of President Hoover's relief organization.

Walter S. Gifford, national director, named a special committee to concern itself with the general national program of public works and its relation to unemployment. James R. Garfield, of Cleveland, Ohio, former Secretary of the Interior, was named chairman.

Gifford said the committee "will consider whether, in its judgment, any further useful Federal public works could be undertaken to advantage."

This group, the fifth committee appointed by Gifford, will study the entire present program of public works—Federal, State and local. Efforts will be made to bring these programs to the highest employment peak possible.

Meanwhile, States lying north of the Ohio River and east of the Mississippi were designated at headquarters of the American Association of Public Welfare Officials as the area presenting the most acute relief problem.

Frank Bane, executive director of the association, said there was a definite trend toward "direct and material State participation in relief work" and that this movement presented the most striking advance over last year's essentially local and philanthropic methods.

"In the last anaylsis it is primarily a public job to handle destitution and want," he said. "Last year local governments furnished 72 per cent of all relief."

He said practically all States "are making or contemplating plans to help." As evidence of the trend he recalled New York's $20,000,000 appropriation, New Jersey's plans for a special legislative session to appropriate $8,000,000, Pennsylvania's and Wisconsin's relief organizations and contemplated special sessions and Virginia's establishment of a relief committee at the State Capitol.

Gifford designated the following members of his relief organization's advisory committee to serve on Garfield's public works group:

William C. Procter, Cincinnati; Raymond Robbins, Brooksville, Fla.; George Vincent, Greenwich, Conn.; Rufus Abbott, Chicago; Homer Ferguson, Newport News, Va.; Matthew Woll, Washington; Col. Leonard P. Ayres, Cleveland; John D. Ryan, New York City; Milton Esberg, San Francisco; Jacob H. Hollander, Baltimore, and John F. Tinsley, Worcester, Mass.

Akerson to Offer Film Aid in Relief

Former Secretary Calls on Hoover to Present Plan for Jobless.

(Associated Press.)

George Akerson, former secretary to President Hoover, called at the White House yesterday to discuss the unemployment relief activities being organized by the motion picture industry.

Although he did not see President Hoover, the former secretary said he would return later and offer the cooperation of the organization set up by the motion picture industry.

He said it was the plan of the motion picture executives to "mesh in and coordinate" their efforts toward helping the jobless with those of the President's emergency relief commission headed by Walter S. Gifford.

As a member of the central executive committee of the motion picture relief organization, Mr. Akerson said he would confer with members of the Gifford committee, offering them aid.

Chicago Group Studies Plans to Provide Jobs

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Plans for supplying work, rather than charity, to the Nation's jobless were considered today at a meeting of the unemployment committee of President Hoover's relief organization.

Among the conferees was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has worked out a plan of relief in which the unemployed would be prorated among various industries. Most of the delegates themselves are not in favor of any dole system.

Out of several plans discussed, the committee hopes to devise a program for submission to the President's commission. The adopted plan will be made public in Washington and the meeting being held here is secret.

U. S. Plans Office Building in Ottawa

Bids Asked on Structure; Will Cost $200,000 to $300,000.

(Associated Press.)

Uncle Sam moved yesterday to build an office building for his representatives in the Canadian capital. Bids were invited by the State Department on a structure expected to cost from $200,000 to $300,000. It will accommodate all United States officials in Ottawa—diplomatic, commercial and consular.

The building, designed by Cass Gilbert, a New York architect, will be of cut stone and brick. It will be located on Wellington street, facing Parliament Square.

The plans call for a three-story-and-basement structure with 105 feet frontage and 72½ feet maximum depth. Bids will be opened October 26.

While bidding on the general contract is restricted to United States firms, officials said Canadian subcontractors may be engaged.

Smoking Car Sages Solve Nation's Ills Amid Puffs

By JOHN J. DALY

HENRY L. STEVENS, jr., new chief of the American Legion, which finds itself bombarded by allied forces, calls attention to the American smoking car philosophers who go riding, day after day, up and down the length and breadth of the land. They light up their good Havanas, or reach for cigarettes, put their feet up on the leather cushions, and solve the problems of the Nation.

"One of the best places to feel the pulses of the people is in the Pullman smoking car," says Commander Stevens, forgetting about the day coach ahead, the conveyance of the proletariat, where there is also smoking and soliloquizing.

The Stoics were known as the Porch Philosophers because Zeno of Cyprus, founder of the school, gave his lectures in the Athenian picture gallery called the Painted Porch. The Epicureans, who followed, were the Garden philosophers; but neither of these schools can compare with the American Smoking Car Gang, whose philosophies and beliefs have come from all lands and all ages, from all States and all sections, all cities and towns. The cosmopolitanism of the school is flaunted by the names on the sides of the cars—Xenophanes, Parmenides, Seneca, Marcus Aurelius, Pythagoras, Cornatus, Robespierre, Democritus and all the rest. 'Tis there they'll answer the question, What is the Chaos of Hesiod?

THE Smoking Car Philosophers are constantly reminded that we are living in a fast-moving age, since they themselves are constantly on the go, like their Stoic brethren before them who went from city to city imparting instruction for the conduct of public affairs. They realize more than others that everything is involved in the stream of change. Life comes from death, death from life. Youth grows old, age is enfeebled. Sleepers awake, the awakened become weary and go to sleep. Night turns into day—and even women are admitted to the smoking rooms.

Ionian students of nature, the Smoking Car Philosophers are brilliant rather than profound. Though they discuss many questions, they exhaust none; for the simple reason that even with them, their hearers are changing, at each station, but where one philosopher leaves off another takes up. If they tell a ribald story or so it is merely to point a moral or adorn a tale. You can hear many things in a smoking car. So if a man, like the commander of the American Legion, traveling over the countryside, visiting the various posts, carries enough cigars, cigarettes and pipes along with him, and stays exclusively in the smoking cars, unless he become asphyxiated from monoxide gases, he will, undoubtedly, get a good perspective of what America is thinking about, above and below.

AFTER a continental sojourn in a smoking car it would be comparatively easy for any man who is a good listener to go home and write polemics; some of which would certainly startle the world.

Smoking car scholasticism was never fully appreciated until Commander Stevens called attention to its profundities. It has a shade on the golden age of Greek philosophy, which set the theoretical by the side of the practical; it has contributed quite a lot to the writings of the Seven Wise Men, and changed most of the ideas of the Pythagoreans of Magna Graecia, who first introduced Greek philosophy into Rome. It has done all these things because the School on Wheels shies at no subject—and in a day or so the relative merits of the two leagues, the National and American, will be fully torn apart and laid on the board.

Like the dialectical disputes between Roscelin and Peter Abelard, in the twelfth century, the arguments in the smoking room sometimes become heated, but never vicious; for the dominant moral and ethical tone of the Traveling Philosopher is an expansive one, best expressed in the old Latin phrase: Non est peccatum nisi contra conscientiam;" or as the boys have it, "Let Your Conscience Be Your Guide."

CHEAP SHOES FINAL PENGUIN CASE CLEW

Husband's Killers Supplied Barefooted Widow on Motor Boat.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Hope of tracing the ownership of a pair of cheap gymnasium shoes was the one thing that spurred officials on today in their investigation into the midnight "pirate" murder of Benjamin Collings.

Mrs. Collings, widow of the Stamford, Conn., yachtsman, had the shoes on when she was found in a moored motorboat the morning of September 10. She said two men who killed her husband and abducted her supplied her with the shoes after one of them had observed she was barefooted.

"We're up against a stone wall if we can't trace the shoes," Assistant District Attorney Fred J. Munder, of Suffolk County, said.

Dr. Otto H. Schultze, medical advisor to the district attorney of New York County, it became known tonight, is at his home in Huntington, Long Island, suffering from nervous breakdown. He is under the care of three physicians.

Saturday Dr. Schultze caused a ripple of dissension among those working on the Collings case, when, at the coroner's inquest, he rattled off a baffling list of numerical symbols, declared they definitely proved Collings' death was caused by drowning, and then abruptly left the room.

It was learned Dr. Schultze's attitude at the inquest was prompted by strong disapproval of the manner in which the investigation was proceeding. He was known to hold the belief that the inquest was entitled only to the cause of the death and that other details of the autopsy on Collings' body should remain secret in the best interest of the search for the yachtsman's slayers.

200 WILL BE HEARD IN BRUTALITY PROBE

Pratt yesterday requested, received and "filed" a report by Headquarters Detective Robert Barrett concerning alleged intimidation of a Government witness by two men arrested by the Department of Justice for interceding in his behalf in the investigation of charges of police brutality.

Barrett, who, it was learned, admits friendship with one of the men but disclaims knowing the other, was asked to make the report after Cecil Mason and Maurice O'Connor were accused by justice operatives of an attempt to persuade George B. Baber to "go light" on Barrett and other headquarters detectives in testimony before the grand jury.

Maj. Pratt declined to make the report or any portion of it public. He said it was made for the information solely of police executives, nor will it be communicated to the Department of Justice unless requested. Officially, the Police Department never has been advised that Mason and O'Connor are charged in a case involving Detective Barrett, he said.

Gen. Crosby said he saw no reason why Detective Barrett should be suspended pending the inquiry and action by the grand jury. The headquarters' detective Sunday went on a six-day leave of absence, which, it was explained at police headquarters, was entirely voluntary.

Both Mason, who pleaded guilty to the intimidation charge, and O'Connor, whom Barrett is said to know, were at liberty yesterday under $3,500 bond each, charged with obstructing justice in the case of "United States vs. Robert Barrett, et al."

Police records show that Mason, who gave his occupation as a "clerk" and address as 520 Newton street northwest, was arrested on charges of illegal possession of seven pints of alleged liquor September 14 by Detectives T. M. McVerry, J. Auffenberg and H. G. Wanamaker, of Inspector Bean's vice squad. He also was charged with operating an automobile without a permit and without a registration card. He pleaded guilty to the illegal possession charge and is awaiting sentence.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 59

THESE are the men who told the country what the Capital was doing in 1906, and who probably followed the course of the Pure Food legislation, which was much in the public eye at that time.

JAIL IN BALTIMORE MENACED BY BLAZE

Hundreds of Inmates Yell For Release; None Hurt; Damage Slight.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Smoke rolled through the Baltimore City Jail this afternoon from a fire starting in the prison workshop and hundreds of inmates yelled for release. Damage was slight, prison officials said, and no one was hurt. Three alarms sounded.

Patrol cars from all of the city districts rushed officers to the jail and police with riot guns were placed outside the walls.

Jail guards encountered some difficulty with a group of 50 colored prisoners who beat upon the bars of their cells and set up a loud clamor. No attempt was made to escape.

The fire started after the day's work was finished and no one was in the workshop at the time. Throughout the prison, however, there was but little excitement, the warden said. Officials were unable to say how the blaze started.

Automobile traffic about the jail was congested for blocks as thousands jammed the streets about the institution.

Four U. S. Lines Directors Resign

Campbell, Hague, Moody and Hurley Feel Work Is Ended.

(Associated Press.)

Four directors of the United States Lines, Inc., have signified to the Shipping Board their intention to resign. The board, at whose instance the men were made directors, has as yet taken no action.

In a brief communication to the board, Ira Campbell, H. L. Heague and Franklin D. Moody, all of New York, and E. N. Hurley, of Chicago, made known their desire to leave the lines' directorate.

At the inception of the lines' financial difficulties, the four were designated directors in an effort to improve the lines' condition. They have served since midwinter. With the lines now being reorganized, it was explained at the board, the men felt their work was done.

Seaman Dives to Death After Quiz in Smuggling

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Antoine Kowalcyck, steward on the liner Westernland, who was questioned in New York in connection with the Federal investigation into alien smuggling, leaped over the side of the steamer last night as she neared the Nova Scotia coast and was lost.

Officers of the Westernland, who revealed Kowalcyck's suicide when the steamer arrived here today, said the steward had been morbid and worried since the ship left New York.

Five Banks in Maryland Placed in Hands of State

Frederick Commercial, Its Three Branches and Mechanics Loan & Savings of Hagerstown Closed; Other Suspensions Reported in Nation.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Frederick Commercial Bank of Maryland, with its three branches, and the Mechanics Loan & Savings Bank of Hagerstown were closed today and placed in the hands of State Bank Commissioner George W. Page.

The Frederick bank, formed in 1914, was capitalized at $200,000, had surplus of $150,000 and deposits of $2,656,345.76, according to its statement of June 30, 1931. Branches were operated at Adamstown, Jefferson and Mount Airy. Heavy withdrawals were blamed for the closing.

The Hagerstown bank, one of six in that city, was capitalized at $100,000 and had surpluses of $300,000, with total resources of $2,950,489.08. Gradual seepage of resources was blamed for the closing.

Cline Blames Rumors.

Casper C. Cline, president of the Commercial Bank of Maryland, issued the following statement:

"Following the closing of the Central Trust Co. of Maryland and eleven branches on September 3, various rumors and gossip of a damaging nature have been circulated about this institution, causing large withdrawals and the giving of notices for a very considerable amount of time-deposit money soon due for payment. It was ordered by the board of directors at a special meeting this morning that we request the bank commissioner of Maryland to take charge of the bank immediately.

"This action was felt necessary to protect interests of all depositors and stockholders. Notwithstanding the present deflation and unusual depression through which we are passing, we believe the depositors should receive the amounts due them. It is most regrettable, indeed, that this action has been found necessary, but every possible effort has been made to prevent it and no other prudent course remains open in fairness to depositors and stockholders. Consideration may be given to a plan of reorganization, but nothing definite can be stated at this time."

After the action of the board of directors, George W. Page, State bank commissioner, was notified, and he sent H. E. Meeks, deputy, from the Central Trust Co., to take charge of the bank's affairs.

Mechanics Loan Statement.

The directors of the Mechanics Loan & Savings Bank, at Hagerstown, issued this statement:

"We announce with regret that we have felt it necessary to suspend the business of the Mechanics Loan & Savings Bank for the protection of our depositors and for the best interests of our many stockholders. During the past two years we have been suffering from the effects of the general depression existing throughout the Nation, and the unusual demands made upon this institution by its depositors have depleted its more liquid assets.

"On July 1, 1930, the deposits of our bank were nearly $3,000,000, and at the close of business last Saturday we had on deposit a total of $1,970,632. We have endeavored to be conservative in the management of our institution and have tried to render at all times to this community efficient banking service.

"It was impossible to liquidate our mortgages and other investments rapidly enough to meet the unusual demands made upon us, resulting from false and unfounded rumors recently circulated by irresponsible persons. Acting in the best interest of our people and the community at large, we did not feel justified in sacrificing the value of our assets, and our final action is the result of our best judgment in this regard. Although we regret the necessity of this action, we feel confident that with proper and orderly liquidation our depositors will be paid."

Philadelphia Banks Close.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Northern Central Trust Co. and its five branch offices in various parts of the city were closed today by order of the secretary of the State department of banking.

Deposits in the closed bank were more than $3,000,000 as of June 30, 1931.

Glassboro, N. J., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Glassboro Title & Trust Co. was closed today and the business placed in the hands of A. S. Amerman, special assistant deputy commissioner of banking and insurance.

The statement of June 30, 1931, listed $516,610.32 as the bank's total assets.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—With resources listed at more than $3,000,000, capital at $150,000 and surplus at $150,000, the Jeffersonville First National Bank and the Clark County State Bank opened here today as one institution, under the name of the Clark County State Bank. The merger was worked out over the week-end.

Niles, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Niles Trust Co. here failed to open for business today.

The trust company had deposits of approximately $2,400,000 and resources of about $2,600,000. It was capitalized at $150,000. R. L. McCorkle was its president.

Texas Institution Fails.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Police reserves guarded the City-Central Bank & Trust Co., which failed to open its doors today. Large crowds congregated around the institution.

A statement last July showed resources exceeding $16,000,000 and deposits of approximately $11,000,000.

Cheshire, Conn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Cheshire Bank & Trust Co. failed to open its doors today.

The bank was incorporated in 1923 with a capital of $25,000.

Chicago Bank Liquidating.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Depositors of the Mayfair State Savings Bank were asked today to call around and get their money, as the bank is going to stop accepting deposits on September 30. T. B. McGrath, jr., president of the bank, said there was more than enough cash on hand to pay every cent of the deposits, which total $600,000.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson said this was the first time he had ever heard of a bank voluntarily going out of business and paying 100 cents on the dollar.

President McGrath said "We are closing because we can't make money."

He added that it was expected that from $65 to $75 would be realized on each share of the bank's stock.

State Bank of Pamplin Again Closes Its Doors

Richmond, Va., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The State Bank of Pamplin was closed today and an application for a receivership is being filed, M. E. Bristow, commissioner of banking and insurance of the State corporation commission, announced this afternoon.

This bank has been closed twice previously, but in each case has been reorganized and reopened without receivership action.

ALUMINUM WAGES CUT TEN PER CENT

Mellon Silent on Slice; Knitters Strike to Protest Sharp Reductions.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—A 10 per cent reduction in the salaries and wages of all employes of the Aluminum Co. of America, a Mellon company, and its subsidiaries, was announced today for October 1.

Officials said the cut has been under consideration for several months, but had been delayed as long as possible until it was necessary in the interest of economy.

Consumption of raw material has decreased generally, they said, in spite of the fact that aluminum has a diversity of uses in modern industry. The wage cut was decided upon to meet this decrease.

The company's largest plant is at New Kensington, Pa., and other plants are located at Alcoa, Tenn.; Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Fairfield, Conn.; Edgewater, N. J.; Garwood, N. J., and Massena, N. Y.

(United Press.)

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon declined yesterday to comment on the wage cuts ordered by the Aluminum Co. of America.

It was said that he had not been consulted about the reductions and that he disassociated himself from administration of the company when he entered the Cabinet.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Some 450 union knitters struck in three mills of the Phoenix Hosiery Co. today to protest wage cuts of 30 to 45 per cent.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The United States Envelope Co., with main offices here and plants in this and other cities, today announced salary and wage reductions effective at once. All employes, from executive officers to factory workers, are included in varying amounts. Last May a reduction was made affecting salaried workers only amounting to two week's compensation, but wage rates were unaffected.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Montreal Star today published an unofficial report that representatives of running trades employes of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways had accepted a 10 per cent cut in wages.

Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Salary decreases averaging approximately 10 per cent have been accepted by the faculty of Ohio Wesleyan University, president Edmund D. Soper announced today.

Approximately $42,000 will be saved through the revisions which will be applied on a sliding scale. Dr. Soper said the 1932-33 budget had been planned with a view to restoring the regular salary scale.

The faculty members will be reimbursed for the cuts during the next five years if possible.

German Debt Seen Retarding Trade

Revision of Reparations Urged by Schneider to Cure Ills.

(Associated Press.)

A declaration that a revision of German reparation payments would be necessary before the world-wide depression would begin to disappear was made yesterday by Representative George J. Schneider, Independent Republican, Wisconsin.

Returning to Washington yesterday after a summer in Europe, Representative Schneider said "France's insistence upon the reparations payments from Germany has contributed much to the depresed condition."

"The reluctance of France to accept the Hoover moratorium plan," he asserted, "delayed Germany's progress toward recovery. Conditions in Germany are far worse than they appear on the surface.

"England will begin to recover now that she has cast aside the gold standard, but progress will not be rapid. However, Scandinavian countries forced to suspend the gold standard by England's action will suffer now."

Pangborn and Herndon Fly From Tokyo Airport

Tokyo (Tuesday), Sept. 29 (U.P.).—Clyde E. Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, jr., American transatlantic fliers, left Tachikawa airport at 9:55 a. m. today (4:55 p. m., Monday, P. S. T.), for Sabishiro Beach, where they will start their attempted nonstop flight across the Pacific Ocean to Seattle.

The aviators expect to reach Sabishiro Beach by midafternoon and should have their plane fueled for the take-off by Thursday morning.

SUSPECT CONFESSES 1925 THRILL KILLING

Man, Recently a Quiet and Law-Abiding Citizen, Draws 20 Years.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Phillip Knapp, 28 years old, recently a quiet, law-abiding husband of West Orange, N. J., decided today to pay for the erratic career that culminated in the "thrill" slaying of a taxicab driver six years ago. He will serve 20 years or more in Sing Sing Prison.

After a day of conference with his attorney and his family, he stood before County Judge Lewis Smith at Mineola and said in a sober tone, "I plead guilty."

The charge was second degree murder. Judge Smith immediately pronounced sentence—not less than 20 years, nor more than the natural term of his life.

Knapp bowed attentively to the judge. Behind him was his father, William W. Knapp, retired Syracuse, N. Y., manufacturer, his mother and the wife who married him with no knowledge that justice held a mortgage on his freedom and a claim for his life. Knapp married her under an assumed name.

"I have been in conference all day today with the mother and father and present wife of the defendant," Knapp's attorney, George Morton Levy, told the court. "I explained to them that I thought an insanity defense would prevail before a jury, but after discussing the matter between themselves and with Phillip, they decided that they did not want to take upon themselves the hazard of placing his life in jeopardy."

Lynn W. Meekins Divorced in Reno

Attache of U. S. Legation in Ottawa Accused by Wife of Nagging.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 28 (U.P.).—The Reno divorce mill worked with such clocklike precision today that Judges Benjamin Curler and Thomas Moran disposed of a near-record number of cases.

Among the most prominent gaining divorces was Marion Meekins, who complained that her husband, Lynn W. Meekins, commercial attache to the United States Legation at Ottawa, Canada, nagged and scolded her. Meekins is a son of Lynn Roby Meekins, famous author and editor, of Baltimore, Md. He was the first trade commissioner to China and Canada and is well known in Chicago, Boston, New York City, Baltimore and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Meekins testified that her husband once gave her $100 and told her to leave. A property settlement provides that Meekins will pay $250 a month alimony and keep up premiums on a large insurance policy of which she is beneficiary.

Mixed Jury Exonorates Spouse of Rival's Death

Hackensack, N. J., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Harry Elbers, accused of slaying Richard Graham, tonight was acquitted by a jury of five women and seven men. The jury's action brought freedom also for Mrs. Elbers, who had been indicted with her husband for the killing ten months ago.

Graham was killed when he went to the Elbers' home at Teaneck in response to a summons. Mr. and Mrs. Elbers testified at the trial that Graham had been intimate with Mrs. Elbers but that Elbers had forgiven his wife.

GRANGERS DEBATE CRISIS SOLUTIONS

Farm Leaders Will Discuss Problems With Hyde and Bestor.

(Associated Press.)

The agricultural crisis was surveyed here yesterday by members of the National Grange executive committee seeking sound economic remedies for the farmers' lean purses and pinched credit.

Their discussions concerned the Farm Board and marketing, low farm prices and opposition to railroad rate increases.

Appointments were made by L. J. Taber, national master, to talk during the week with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Chairman Stone of the Farm Board and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan Board commissioner.

Vital Need Stressed.

Mr. Taber spoke of the "vital need" for an adjustment of farm credits to prevent a collapse of the country's agricultural system. A half dozen proposals for protecting farmers from foreclosures are being studied in the hope of adopting one to meet the situation. They will be discussed with the Farm Loan Board.

The export debenture plan of dealing with crop surpluses will be discussed with the Farm Board. The Grange consistently has sponsored this method and will press for its adoption in the next Congress.

The executive committee, in its talks with Washington officials, is seeking the Capital's viewpoint on farm relief before the annual meeting of the Grange in Madison, Wis., on November 11.

Other Members Named.

Besides Taber, the members are A. S. Goss, of Seattle, Wash., chairman; E. A. Eckert, master of the Illinois State Grange, secretary, and Fred J. Freestone, master of the New York Grange.

Both the export debenture and the equalization fee, advanced by the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be asked of the next Congress as amendments to the agricultural marketing act which created the Farm Board. Congress may be urged to give the board power to make optional use of the debenture and the fee.

Chairman Stone, however, has declared against the debenture and President Hoover is opposed to the fee.

The whole question of low farm prices, inadequate credit and marketing systems is closely related and seems certain of taking rank as a leading issue in the next Congress.

LEAGUE PAVES WAY FOR TRUCE IN ARMS

cept replacements of aircraft becoming unserviceable.

Ambassador Wilson told the committee that the United States accepted the Italian proposal, but Naotake Sato, Japanese spokesman, declared it was impracticable to attempt an immediate truce and urged that the matter be postponed until the beginning of the general disarmament conference in February. Mr. Wilson voiced his satisfaction with the Japanese position and he said the psychological value of the truce would be lost if it did not begin immediately.

(Associated Press.)

Current proposals for a year's naval holiday were attacked last night by the Navy League of the United States as tending to widen the gap between the American fleet and those of other treaty powers.

The league said, however, it heartily favors a naval holiday which would help the Navy to approach the ratios fixed by the London Treaty. Hope was expressed President Hoover would be able to devise one.

The terms under which the administration has informally agreed to Italy's proposal for an immediate one-year armaments truce were criticized.

The league contended that although the London Treaty allows ratios of 10, 10.2 and 6.8 for American, British and Japanese fleets of aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, the present ratio of under-age completed vessels in these categories is 10, 14.8 and 11.2, respectively.

Sees Disadvantage for U. S.

A complete year's holiday would give other treaty powers an advantage of 19.6 over the United States in these categories, and a holiday merely on laying of new keels would yield an average gain to the other navies of 14.3 per cent.

Under the Italian proposal for an armaments truce, advanced to the League of Nations by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, all governments would agree not to increase expenditures for land forces beyond appropriations already voted; to suspend all new naval construction, including replacements, and to build no military airplanes except to replace unserviceable units.

Secretary Stimson has said the proposal is acceptable to this Government, provided it can proceed with construction of eleven destroyers for which bids were recently opened.

Congress appropriated $1,000,000 last session to begin construction of these destroyers and the Navy plans to ask for $20,000,000 more at the next session.

Balks at Destroyer Restriction.

Other construction now under way includes seven 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers to cost $17,000,000 each; a 13,800-ton aircraft carrier to cost $19,000,000, and three fleet type submarines to cost $4,000,000 each.

Last week Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland and representative in the league's disarmament committee, agreed to the Italian proposal with the exception of the destroyer construction program, which must be continued to relieve unemployment.

He said suspension of this cruiser building "causes us embarrassment and dislocates our construction plans," but this country considers the disarmament question so important it is willing to make the sacrifice to create a "propitious psychological condition" for the disarmament conference next February at Geneva.

The Navy League statement said one of the implications from Mr. Wilson's assertion was that "in order to create such a psychological atmosphere for the league's disarmament conference, the United States Government is willing to stop the building of the seven large-gun cruisers, aggregating 70,000 tons, regardless of thereby causing much more unemployment than would be remedied by building 16,500 tons of destroyers."

MOVEMENT FOR REPUBLIC IS TAKEN BY MANCHURIA

lished in this country, and have been denied by Japan.

The citations are:

1. A Japanese airplane machine gunned near Mukden a train in which, among others, were J. D. Thomson, British manager of the Peipingja-Mukden Railway, and his wife and children were passengers. Two Chinese refugees were killed and five wounded.

2. A Japanese airplane fired on a train at Yaoyangho.

3. Japanese attacked a train at Ohuliho and took away two railway guards.

4. A locomotive and five cars were derailed near Paichipu, allegedly by bandits, but actually, China declares, by "Japanees agents." Thirty passengers were killed, among them an Englishman, a Russian and a Hindu. The train was looted.

Japan's Note Late.

Japan's note was delivered to the department half an hour later by Ambassador Debuchi. It contained assurances that Japan had no warlike intentions, was doing her utmost to keep the situation in hand, and was committing no warlike acts.

The difficulty of the Chinese demands is that, first, Japan is entitled, under present treaties, to maintain sufficient troops to guard the South Manchuria Railway, which she owns and operates; second, that any major concession to China might inflame national opinion and cause repudiation of the government.

There are three main points involved in the situation:

1. The powers do not know, days after the outbreak of fighting between Japanese and Chinese troops in Chinese Manchuria, whether the Japanese force is backed by its government, or the military chiefs themselves, with direct access to the emperor, are conducting a campaign of their own in answer to alleged Chinese attacks on their men.

Main Hope For Peace.

2. The main hope for peace, a good one, is that the civil government of Japan is in control; that Japanese troops will continue to withdraw back to the railway zone in accordance with the government's promises; and that notes instead of shells may be the mediums of exchange between the governments until public opinion is quieted.

3. The main danger is that a skirmish, in which Chinese are killed, may precipitate antiforeign riots in Manchuria or in China proper, or that Chinese soldiers or rioters, by attacking Japanese even on the basis of false reports, may stiffen Japan's attitude. Either of these possibilities might bring about a situation that would bring formal, rather than informal war. Also there are Soviet Russian soldiers on the Manchurian frontier, naturally restive, and Russia might feel herself entitled to get in on any real fighting, as Manchuria is of interest to her.

Commission of League.

Geneva, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—The League of Nations' efforts to end the Chinese-Japanese conflict in Manchuria were deadlocked again tonight after it had been decided to create a commission to investigate the clash and to fix a date for evacuation of Japanese troops.

Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, insisted that the commission include neutral representatives. Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese delegate, who has refused persistently to consent to league intervention, opposed inclusion of others than Chinese and Japanese on the commission.

Yoshizawa said he could only ask Tokyo for further instructions on the situation if Sze insisted upon neutral members. The league council left the negotiations in a deadlock pending new instructions from Tokyo. President Alejandro Lerroux of Spain announced that an impartial statement of the council's efforts to date and the attitude of both parties would be made at the final session of the assembly tomorrow.

Continues His Efforts.

The Chinese delegate continued his persistent efforts to override the Japanese opposition to league intervention in the conflict. Sze demanded that Japan release prisoners taken in Manchuria, make reparations for property and return arms which were taken from Chinese troops.

Yoshizawa, who expressed regret that Chinese Foreign Minister C. T. Wang was attacked by Chinese students in Nanking, told the council that the situation in Manchuria was improving steadily, although Japanese in southern Manchuria and on the Korean frontier had been asking for protection of troops. Japan is continuing the steady withdrawal of her military forces to the South Manchurian Railroad zone, he said, and soldiers are outside the zone only at Kirin, Mukden, Hsinmintung and Tchen Chia-Tung.

Einstein Returning For Further Study

Relativity Expert Avoids Publicity on Journey From Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Prof. Albert Einstein today booked passage to the United States for himself and Frau Einstein. They will sail on a small steamer, the name of which was not disclosed, and proceed directly to California via the Panama Canal.

In a statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, Prof. Einstein explained he did not wish to name the vessel so that his voyage and arrival might not be disturbed. He said, however, that it was possible he would go to New York to embark for the return voyage to Germany.

The purpose of the professor's visit is to continue the studies he began last year at Mount Wilson Observatory.

Yacht Mayflower For Sale On Time

Sixth Bid Call Adds Offer of Deferred Payment as Inducement.

(United Press.)

The former presidential yacht Mayflower, or what's left of her, is for sale on the installment plan. The Navy Department yesterday, for the sixth time, called for bids on the yacht and as an added inducement announced deferred payment could be arranged.

Five times the Mayflower has been on the auction block. All offers were unsatisfactory and finally the Navy decided to convert her into a warship. While the reconditioning was in progress the yacht burned and sank at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Now the hulk has been raised and is for sale for scrapping.

U. S. TARIFF DISPUTE WITH CHILE IS ENDED

Culbertson Reaches Agreement With Foreign Minister on Equal Rights.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Tariff difficulties which for many years have hampered American commerce with Chile were temporarily adjusted today by signing of a modus vivendi which gives the United States a most-favored-nation status until a new commercial treaty can be drawn up.

William S. Culbertson, American Ambassador, and Luis Izquierdo, foreign minister of Chile, exchanged signed notes putting the agreement into effect immediately and making it retroactive to May 22 last.

Equal Rights Granted.

The agreemnt, sought by Ambassador Culbertson, gives American commerce on certain products equal rights with the French, who obtained a similar agreement last May. It also is expected to serve as a preliminary step to a commercial study leading to a treaty covering all articles sold by Americans in Chile, many of which do not come under the new agreement.

Today's agreement covers the scale of customs duties on 138 articles. In the proposed new treaty, for which the temporary agreement opens the way, it is expected to cover the entire range of United States-Chilean trade, which would mean the inclusion of hundreds of other articles. Cosmetics, toilet articles, medicinals and biologicals are among the 138 items included in today's agreement.

Former Treaty Abrogated.

There has been no commercial treaty between the two countries since 1850. In 1834 a commercial treaty was ratified, but this was abrogated by Chile sixteen years later.

In urging the agreement, Ambassador Culbertson pointed out that the United States imposes no duty on nitrates or copper, two of Chile's principal products, and that virtually all other Chilean products are admitted free of duty. He urged that for this reason the United States was granting to Chile without a trade agreement, the privileges the country received from France by virtue of the Franco-Chilean agreement.

Initiations were begun some time ago, but were interrupted by a series of political changes, beginning with the fall of the government of President Carlos Ibanez last summer.

FREER DIVORCE LAWS PASSED BY BISHOPS

the two were slight. Both the bishops and the deputies agreed upon the establishment of ecclesiastical courts to consider marital cases.

The deputies proposed the courts be mandatory in each diocese and missionary district. The bishops proposed canon calls for ecclesiastical courts at the discretion of the diocese. The courts would operate through the bishop.

Under provisions of both proposals, ministers of the church may not solemnize the marriage of any person who has been or is the husband or wife of any person living from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

The liberal flavor of both proposals lies in the provision which allows divorced persons who have remarried to retain their communicant status in the church and be admitted to baptism, confirmation and Holy Communion. Divorced persons, remarried by civil authority may, under both canons, petition the ecclesiastical court for recognition. Under a favorable decision by the court, acting through the bishop, a minister of the church may bless the union and parties to the union retain their communicant status.

Under the existing canon, ministers of the church may remarry divorced persons who are the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery. This exception was eliminated by both the deputies and the bishops.

The House of Bishops voted against recognizing the existence of social disease as an impediment to marriage on grounds for annulment by an ecclesiastical court. This impediment was listed in the deputies' canon. Bishop Irving Peake Johnson, of Colorado, and others pointed out difficulty in determining the existence of such diseases and of liberties which might be taken with this impediment to secure annulments in the ecclesiastical courts.

Clocks All Go Cuckoo After Demise of Keeper

(Associated Press.)

Time is out of joint at the Interior Department.

A. F. Springer, for years guardian, repairer and winder of the department's clocks, died about a week ago and now the clocks are anywhere from 2 minutes to 2 hours off.

Secretary Wilbur's own clock, an ornate gold-plated affair, was described by his office assistant yesterday as being "a little cuckoo."

The department has more clocks in it than any other building in Washington. It took one man's entire time to keep them wound and in running order. Another clock guardian will be appointed soon.

UNIFIED TRACTION SERVICE PICTURED

Special to The Washington Post.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 28.—The millenium in city transportation, "one responsible agency furnishing all available kinds of public transportation," today was pictured to the American Electric Railway Association convention by John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co. of Washington, in what some interpreted as a subtle plea for a merger of traction facilities in that city.

"The ideal city of the future" will be served by such an agency, Mr. Hanna, who is president of the association, told the group.

Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, also addressed the association. Both speakers concurred in the belief that efficient local transportation throughout the country would aid in bettering business conditions.

The merged transportation instrument pictured by Mr. Hanna "would preferably be a thoroughly responsible corporation, financially strong enough to obtain sufficient capital to provide for future growth at reasonable terms, he said.

"It would operate under a franchise which would insure stability to the undertaking and provide for a permanency of operation, preferably by the existing corporation, but provision should be made for purchase of the property put to public use by the municipality at a fair price on reasonable notice.

"The terms of this ideal franchise would permanently remove the transportation business from politics. Regulation would be sufficiently rigid to assure the public of always getting the best available service at the lowest reasonable fare, but should not be used to hinder management in its efforts to serve economically and satisfactorily."

His plan provided for limiting the number of taxicabs "to prevent unnecessary congestion on the streets." Mr. Hanna told the association that electric railways "still form the backbone of passenger transportation needs," although electric railways alone "could not have met the growing need for urban transportation." He said the industry is spending $500,000 in research to improve service without asking public aid.

Mr. Thorpe said that an indifference toward the transportation problem on the part of newspapers had contributed toward retarding the growth of their communities.

Speed Boat Makes New Record On Mississippi.

St. Louis, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Miss Evinrude II, last remaining contender in a motorboat race up the Mississippi River from New Orleans, arrived here at 3:21 p. m. today, completing the trip in 78 hours and 46 minutes and thereby breaking the official record of 87 hours and 13 minutes.

George H. Blaich, jr., and C. F. Schokmiller, pilots of the Evinrude, won $400 in prizes by their exploit. Whether they will be given the Koenig Cup, emblematic of the official speed record between New Orleans and St. Louis, will be decided tomorrow. There is some question because of several motor part replacements.

BURNING OF FAMILY LEADS TO STILL RAIDS

Vagrancy Charge Holds 2 as Police Work on Moonshine Feud Theory.

A raid by a sheriff's posse on a suspected moonshiners' den 2 miles from the ruins, near Kopp, Va., where the bodies of Goodwin Miller's family were found Friday, resulted yesterday in arrest of two men on vagrancy warrants.

Those held are Jonah Cole, 23 years old, former steelworker, and D. J. Barber, 26 years old, former sailor. They are in the Prince William County Jail in Manassas.

Directly after their arrest Sheriff John P. Kerlin, of Prince William County, broadcast a lookout for two other men who lived with Cole and Barber in a cabin in the woods and left early yesterday for Alexandria or Washington to trade in an automobile.

The third pair in the sextet left Triangle, Va., a week ago Friday, according to stories by Cole and Barber, with New York as their destination. All of the men are from Georgia, Sheriff Cole said, and five of them had been living on a small farm a few miles from Joplin since early summer. One of the men joined the others on September 12.

Raid Sequel to Murder Theory.

The raid, staged not far from Quantico, came as sequel to a supposition of Justice of the Peace Willard E. Lloyd that the triple deaths may have resulted from a moonshiners' feud, because Miller had also been under suspicion of operating a still.

Each of the men arrested gave an account of his actions early Friday morning when the deaths of Miller, his wife, Virgie, and their 6-months-old son, Melvin, are believed to have occurred. Sheriff Kerlin said he would attempt to corroborate the men's stories.

Other members of the suspected gang are being sought. That the suspicion against the men is somewhat flimsy was indicated by the statement of Commonwealth Attorney Thomas H. Lion, who said: "To our knowledge, nothing had ever happened between Miller and these men. We have no motive to connect them with the deaths."

The men under arrest, he said, will be further questioned as to their knowledge of the deaths of the Miller family. They were arrested because "they had been living in the neighborhood for several months and had no visible means of support."

The place where the two were taken into custody is 2 miles from the site of Miller's house and 4 miles from any other habitation. It is situated in hills, adjacent to a spring.

Officials Hold Divergent Views.

There is a diversity of opinion between officials as to the manner in which the family met death. Sheriff Kerlin said yesterday that the skull had not been severed from the body of Miller. He believes it was crushed in the ruins. Part of what appeared to be skull bones were found on the bed near the bodies, he said.

Sheriff Kerlin admitted he has no clews upon which to work on the theory that the triple deaths were result of foul play. "Our only chance of solving this case is that some person may let drop some important information at a later date," the sheriff added. His opinion is shared by Coroner E. H. Marstellar.

On the other hand, Commonwealth Attorney Lion believes that the fatal fire was accidental. "In my opinion," he said," it is a case of a man coming home drunk and smoking a cigaret in bed. I believe that the three were suffocated and their bodies burned in the fire. It has happened before."

"It is known that Miller was intoxicated on that night. It has also been established that he habitually smoked in bed. The investigation has shown that Miller always bolted the doors from the inside and put a nail in the top of the window sash so that it could not be opened from the outside. I think that the deaths were accidental."

Coroner Marstellar and Sheriff Kerlin believe it would be improbable that the three would have been suffocated without either Miller or his wife making some move for an exit. As they were found, they argue, the bodies were lying side by side on the bed spring.

The two men held in the case told Sheriff Kerlin that they had attended a party at Pohick, Va., and returned home early Friday morning. The story they were at the party has been corroborated, according to Sheriff Kerlin.

SERVICE HELD HERE FOR MRS. SANDERS

Mrs. Hoover Among Those at Hotel Rites for Former Official's Wife.

The funeral party accompanying the body of Mrs. Everett Sanders, wife of the secretary to former President Coolidge, back to her former home in Terre Haute, Ind., paused in Washington yesterday for services at the Mayflower Hotel in response to the dying wish of Mrs. Sanders. Her funeral was the only one ever to be held at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover was among the large group of Washington officialdom attending the services, which were conducted by Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives. Mr. Sanders was formerly a member of the House.

Floral tributes were received from both President and Mrs. Hoover and former President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Following the services at the Mayflower, the party left Washington at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Terre Haute, where the final services will be held today at 2:30 o'clock from the Christian Church.

While the funeral was under way yesterday, the George Rogers Clark Commission, meeting in Vincennes, Ind., postponed its discussion out of respect to Mrs. Sanders.

Excavation Starts For 4 Structures

I. C. C., Auditorium, Labor and Postoffice Make Building Group.

Excavations for four buildings of the Interstate Commerce group, Twelfth to Fourteenth streets, Constitution to Pennsylvania avenues, were begun yesterday. The buildings for which clearance work is under way include the Interstate Commerce Commission Building, the Government Auditorium, the Labor Department Building and the Postoffice Building, which will be built at a total cost of $21,550,000.

McCloskey & Co., of Philadelphia, is the contracting firm on the work but it is understood a good portion of the job will be given to subcontractors.

It is expected that excavation work will soon start on the new Department of Justice Building between Ninth and Tenth streets, Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues. Clearance work on the old Center Market site on which the new Archives Building will soon rise is progressing rapidly.

MISS MARY WILSON DIES.

Funeral of Herndon Girl Will Be Held This Afternoon.

Miss Mary Wilson, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, of Herndon, Va., died Saturday in a Washington hospital of appendicitis. She is survived by her parents and three brothers, Carlin, Charles and Woodrow Wilson, and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Powell, Mrs. Agnes Chattell and Miss Dorothy Wilson, all of Herndon.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Southern Methodist Church in Herndon, with the Rev. J. C. Dugger, pastor of the church, conducting. Interment will be in the Chestnut Grove Cemetery in Herndon.

Attempts to Return Property Clear Man

His own testimony that he had frequently tried to return some property to its owner, yesterday brought about an acquittal for Francis H. Gray, of 600 Massachusetts avenue northwest, who was in Police Court on a charge of taking property without right.

J. R. Glisson, of 704 Sixth street northwest, owner of the property, said that Mr. Gray was holding it for room rent. Police testified that Mr. Gray offered to return the property when he was arrested, but that Glisson declined on the ground that he had no place to keep it.

'Toy' Gun Proves Real; Man Put Behind Bars

Pleading that a small weapon found on him when he was arrested would shoot only blank cartridges, Herman Washington, colored, of St. Dominics court, yesterday was confounded with his own gun when Assistant United States Attorney Wilbert McInerney, in Police Court, fired a bullet with it through an inch plank.

Thereupon, Washington was given 240 days in which to wonder how his gun could shoot when he had been told that it wouldn't.

John Ligon Dies; Retired Printer

Former Federal Employe Came to Capital 45 Years Ago.

John Daniel Ligon, retired employe of the Government Printing Office and a native of Powhatan County, Va., died yesterday at the residence, 1411 Longfellow street northwest. He was 74 years old.

Mr. Ligon learned the printing business in Lynchburg, Va., and joined Richmond Typographical Union, No. 90, in 1878. He joined Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, in 1886, at which time he was appointed to a position in the Government Printing Office. He retired from this position in 1922.

He had been a member of Hill City Lodge, No. 183, A. F. A. M. since 1886, Myroh M. Parker Lodge, No. 27, since 1891, Columbia Commandery, No. 2, K. T., since 1901, and of the National Union Assurance Society since 1891. He married Maria V. Fulton, of Johnstown, Pa., in 1869. Mrs. Ligon died nine years ago. He is survived by two children, John Ligon and Mrs. W. E. Howser, both of this city, and by two grandsons. Funeral services will be announced.

NO BONUS FOR FARMERS.

Since the American Legion has decided not to attempt a raid on the depleted Treasury attention has turned to the political demands of the farmer. Agricultural interests have by no means relinquished hope of obtaining special benefits from the next Congress. In fact, they are now marshaling their forces for a comprehensive drive "for the relief of agriculture."

The American Farm Bureau Federation will renew its efforts in behalf of the equalization fee, which would tax agricultural products to pay a bounty on surplus crop exports. Leaders of the National Grange are demanding the export debenture plan under which a bounty to agricultural exporters would be paid directly out of the Treasury. The agricultural bloc in Congress is ready to push these demands forward on the ground that the depression makes it necessary to extend special aid to the farmer. Senator Brookhart has already proposed an increase of $500,000,000 to the Farm Board's revolving fund presumably to encourage the board to undertake further price stabilization activities.

Agricultural relief was the subject of a most bitter controversy in the last session of Congress. Farmer-politicians demanded vast sums from the Treasury to alleviate conditions resulting from the drought. This year they will complain that nature has been too generous—that the abnormally large crops make it necessary for Uncle Sam to furnish funds to dispose of the surplus. Constant vigilance will be necessary to prevent the enactment of uneconomic legislation.

There is no reason why any major agricultural legislation should be passed at the coming session. Farmers are not suffering from the depression any more than other classes. In fact, the position of farmers in many localities is enviable. While thousands are out of work in the cities the farmer's work goes on as usual. He can grow his own food and provide his own shelter. In comparison with the laid-off factory workman his position is one of independence.

A number of States are giving attention to the special agricultural problems of their own localities. The depression has brought them to a realization of the necessity for cooperation among agricultural interests to balance production with consumption. While the depression of prices weighs heavily upon the farmer at present, it may be the means of coordinating agricultural forces so as to bring about orderly production in the future. It would be unfortunate, indeed, if the effects of this rigid application of economic law should be nullified by some half-baked legislative panacea.

President Hoover has appealed to all groups to refrain from Treasury raids while the national revenue is so deficient. Every special favor that is granted will bring higher taxes that much closer to reality. It is time for every group to look to the national welfare. If one bloc is allowed to dip into the Treasury, others will insist on the same privilege and in the end all benefits will be eaten up by higher taxes. The farmer has no special claim upon the Treasury. If farm organizations want to keep the respect and support of the American public they would do well to forego all plans for the promotion of measures that would increase the cost of government at this time.

DIVIDING PUBLIC LAND.

If the Public Domain Commission's recommendations are accepted nearly 200,000,000 acres of Western grazing land now owned by the Government will be turned over to private individuals. This great territory is valuable not only for grazing but for water conservation. By keeping this area under vigorous natural vegetation erosion may be prevented as well as floods in some of America's important rivers. To maintain watershed protection in this tremendous expanse of land requires technical skill of a high order administered over the whole area. Upon this conservation depends the fate of irrigation projects and city water supplies.

It has been recommended by the commission that this land be turned over to the States and that they in turn sell it at auction to the highest bidders. But a large part of this vast area, almost one-tenth the size of the whole United States, would attract no buyers. It is valuable chiefly as watershed and, therefore, should remain under public authority. The States would probably be able to sell the best of this land and the remainder would be allowed to deteriorate with no attempt at reclamation. A national heritage that should become increasingly valuable in the future would be frittered away for a pittance.

At present this land is occupied by thousands of ranchers who have been permitted by Federal sufferance to build up flocks and herds on the public domain. If the land is sold at public auction the small holders will be forced out and the large combinations with money will get control. This policy stands out in sharp contrast to that established by the forest service in 1905. When confronted by a similar problem it scrupulously recognized the rights of prior use and custom and divided the grazing privileges proportionately.

In view of the great strides that have been made in conservation of natural resources in the past few years the commission's suggestion comes as a great surprise. The report advocates an anticonservation program that is strangely incompatible with the very name of the commission. It is notable that Col. William B. Greeley, former chief of the forest service, refused to sign the report.

THE STABLE DOLLAR.

There was a time when instability in the London money market meant that the world stood by and awaited a resumption of normalcy before proceeding with great undertakings in the realm of finance. No other money center could replace so efficiently and cheaply London's financial position in world trade. The heavy transfer of capital to the United States during and since the war, however, has created a new situation. It has made a substitute money market, which is ready to take first place in the banking world, with reserves greater even than those of England. A complete change will come with England's recent suspension of the gold standard.

The English decision, after the long and valiant struggle to sustain the value of the pound, has resulted in sterling being dropped in many centers as the age-long measure of value. Even in some of the British colonies it has been replaced. In Bermuda merchants are basing their prices on the dollar instead of the fluctuating pound, which has created a great demand for American currency. In Argentina the banks have agreed to establish a uniform rate of 180 gold pesos to $100 as the present standard exchange, rather than the former basis founded on sterling.

These changes have shifted the flow of foreign short-term paper away from London, the greater part of it drifting to New York. As a result this country will shortly dominate international finance despite the fact that the machinery for handling the business is not so highly developed as the British system. American banks do not have direct contact with business in virtually every part of the world, as have the English institutions, which are supplied with a stream of bills from nearly every country. Before New York can offer the same service its banks will have to establish many more foreign branches than they now have. Credit information as well as first-hand knowledge of the large users of foreign trade credit instruments will have to be gained.

Some authorities think that the leading acceptance banks of this country must increase their capital so as to enlarge their acceptance limit. In good times New York banks accept nearly to the limit of bill accepting allowance which is 100 per cent of their capital and surplus. This is evidenced by the fact that whenever one of the larger institutions increases its capital and surplus it improves proportionately in its volume ranking as an acceptor. The deflated prices of bank stocks discourage the raising of new capital at present, but if the expected increase in dollar acceptance business takes place efforts will doubtless be made to augment capital.

AS STRANGERS SEE IT.

European observers, particularly British business men who have visited the United States recently, are amazed at the constant harping upon the "depression" when to the visitors it is evident that conditions are incomparably better than in other parts of the world. The drastic action forced upon Great Britain has served to emphasize the vastly superior position of America.

Americans are beginning to realize their comparative advantages even if prosperous times and business activity are delayed. It has remained for numerous visitors from abroad to bring home to the industrial interests of this country what their plight really would be if they were located in less favored lands. As one British investigator puts it: "British trade since 1921 has been slowly sliding into the quagmire. American trade has dropped suddenly from a great height on to fairly solid ground. Among all the nations America will undoubtedly recover first and with the least immediate damage."

A visiting correspondent from England, surprised at America's emphasis on the depression, says:

> On the surface of life there are few signs in any American city of the severe distresses which, I was assured by nearly every one, would create in the coming winter one of the gravest social problems in American history.
> The standard of living is still very much higher in America than anywhere else in the world. Americans of all classes live with an air of opulence that can not be matched in any European country.
> They are more finely clothed. They eat better and more varied food. They live in more material comfort. The working classes have a wider margin of personal pleasures. They enjoy luxuries which no other proletariat could possibly afford.

With no desire to minimize a very real need for organized help for American unemployed during the coming winter it is not difficult to recognize exaggeration and political argument in much that is said these days of actual conditions in the United States. Until he has crossed the Atlantic the average American citizen can not clearly perceive the chasm that separates his own conception of social comfort from that of the average European. There really exists little excuse for as much self-pity as is common here.

America's vast resources for recovery will promptly restore normal prosperity once the depression has run its course. Americans should prepare to weather the coming winter with confidence that next year will see better times. Taxes amount to but a fraction of those exacted abroad. There are still more than 43,000,000 Americans drawing living wages, even if some wages have been temporarily reduced. The reserve strength of the United States in man power, money, natural resources, industrial equipment, intelligence and energy are so enormous as to be beyond calculation.

If it were not fashionable in some quarters to indulge in pessimism, or if in other quarters it were not regarded as "shrewd politics" to exaggerate unsatisfactory conditions, the average American would balance the assets of the United States against its liabilities and laugh at the gloom of pessimists. Indeed, this is already the attitude of practically the whole country outside of New York.

Premier Laval expects to leave for the United States on October 12. Looks as if he postponed his visit until after the world series so that he could expect a little public attention.

The United States can stand the competition of a tariff and any other measures that any nation needs to support home industry and improve its standard of living.

The Austin Motor Co. is so prosperous it declares a 100 per cent dividend. So's our old man Woolworth and Mr. Wrigley.

At any rate these week-end visits of European statesmen help to bolster up a declining tourist traffic.

NAVAL BUILDING LAGS

By Capt. DUDLEY W. KNOX, United States Navy (Retired), in the New York Herald Tribune.

Those Americans having a wholesome regard for the maritime interests of the country should welcome the proposed entry of the other naval powers in the lone naval holiday which we have virtually observed ever since 1922, and which has been rapidly reducing our relative naval strength to a low rating. The exclusion of ships already in hand from the terms of the proposed holiday, however, is a necessary condition to safeguard American interests against what would otherwise be an extremely unfair penalty for our previous restraint in naval construction.

At the Washington conference of 1921-1922 the United States had a very substantial superiority over any other power in the three categories of capital ships, destroyers and submarines, and was deficient in the single category of cruisers. The combined net effect of both the Washington Conference and the more recent one at London has been for the United States to lose the edge which she had in the three categories named, yet without gaining any corresponding concession in cruisers. Since 1922 we have the record by long odds for scrapping tonnage. At the same time we have laid down much less new tonnage than any other power, notwithstanding a greatly superior ability to bear the costs of building up to a treaty navy.

The notable restraint which the United States has exercised since the limitation of naval armaments movement began is indicated by the following tabular statement of the numbers of ships and the corresponding tonnage which have been undertaken by the several powers since 1922:

	Ships.	Tonnage.
United States	33	186,000
United Kingdom	96	350,000
Japan	114	320,000
France	149	300,000
Italy	110	200,000

The foregoing figures should be interpreted in terms of our theoretical position under the treaties by which we are supposed to have a parity with Britain, a ratio of 5 to 3 with Japan and an even higher ratio with respect to France and Italy. Only with an interpretation is there a full realization of the extent of the virtual naval holiday which this country has been observing for ten years.

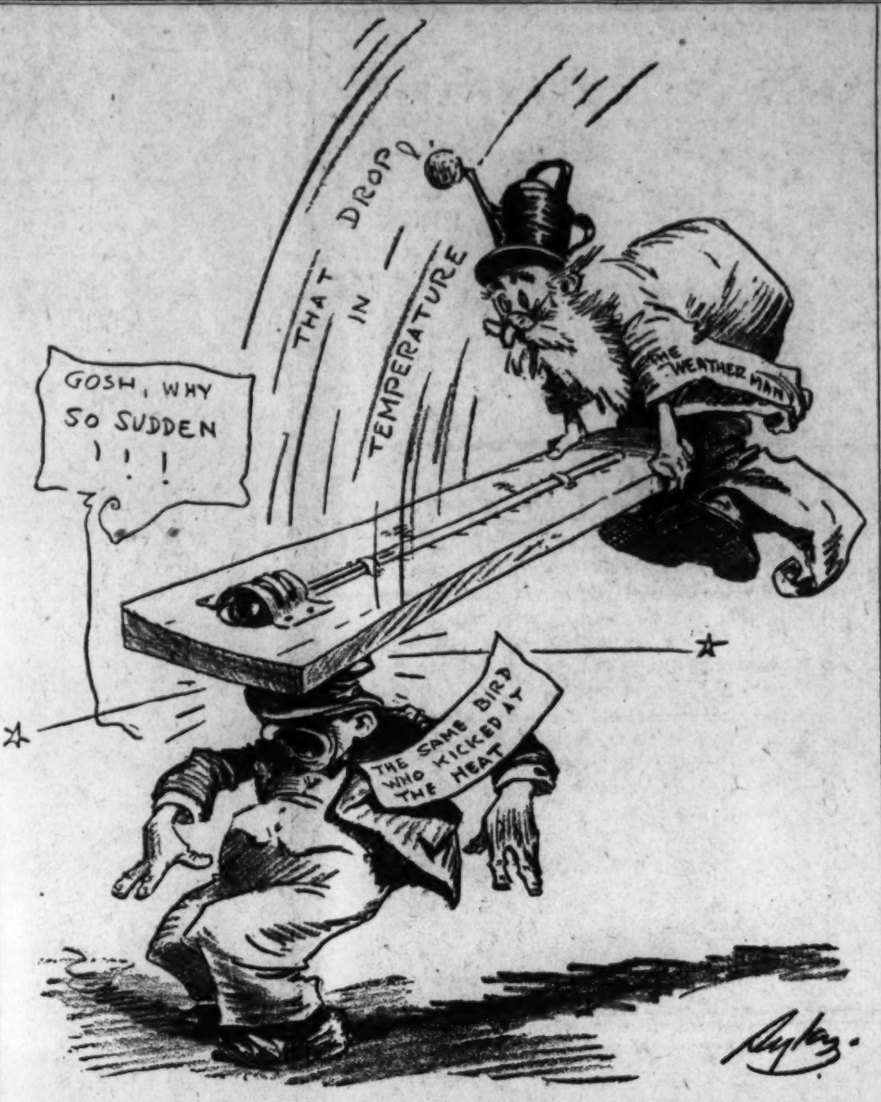
It was the steady operation of this trend which caused Senator David A. Reed to be "horrified" at our low standing in cruisers when the American delegation to the London Conference went into the matter preliminary to the international meeting. He found that Britain "had us 4 to 1" in cruisers. It is the continuation of this same trend since the London treaty became effective that has caused the senator and former delegate to say that we would have "no standing" at the next limitation conference unless we went ahead and built up somewhere near to our theoretical treaty level.

One might imagine that, with this general experience back of us and with the solemn warnings of the senators who negotiated and supported the ratification of the London treaty, we would have gone ahead with a rational program of naval building. One might also suppose that after the London treaty the comparatively impoverished nations who had the treaty on top of our long-standing example of restraint might have been induced to slow down their naval construction. But the exact opposite is true in both cases. Since the London treaty the United States has appropriated for only 16,500 tons of new ships, represented by eleven destroyers. England and Japan have each appropriated for more than four times that amount of tonnage, France more than three times and Italy more than twice.

Our national income is nearly five times greater than Great Britain's and eighteen times greater than Japan's.

At the end of the present year the United States will be nearly 20 per cent below her treaty levels, counting ships which are both built and building. In contrast with this, Japan will apparently be 10 per cent above treaty levels. No violation of the treaty is involved in this, the explanation being simply that she has laid down new ships in time to replace existing ships when the latter become over age.

Most of our current construction is in cruisers, in which type we are woefully deficient. We have only 116,000 tons of cruisers completed out of a total treaty allowance of 323,000 tons. We have 97,000 tons of cruisers under construction, the completion of which would still leave us a deficiency of more than 100,000 tons below the treaty allowance. Fundamental equity would require that we should be allowed to complete the cruiser tonnage already under construction in any naval holiday that may be arranged.



And He Asked For It.

POST HASTE.

The league's refusal to fight for Manchurian arbitration may have killed the Chinese foreign minister.

Legion Commander Stevens, a personal dry from a dry State, says, "But this is a Government by the majority." Yes, commander, in nearly everything except amending the Constitution.

The reception of the French ministers in Germany, the first visit of the kind in half a century, shows that personal contacts have been too long delayed.

It may be a bit chilly to hold the Laval parley on a Rapidan log, but a man who always wears a white necktie probably is not as much of a woodsman as Ramsay MacDonald anyhow.

Since the very first session of the big conference in Berlin agreed upon the formation of a permanent international committee to consider Franco-German economic and political questions it appears that even the optimists have been aiming low.

They took Gandhi to Lancashire to work on his sympathy for the unemployed cotton spinners. He saw they were in such a bad way that England would have to grant India's demands to get back the loin cloth market.

Buy and buy, says Mr. Gifford, not bye and bye, but now, if you can afford the things that will never be cheaper.

Dr. Clarence True-to-form Wilson isn't doing the dry cause any good by running amuck those who are on the other side.

In anticipation of the French invasion next month the cabinet medicine ball practice will probably be played in parley voo and the haute monde will be looking up the champagne equivalents of their vin ordinaire.

Counting the armies of the government, the rebels, the Communists and the bandits, a correspondent in China says there are 3,000,000 under arms. He explains that the only reason there are not twice as many fighting is that there are only 3,000,000 rifles in the country.

The French have given up the effort to get Premier Laval to abandon his white tie, but they still hope to have him comb his hair before his American trip.

Dr. Klein figures that ten or twelve billion dollars are wasted in this country every year by a maladjustment of distribution. If that much more is taken from the railroads we fear they will make another protest.

When Chinese students assault a cabinet minister, against all traditional respect for their elders, those Latin-American schoolboys can see what effect their revolutionary example is having on the world.

JUST FOLKS

TIME.

Swiftly the summer flies,
Slowly the winter goes,
Sunshine and opal skies,
Song bird and rose,
Laughter and pleasure gay,
All haste away.

Snow drift and chilling blast
Long linger on,
Slowly the days drag past
Clouds frown upon.
Time seems a leaden thing,
Waiting for spring.

Where has the summer flown?
Sadly we sigh,
Where are the joys we've known?
Now care is nigh.
And when old age draws on,
Where has youth gone?

Humblest Shack Is Better Shelter Than a Palace Built in Dreams

By ROBERT QUILLEN

RECENT investigation of a modern Bluebeard and his methods revealed a thousand tragedies overlooked by the world.

A few victims, trapped by means of treacherous love letters, were slain. They received the world's sympathy, too late to be useful. But what of the thousands who might have been victims—the hungry-hearted so strangely desperate that pride and caution and simple reason were sacrificed in search of sympathy and affection?

You may call them simpletons or romantic morons if you will, but the fact remains that they are desperately lonely human beings, driven almost to madness by their hunger for comradeship.

How can hearts be hungry in a world so full of people? Because it is more blessed to give than to receive. Because love is not awakened by force of will. Because happiness depends on giving love in return for love, and the hungry-hearted search in vain for one they are capable of loving.

No normal human being can be happy without actual physical contact with an understanding comrade. It isn't wholly a matter of sex. The elbow touch of advancing troops gives assurance of safety. The pressure of a friendly hand quiets nerves. Perhaps it is an inheritance from primitive ancestors who clung together in the darkness to lessen the terrors of the jungle. In any case the touch of a loved one's hand brings contentment, and there is no contentment without it.

Those who have never known love may find a poor substitute in the frenzied struggle for power, fame or wealth; but those who sigh for "the touch of a vanished hand" will find no peace until they love and are loved again.

The fortunate young love easily and are wasteful of treasures that seem so abundant; but discriminating middle age is slow to love and often lives hungry-hearted in the midst of crowds, as leopards and lions would starve surrounded by grass and grain that is food for cattle.

This inability to love late in life emphasizes the tragic folly of unnecessary divorce. To discard a mate who affords some pleasure is to risk finding none to afford any pleasure at all.

If at 30 you love a little and have a little love in return, it is madness to sacrifice your little in hope of much.

The desert traveler doesn't pass by a spring because its waters are a little bitter, for springs that are sweet may never be found.

The Machine Still Runs.
Minneapolis Journal.

Congenital pessimists—to say nothing of wishful thinkers more than willing to see in the current depression symptoms of the dissolution of an economic system that has endured for centuries—have formed the habit of calling these hard times now with us the worst in history; also the most prolonged in history.

But history itself doesn't say so. The present depression still has another month to go before it can be called two years old, whereas the depression of 1893 lasted some three years, the depression of 1873 lasted 30 months, and even the depression of 1884 lasted 22 months, or nearly as long as this one has lasted, to date.

The point is that pessimists and wishful thinkers viewed each of these earlier periods of adversity as the end of an era, as proof positive that the old economic machine had broken down. In the seventies, in the eighties and in the nineties, "movements" backing this or that revolutionary panacea were so numerous that they frequently collided with each other.

But each of these past depressions was followed by a period of flush times, without the economic machine having been radically tinkered, and the longer the depression, the longer, in each instance, the succeeding era of prosperity.

Gov. Ritchie's address before the utilities section of the American Bar Association was an illuminating pronouncement. His view is the broad view. He holds that governmental interference in human affairs means an excess of power. As he puts it, "it means bureaucratic centralization and sterilization, and undue impairment of individual rights and liberties."

This is a business Nation. Gov. Ritchie holds, and truly, it may be believed, that governmental interference in this business becomes more of an incubus than a help. It can exclaim, and harass, but it fails when it comes to guidance and guardianship. It can, he says, readily do more harm than good even when only good is intended.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Stop Raids Upon Stock Values to Restore Public Confidence.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is the consensus of opinion that the present depression is, to a large extent, psychological and that it will continue until there is a change in the mental attitude and outlook of the people.

The gospel of gloom and despair has been preached so long by pessimists that the people have lost confidence to a great extent in our social and economic systems, and in the capacity for leadership of our representative men.

It is a curious fact that public confidence can be restored and the people's psychology changed almost overnight by incidents that are trivial in themselves. No one knew this better than the great Napoleon, as evidenced by his bestowal of decorations on the fields of battle and his instructions to his ministers, when told by them that the people were restless and might revolt, to go out and paint the dome of the Invalides.

It is unquestionable that the present state of the stock market is largely responsible for the present state of the public mind. There is nothing that would do more to restore confidence, which is indispensable to the return of prosperity, than for our financial leaders, if we have any, to stop the constant raids upon security values and to bolster up and stabilize the stock market. If this were done, and there should begin a gradual appreciation of security prices from day to day, if only of a fractional average, it is predicted that within 30 days a marked psychological change would appear, confidence would begin to return, the people would start spending and investing, and before the end of the year prosperity would be on the way. Is this not worth trying, since all other suggestions have failed?

ALEXANDER SIDNEY LANIER.

Wealthy Persons Can Relieve Distress by Creation of Jobs, Maintenance of Wages and Reduction of Prices.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Borah said recently that the rich ought to support the poor during these hard times. Such a proposition does not accord with right reasoning, right charity and right economics.

There are three legitimate ways in which the rich can help the poor: By creating as many jobs for them as they can; by paying them liberal wages, and by lowering the prices on those commodities—food, fuel, clothing and shelter—that are absolutely necessary to maintain life and health. It does not help the poor to lower wages as many employers are now doing, or to maintain high prices as many manufacturers and merchants are doing. Neither does it help the poor to dismiss them from jobs that they could work at with profit to society.

When there is a falling market, as there has been for some time past, the commodities that should fall first, last, fastest and lowest are foodstuffs, fuel, clothing and rents. But I have not noticed any great drop in food and fuel prices. There is enough coal in the country to keep billions of people warm. Why do not mine owners increase their output and sell it to the people at low prices? Low prices would mean more customers for coal and more men employed in the coal fields.

In times of business depression, the rich and influential should act on the motto, "Noblesse oblige," or, as Christ says, "Unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more."

Too Many Radical Organizations Encourage Lawlessness Among Aliens.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I recently returned to my office and find here a copy of an editorial which was published in your paper on Sunday, August 9. This editorial was entitled "Coddling Lawless Aliens."

I am rather familiar with the subject which you discussed, having been interested in immigration restriction for many years.

I sincerely compliment you on your editorial and feel sure that if more of the newspapers of the country would run similar ones, there would be less trouble with lawless aliens.

I think the lawless alien feels that today he has considerable backing of American opinion. He has the backing certainly of many radical organizations, but I believe the great body of American people are against it, but it is hard to find such an opinion expressed in many newspapers. Your paper covers the point exceptionally well.

Tax Cosmetics for Revenue Instead of Bringing Back Beer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Inasmuch as the United States Treasury is suffering a deficit and many are searching for a remedy for a tax which will be "painless," why not put a tax on cosmetics?

The sales from such articles as powder, rouge, lipsticks, cold creams, perfumes, &c., are enormous in this country.

This tax would prove to be about as painless as any, and a much quicker and more sure way than bringing back "beer for revenue." I'm sure it would be a more idealistic way than for the Government to dabble with alcohol.

NEW STREET WORKS LIKELY IN ROCKVILLE

Rights of Way Offered and Commissioners Meet Today on Plan.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Improvements of great importance to Rockville, Md., were discussed at an informal meeting yesterday at the courthouse which was participated in by county and town officials and representatives of the Peter estate.

Opening of two important streets in Rockville will be possible if the project is favorably received today at a meeting of the Montgomery County commissioners. Mayor J. Roger Spates and the Rockville town council are actively in favor of the project, and it is believed that Lacy Shaw, president of the board of county commissioners, and County Commissioner Frank Ricketts also are favorable.

Attorney Edward Peter and his brother, George Peter, real estate agent, representing Mrs. Edward C. Peter, sr., have offered to dedicate a 40-foot right of way from Jail lane, in the rear of the courthouse, to the Rockville High School, and from the Rockville Firehouse a 60-foot right of way to Maryland avenue, which would connect with a right of way already owned which leads to the Great Falls-Potomac road.

Mayor Spates last night declared that the opening of a new street to the Potomac road would give another traffic outlet to the town and would divert traffic from the Potomac section from Montgomery avenue and Frederick road to east of the courthouse.

In addition, the new streets would be of inestimable value in opening that section of Rockville to development, the mayor said, in giving his unqualified support to the plan. The success of the offer would provide a new main artery for Rockville with construction of less than a mile of new street.

According to Commissioner Shaw, the county could not provide funds for the construction work until 1933 or 1934 because county road funds for 1931 and 1932 have been allocated. He appeared favorably impressed with the plan, however.

The Peter heirs want an appraisal committee appointed to decide on the value of the jail site and desire one member to be appointed by the county and one by them, with a third appointed by the two committee men.

The entire project probably will be discussed and possibly acted upon by the county commissioners today.

Chamber of Kensington Enters School Dispute

Support of the Montgomery County Civic Federation opposition to more than one senior high school in each of the Western and Eastern Suburban District of Montgomery County, was voiced in a resolution adopted last night by the Kensington Chamber of Commerce meeting in the Kensington School. The resolution further read: "and strongly urges the establishment of a technical and business high school in Kensington" as soon as practicable. The motion was presented by George C. Shinn.

Richard H. Akers read a letter from the telehone company to his committee in which the company declined to give unlimited service to Washington and proposed that it would give modern telephones to replace the present antiquated system if the residents would agree to a 25 cents a month extra charge. The chamber voted to refuse this offer and adopted a resolution insisting upon adequate service without a raise in rates.

A motion calling upon Superintendent of Schools Edwin W. Broome to have the leak in the roof of the Kensington School repaired at once was adopted.

R. H. Chappel, W. I. Cleveland and H. D. Appleby were elected delegates to the Montgomery County Civic Federation, with George C. Shinn, R. F. Green and Charles W. Lane as alternates.

The Montgomery County Commissioners are called upon in another resolution to maintain a uniformed policeman in the Kensington section at all times.

DRY LAW VIOLATORS ARE FINED BY COURT

Fairfax County Disposes of Several Cases; Terms in Jail Suspended.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST, P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va. Phone Fairfax 166.

Two persons arrested during the week-end by Fairfax County authorities for the violation of the State prohibition law appeared yesterday in the Fairfax County Circuit Court, now in session, to plead guilty rather than have their cases continued until the next term of court.

Willard F. Redman, of 1831 First street northwest, Washington, arrested on the Washington-Richmond highway, near Accotink, Saturday evening, was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd for reckless driving and held for the action of the grand jury when a small quantity of alleged liquor was found in his possession, pleaded guilty to a charge of transportation and possession of ardent spirits yesterday. He was fined $50 and costs and 30 days in jail by Judge Walter T. McCarthy in the Circuit Court. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Everett Smith, arrested Sunday, also pleaded guilty to like offense and was given a similar sentence.

Everett Mock, of Herndon, who was indicted last year for the second offense of violating the State prohibition law, yesterday surrendered to the court for sentence. He pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three months in jail. A bond of $500, given at the time he was convicted in 1929, not to violate the prohibition law for a period of one year was declared forfeited. The fine and costs imposed yesterday were not paid and Mock was ordered to work them out on the public roads.

Other cases disposed of yesterday by the court were: James E. Anderson and Nelson Fertney, fined $75 and costs and 30 days in jail for transportation and possession of ardent spirits, and J. V. Gibbs, Raymond G. Williams, and J. W. Piper, fined $50 and costs and one month in jail. The jail sentence was suspended in the above cases during good behavior. Aubrey M. Hawkins pleaded guilty to driving while drunk and was fined $100 and costs and 30 days in jail, the jail sentence being suspended.

Crowds Throng Jelleff's To View Fashion Displays

Paris Models Present Latest Styles in Coats and Dresses Direct From French Capital; Sports Costumes and Juvenile Garments Shown.

Several thousand prospective shoppers thronged the floors of Frank R. Jelleff, Inc., last night to view the latest thing in dazzling fall clothing. Stunning models who displayed the new coats and other eye-catching apparel strolled through the crowds as the store played host at the evening reception.

The visitors were given an intimate insight into the modes to be followed this year by the smartest debutantes and two of the most noted models were brought here from Europe to present the styles at their best.

Princess Rosso di Cerami, of Rome, Italy, and Miss Lee Sherman, formerly of Patou, Paris, took the visitors "around the clock with the debutante."

At their show, which was directed by Mrs. Chandler Hall, of the staff of Worth, couturier, of Paris, modes suitable for the most fashionable young woman to wear at any hour of the day were displayed. The presentation was given at the Little Theater of Jelleff's on the seventh floor.

On the street floor mannequins from all of the floors paraded at intervals until the reception closed at 10 o'clock. The second floor was devoted to a presentation of some of the finest dresses in the salon and to a fashion show of negligees and intimate apparel.

Juniors held the center of the stage on the third floor.

A fashion review of sports apparel, furs and budget frocks and coats attracted throngs to the fourth floor.

The fifth floor featured inexpensive Paris fashions and models presented a review of frocks copied from anticipated successes of the season.

The show at the Little Theater, featuring Princess di Cerami and Miss Sherman, will be presented again today at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Hyattsville Group Hears School Plea

Will Seek to Raise Funds for Athletic Field; Phones Discussed.

The Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce met last night to hear an explanation of the new phone service to be available December 10 and to hear an appeal for funds to complete the grading of the high school athletic field.

L. G. Worthington, coach of the school, said that about $1,700 had already been raised, but a total of about $3,500 would be needed to finish the job and give it a top dressing. The contract for the filling has already been awarded, he said, and the job will be compited within a few weeks. A meeting of the special committee of the chamber, headed by Daniel Cox Fahey, jr., will be held soon to make plans for raising more money.

The new phone service was explained by E. L. Florance, general commercial manager for the company. Briefly, it provides for another exchange in Hyattsville, which has not yet been named. Subscribers to this exchange, who will pay a special rate, may make calls to Washington and similar exchanges in Capital Heights and Clarendon, Va., without a toll charge. The service will be optional and will not disturb those who prefer to keep the present system.

P. U. C. HEARS PLEAS FOR ELECTRIC LINES

Body, However, Sticks to Its Views Against Rerouting Virginia Cars.

A nearby Virginia delegation again made an apparently futile effort yesterday to alter the decision of the Public Utilities Commission, which has opposed the establishment of a terminal for Virginia electric cars north of Pennsylvania avenue and the rerouting of tracks across the Avenue at Fourteenth street.

Following an open hearing yesterday morning, at which the old arguments were revived, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, said that the body had not been sufficiently impressed to change its opinion that such a rerouting would create too great congestion. It was said, though, that the whole matter would be taken under consideration.

The commission revealed an interest in the substitution of buses for the two traction systems, the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington, and the Arlington & Fairfax Railways. The delegation expressed a preference, however, for the retention of the electric lines.

Representative Howard Smith appealed on behalf of the patrons of the lines for the rerouting. The appeal was presented by J. William May and Mevin K. Shipe for Alexandria patrons, and by Dr. J. H. Parmelee for those in Arlington and Fairfax Counties.

Marlboro Main Street To Be Widened 6 Feet

In an effort to remove the jams which mark the main street of Marlboro during heavy traffic, the street will be widened six feet on the courthouse side. It is understood that work will be done during the winter.

Several weeks ago parking was prohibited on the courthouse side, but this did not entirely remove the trouble, and the ban was critized by business places on this side. The town commissioners then obtained signers to a petition to the State Roads Commission, which agreed to do the work. The commission will pay for the widening, and the town will foot the bill for the new sidewalk which will be necessary. The widening will not require the moving of any buildings.

Many Changes In Residences On Calendar

De Sibour House Leased in Georgetown by Guggenheims.

It is safe to venture that more residences in Washington have changed hands this season than for many years. Changes in addresses are recorded daily, in great numbers, and many families are still busily engaged in house hunting. The spacious de Sibour House, in Georgetown, at the corner of Thirtieth and Q streets, has been leased by Col. Robert Guggenheim, brother of the United States Ambassador to Cuba, and Mrs. Guggenheim, who have been residing in Edgemoor. The house has been occupied for several years by Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning, of New York, who returned to Washington last week for a few days and are contemplating taking an apartment for the winter.

Mr. J. Henri de Sibour purchased the residence many years ago, when it was little more than a frame shack. He renovated it, and made it one of the most attractive dwellings in that community, and, after living in it for several years, leased it to the Cornings.

The smaller house next door, in Thirtieth street, also owned by Mr. de Sibour, has been leased for the season by Mr. Herbert Pies, who is connected with the State Department as economic advisor. With Mrs. Pies, he will take possession shortly.

Maj. and Mrs. John C. H. Lee yesterday leased the house of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tierney in 2815 Woodland street and will take early possession. Mr. and Mrs. Tierney will live in 1817 Sixteenth street.

Mrs. J. Smith-Womack and her daughter, Miss Jacqueline Smith-Womack, have returned to their apartment at the Cairo, after spending the summer months in Cleveland.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF September 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1:15 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 6:10 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10:45 p. m. The danger hours are from 8 a. m. to 10:10 a. m., and from 1:35 p. m. to 3:10 p. m.

Quietly beneficial influences rule on September 29, according to astrological indications. Nothing of outstanding import is scheduled to happen, but affairs will run along well and smoothly without any disturbing or conflicting elements. After sunset, there will be a mellowing atmosphere liable to provoke thoughts of romance.

Children born on this September 29 will be irresponsible and happy-go-lucky until attaining adulthood. At this stage in their existence, they will "settle down" to a vocation, on which they will concentrate and in which they will attain success. By no means demonstrative or gushing, they will have deeply rooted affections.

You, if born on September 29, are very emphatic, and voice your views and opinions in a manner that can not be misunderstood. Even as a child, no one was ever in doubt as to what you wanted, and when you wanted it. You are not argumentative; once you have pronounced your "dictum," that's all there is to it. On the whole, your character is both strong and lovable. You have ideals and try to live up to them. You are full of sympathy and kindness of heart. Even though your words may be, at times, gruff, your actions advertise your sterling qualities of mind and your generous spirit.

You are not only an omnivorous reader, but a deep thinker. Be you man or woman, you often find yourself in a brown study, and your silent meditation does not always induce hilarity.

Successful people born September 29:

Thomas Kingsford, manufacturer.
Thomas P. Rossiter, artist.
Henry H. Richardson, architect.
Edward P. Tenney, author.
Christopher C. Shayne, merchant.
Frederick Schwatka, Arctic explorer.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

WHAT can I do to get rid of the inclosed weed? It is very persistent and will ruin my lawn unless it is destroyed.

MRS. CHARLES W.

Unless a lawn is maintained at its highest efficiency and the growth of the grass continually stimulated, weeds will creep in. The surest method of keeping out the weed you sent me or any other slender weeds among the grass is by keeping a good growth occupying the ground. Therefore, all I can suggest is that you keep your lawn so closely mowed that this weed will appear as a blade of grass. With such treatment you will soon cease to detect it among the grass.

Each year for three springs I have set out young delphinium plants, which grow, thrive and bloom. After blooming, I cut the flower stalks and the plants gradually turn yellow and die. Our garden soil is quite sandy. Can this be the reason I can not get them really established?

MISS LOIS G. T.

I am sure your soil is at fault. The soil should be rich and deeply prepared, a cool friable loam. Some growers claim that hot, sandy soil, if watered and fertilized, will produce excellent results. After cutting the plants back, they must be given a period of rest, during which time they must be neither cultivated nor watered. After three weeks of such treatment you should give them some bonemeal and a great deal of water. This will result in a second crop of flowers. Add well-rotted manure to your soil this fall.

ELSIE H. F.—In the reply to Mrs. Charles W. in this column you will find the desired information on removing the weed from your lawn.

We have a hybrid perpetual rose-bush which failed to bloom both last year and this. What do you suggest?

MRS. ARCHIE G.

When pruning, cut away all weak growth. If you desire quality and not quantity of bloom, cut back the strong canes to within eight or ten inches of the ground. This pruning must be done quite early in the spring. From now until frost water your rose every day and cultivate the soil about its roots constantly. Also feed it a cupful of liquid manure or a half cupful of bonemeal every three weeks. With such treatment you should have flowers next year.

Please tell me when and how to slip a rubber plant. LEWIS T. O.

You may take a cutting from a rubber plant at any season. Make a diagonal incision one inch long through the stem, about one foot from the terminal end of the shoot. Bind a dried moss bandage about the wound and keep it quite damp. In the course of time you will see tiny threadlike roots appearing on the outside of the moss. This is a sign that the time has come to separate the cutting from the parent plant. Set the young plant in a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure in equal parts. The first week after planting keep the pot in the shade.

Jane Claire Interprets the Mode

New York, Sept. 28.

IT'S what trimmings are made of—not how much of them appear—that's the important issue nowadays! For a frock may be blessed with the tiniest speck of embroidery, but because it's in Persian colorings; or because it's of straas and crystal, or some such thing, it is a very definite fashion indication, and therefore of much interest to Miladi Elegante.

And it is astonishing to see what the couturiers are using for trimmings. The most important of all of them is feather trimming—'n' how gorgeous it is you'd have to see to believe! For instance, Maggy Rouff showed a dark green velvet afternoon costume with a flat bronze plume collar and wee muff. Augustabernard scanned the heavens for some unusual bird to donate its feathers to the carrying out of her brilliant ideals, and finally decided on the vulture! Vultures have, to me, a horribly ugly and unpleasant sound, but I was converted to the belief that there is some good in the worst of us, after all, when I saw the detachable vulture-feather peplum that Augustabernard used on an all-white evening gown.

The feather-trimmed idea is nearly as old as time itself, but it is a fashion whimsy that never loses its appeal and "difference." Aztec and Inca chieftains were bedecked in "cloaks wrought of cunningly curved feathers of emerald and ruby sheen." And their royal princesses, as far back as any record goes, wore bridal capes of pure white feathers, "Purer than mountain-driven snow in shining whiteness."

* * * *

We hear the charms of brown for winter wear hymned to the stars for various and many reasons! But does brown need a reason when it's so delightfully treated as it is in the frock I illustrate for you today? It's of manila brown crepe marocain—you know, that bright-dark-brown, with an elusive hint of red in it. The cunning little puff sleeves extend from the shoulder yoke to just above the elbow, which is one of the very smartest versions of the puffed sleeve that the season has brought forth. 'N' the elbow bands and the cross-over collar are of tiny, gleaming copper beads.

* * * *

And if you're just a wee bit afraid that brown, because of its popularity, will become banal, just watch to see that the way it's made up is original, and you'll be all right.

* * * *

A bit of shimmering velvet, an artistic dash of exquisite marcasite, a jaunty little flounce—'n' scrambled all together they'll be the most adorable little bag you've seen in a month of green cheeses! But of course, my deahs, the hand that doesn't know how to scramble 'em, is apt to make a spiritless mess. Yet the hand that sends a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated bag leaflet, will make a Parisian bit of loveliness that will be the envy of all your friends! Mine, that I copied this one from, cost $75, there!

Au revoir.

PLEASE don't ever think a sanitary pad is "just like Kotex" because it looks the same. You need more than surface resemblance.

You need the purity of Kotex. Your health requires its hygienic safety. Its care in making.

No sanitary protection that fails to meet these standards should ever be considered. You know Kotex is safe. You know hospitals use it.

This assurance of safety is beyond price. Don't give it up for the sake of a few pennies, when this saving means you must take some questionable substitute of whose makers you know nothing. CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE SKY THE LIMIT.

NOT all Contract bidding permits of the drawing of correct inferences, nor, unfortunately, are correct interferences always drawn from correct bidding. I have frequently voiced my objection to some of the artificial bidding conventions used by some very fine Contract players because of the ease with which the adversaries can throw a monkey wrench into the machinery.

Mr. William Henry Trotter, of Philadelphia, recently sent me an interesting hand, in which, through the alert aid of an opposing player, two fairly good players became enmeshed in inferences drawn from conventional bidding in such a way that a tremendous disaster resulted. All four players at the table were using the Vanderbilt Club Convention, by which a bid of one club shows at least three quick-tricks, but discloses nothing as to distribution. Partner's responses are regulated. Holding less than two quick-tricks, he responds with a bid of one diamond and this bid the Opening bidder may not pass, as it may show no diamonds whatever. The overcall of this bid by an opponent is met by Mr. Vanderbilt through a provision that thereafter the bidding follows regulation lines. However, many players are prone to read in their partner's bidding the things they want to hear and that is what happened in this case.

I do not wish to be understood as in any way reflecting upon Mr. Vanderbilt's excellent system. The disaster which resulted to Mr. Trotter's friends was due to faulty application of the system and not the system itself.

East-West not vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♠ (1)	2♠ (2)	Pass
5♡ (3)	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	Pass	6◇ (4)	Dbl.
Rdbl. (5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—An interruptive bid to interfere with the significance of North's reply.
2—North, with no honor-tricks, sees chance of game on account of distribution.
3—South, forgetting West's interruptive bid, reads North's bid as guaranteeing 2 quick-tricks, which must be in diamonds, so bids more than game, but why in hearts instead of spades he failed to satisfactorily explain.
4—North on the bidding thought that South must have the high diamonds.
5—South's Redouble can not be explained.

The hand was penalized 6 tricks, 4,400 points for East and West, who eventually won over a 6,000 point rubber.

TODAY'S POINTER.

A Penalty Pass, after partner has doubled an Opening suit bid of one, should, as a rule, be avoided. Only hands with extraordinary length in opponents' bid suit such as will practically guarantee 4 sure trump tricks, would justify a pass. In suit bids the Declarer is usually able to make small trumps by ruffs, thus decreasing the penalty score against him, so great strength in opponents' bid suit is required to make safe a Penalty Pass after partner has made a Takeout Double.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Wanted—A Whipping Post.

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: I have been married nine years, have a daughter, 8, and two boys, 4 and 3. Have never quarreled and hubby always seemed satisfied in every way. But without any warning received a letter from him asking me to divorce him and part the children, as he had some one who would take care of his home. I was to take one child.

Our religion does not grant divorces. So he can not get one from me, which he says he knows. But he expected me to walk out and then he would run to his mother with the children and join the other woman out of town. But I consulted his mother and we are fighting to keep home and children together, but the other woman is still after him. He receives letters from her at the house. Should I open his mail? We never did before, but should I under the circumstances? He will not tell me a thing about the letters or their plans. Only laughs. I have reason to know he sends her money. I know what her name is, but he does not know it. Should I make her leave him alone? She is not free to marry either. Can I keep her away from him? I will not part the children and I can not go out to earn a living for them, for I must care for them. I don't know what to do. He knows I can make him support us all, the children anyway, but he says he will never earn enough to do it. Yet he spends money on other women. Sounds sordid, doesn't it? Print this, please, as you know best, for I can not do any more. I will look for this letter. I will be so glad for your advice. I thank you a thousand times.

A TRUSTING WIFE.

He can not support wife and children, but would like a harem. Would that the good old whipping post would be brought back just to neutralize the ardor and dampen the emotional ambitions of such rambling Romeos as this.

Here is a case for court action. This man should be placed on probation with the choice of going to jail or spending his small change on his family. The ease with which social parasites transfer their obligations to other shoulders while they seek the primrose path by way of some cheap intrigue is nauseating to the beholder and will sooner or later engage the attention of a long-suffering society taxed to support their abandoned young. In a truly civilized society this man would be jailed upon producing another child. Right now he and all like him should be segregated from contact with women put to work in jail and his earnings paid to the unfortunate who in good faith bore him three children. Left to his own instincts, he will in the course of his lifetime produce enough offspring to fill a fair-sized orphanage—at public expense. It is the sons of such that fill our prisons—spawned upon the world to live or die as the mercy and humanity of others dictate.

The nearest family court should speedily check the activities of this particular public menace, and protect alike his helpless offspring and an equally helpless society on which he preys.

CONTROLLING MALARIA.

NOWHERE in the world is there a greater degree of success in malaria control than the United Fruit Co. is having on their plantations located on the coastal plains and other lowlands of certain Central American countries. The success is shown not only by the lowered sickness and death rates of the employes, but also by the increased working capacity of the labor, and the increased wages they are able to earn.

In some of their plantations they have found that 90 per cent of all sickness—by whatever name it goes—is due directly or indirectly to malaria. In one enterprise it was decided that they had to control malaria or close down the works. There was no other alternative. Malaria control measures on this plantation brought the malaria rate down from over 56 to under 5.

These are some of their methods:

Ordinary treatment of a man with malaria—Start by giving two ounces of a concentrated solution of common salts. Follow with 10 grains of quinine twice a day, and one tablet of 1-6 grain plasmochin compound once a day. The quinine and plasmochin compound is kept up daily until the patient has been free from chills and fever for six to eight days. It is usually not necessary to repeat the salts. After that one 5-grain tablet of quinine is given daily for two months. Small children are given quinine suspended in sirup of Yerba Santa. Adults take it in capsules or pills and, in exceptional conditions, by injection into muscles.

To break up chills quinine is the best remedy, but it must be given in sufficient amounts and continued long enough. In certain cases the use of quinine, and especially its improper use, may cause hematuria, or even deafness, blindness and other untoward effects.

A necessary agent in the control of malaria is plasmochin compound. Given in large doses, it will break up chills and fever almost but not quite as well as quinine and in such large doses is fully as poisonous as, or more so than, quinine. Given in proper does, and in a proper way, it destroys the malaria parasites in those phases in which they cause relapses, bring about chronic malaria and, more important by far, in which they infect mosquitoes. In the small dose required for that purpose plasmochin compound is quite as harmless as quinine, properly given.

The treatment is always followed by after treatment, which consists in making a good, nutritious diet available; and in giving a tonic pill, containing iron, arsenic and quinine.

The company raises vegetables and fruits, and they supply other staple foods. The cheaper of these are given to convalescents without charge. The others are sold to them at low prices and on easy terms. Protection against reinfection by mosquito bites is imperative.

BLOOD PRESSURE.

Mrs. A. B. T. writes:

1. What would be the correct blood pressure of a woman 57 years old?
2. What should my weight be? I am 5 feet 2 inches in height.
3. Is there any cure for rupture on the navel?

REPLY.

1. 130 to 135.
2. About 120 pounds.
3. Wearing a binder will generally cure a navel rupture in a child. As a rule operation is required for cure of a similar rupture in an adult.

Geologist Finds Fish 380,000,000 Years Old

Red Lodge, Mont. (U.P.).—A number of fish which swam in the waters of Montana 380,000,000 years ago were caught here recently—with a geologist's pick.

Prof. R. T. Chamberlin, leader of the Princeton geological expedition in the Beartooth Mountains this summer, found embedded in the red shale on the face of Beartooth Butte several fossilized specimens of ostracoderms, fish-like creatures that swam in American rivers eons ago.

The ostracoderm resembles a cross between a crab and a flounder. Its body was about 7 inches long and was covered by a bony plate much like a crab's shell. Projecting from beneath the plate was a tail and a pair of jointed flippers much like the large claws of a crayfish.

Southeastern Group Counsel Predicts Breach in Case Railroads Win.

(Associated Press.)

A breach between the Interstate Commerce Commission and some of the States was predicted yesterday if the commission approves the 15 per cent freight rate increase asked by the railroads.

Charles E. Cotterill, of New York, representing the Southern Traffic League, told the commission he expected some State utility regulatory bodies to refuse to order a corresponding increase in intrastate rates.

In this case it would be within the power of the Federal commission to force intrastate increases. The law under which it operates authorizes it to order such changes if in its opinion existing intrastate rates are detrimental to interstate commerce.

Represents Southern States.

Cotterill, whose organization is composed of 350 firms in the ten Southeastern States, appeared before the commission after representatives of the lumber, lead and copper mining industries had opposed the increase.

The commission, Cotterill argued, should examine fully into management of the roads before making a decision under the "fair return" section of the interstate commerce act. This states that the roads are entitled to a "fair return" in proportion to the value of their equipment and property. The commission has set 5½ per cent as a "fair return."

The commission's inquiry in this connection, Cotterill said, should go fully into the question of whether the railroads are being economically and efficiently managed. Among the things he mentioned as needing investigation was whether the managements had fully considered the question of wages.

Questions Aimed at Wages.

The commission at the outset of the present case ruled it had no jurisdiction in the question of wages. Cotterill yesterday read from a decision of the commission in the rate reduction case to show that in that case the commission had considered wage questions.

"Before the carriers ask a rate increase they should exhaust all possible sources of relief," Cotterill said. "I am not taking the position, nor are any of my associates, that railroad wages should be reduced. But we do feel that railroad managements should be required to show that they have examined into the situation fully."

This statement brought a series of questions from the commissioners which ended when Commissioner Tate asked Cotterill if he did not feel that the commission had the power to consider wage scales in the light of a possibility that they might be extravagant. Cotterill said that was exactly the position he was taking.

Swedish Money Drops On Suspension of Gold

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Swedish krone's dollar value dropped nearly four cents in the foreign exchange market today as a result of the temporary suspension of the gold standard by that country. It fell to a new low for the year at 22.75 cents, against 26.65 cents on Saturday.

At the same time, Norwegian and Danish exchange improved their position against the dollar to the extent of a quarter of a cent. The Norwegian krone and the Danish krone which normally move in agreement, were quoted at 22.75 cents for cable transfers today. Denmark virtually went off the gold standard last week, following England.

Power Company Lists Deficit of $1,927,028

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—American & Foreign Power Co., Inc., today reported a deficit of $1,927,028, after allowances for dividends paid or unpaid on the second preferred stock for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931. This contrasts with net income of $4,500,355 available for the common in the corresponding period ended June 30, 1930.

Balance of subsidiaries' income applicable to the holding company was $29,359,062, against $29,199,861. After interest the amount available for the company's equity securities was $22,856,704, compared with $25,813,770.

There is no substitute for S.S.S.

Secure S.S.S. from your own druggist . . . with few exceptions druggists are ethical and conscientious, and will not offer a substitute.

No medicine has the same formula as this time-tested Blood Tonic * * * nor does any other concern gather the same roots with their own trained collectors and extract the active medicinal principles, unchanged, in their original fresh state—this is the secret of S.S.S. . . . there is no substitute.

S.S.S. restores the appetite and builds up the red-blood-cells

THOUSANDS of people have a low red-blood-cell count and don't recognize it.

Bodily vitality . . . the urge to be up and doing, depends upon the right number of red cells.

A low red-blood-cell count often exhibits itself in one or more of the following symptoms: — paleness, quick fatigue, lack of normal resistance to disease, pimples, boils, and general run-down condition.

A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health in various manifestations.

Take S.S.S. as a tonic and notice how much better you will "feel" . . . it has effect in aiding Nature to build red-blood-cells and creating an appetite for food. These two things working together aid the human body in its struggle for health and vitality.

S.S.S. has been time tested for generations . . . millions of people approve its value . . . it makes for better health and happiness.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today? Seldom will a dealer offer a substitute—in such cases insist on S.S.S. the original . . . in two sizes, large and small, the larger size is more economical.

PROBATE OF WENDEL WILL IS RESTRAINED

Mississippi Spinster Begins Fight for Vast Fortune in Federal Court.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—A battle for one of America's largest fortunes, built up by the eccentric Wendel family and kept intact by them for generations, was begun today by an aged spinster of Vicksburg, Miss., who had always earned her own living and now says she has no means of support.

The fight for the estimated $75,000,000 estate, left principally to charity by the last of the Wendels, was started when Arthur Garfield Hays and Samuel Untermyer, two of New York's most prominent lawyers, entered suit in the United States district court on behalf of Rosa Dew Stansbury, 74, to break the will of the late Miss Ella Wendel.

The probating of the will, which had been set earlier in the day for January 25, was enjoined when Federal Judge Julian W. Mack issued a restraining order.

Miss Stansbury, a relative in the fifth degree, already had signed a document consenting to the probate of the will, but in the action just started she claims her signature was "purchased" after a "conspiracy."

The aged Southerner charges undue influence and restraint were brought to bear upon Miss Wendel, who, the complaint says, was not capable of drawing up a will.

The suit recites that two of Miss Wendel's sisters, Augusta and Georgianna, died in an insane asylumm; that another sister, Rebecca Wendel Swope, was senile during her last years and that her two other sisters, Mary and Josephine, "were reputed to be queer and accentric."

Those accused in the suit of bringing "undue influence" to bear upon Miss Wendel are Charles G. Koss, her attorney; his daughter, Isabelle Koss, who received the largest individual bequest, and "other persons now unknown."

As the suit was being filed here, dispatches from New Orleans told how Charles Barbat, nephew of Miss Stansbury and a claimant to the estate himself, declared, as he prepared to take part in a $20 prize fight:

"If I got the money, the first thing I'd do would be to get the crystal in my watch fixed."

By NELSON B. BELL.

As biting a bit of satire as ever found its way to a Washington stage, last evening kept a representative Washington first-night audience in gales of laughter—gales which at times took on hurricane proportions. Certainly no theater ever celebrated the inauguration of a new season with more hilarity than attended last night's ceremony at the Shubert-Belasco.

It was no experimental enterprise in the playhouse with which those present found themselves confronted, but a tried and proved comedy that had survived one of the theater's most hazardous years on Broadway and after a fortnight's respite had come to Lafayette Square with its original cast and production intact—not always to its advantage insofar as the production was concerned, those 401 New York performances having left their marks.

However, that is a triviality. The play is the thing—the play and the manner of its enactment. Upton Sinclair in "The Jungle" never challenged the integrity of the meat packers, nor Ida M. Tarbell in her "History of the Standard Oil Co.," the methods by which a great fortune in petroleum was amassed with such acid sarcasm, such penetrating insight and such vivid humor as the Messrs. Hart and Kaufman have here employed to impugn the intelligence of the motion picture industry.

They have taken the advent of sound and dialogue to the screen as the basis of their play. It was this revolutionary development that afforded the three members of a small-time vaudeville team the chance that only comes "once in a lifetime." Almost penniless, they sold their act for car fare and hastened forthwith to the film colony to establish themselves as experts in voice culture and such other intricacies of audibility as might embarrass the screen player skilled only in the pantomimic art of silence.

On the Pullman, West Coast bound, they encounter an old trouper who has become the world's greatest writer of Hollywood movie chatter and enlist her aid in their scheme of teaching the talkies to talk. What happens after that may be safely recommended as a merely slightly exaggerated impression of what really goes on behind the scenes in the capital moviedom.

The dumbbell, the "dead-pan feeder" of the old act eventuates as the Colossus of the Celluloids. The two smart ones are tossed out on their ears. In between times crackingly humorous and not too gently burlesqued prototypes of all the familiar "big shots" of Hollywood are paraded in all their vainglorious and incompetent preenings and struttings through a series of events which result in the filming of the wrong picture—which turns out to be epochal, super, hyper, stupendous, colossal and all the other adjectives and prefixes familiar to those who have had traffic with the cinema.

The action is interspersed with a deal of ribaldry, considerable profanity and an abundance of innuendo, none of which gives offense in this day and age, although some of it should!

The cast of principals is beyond reproach. Hugh O'Connell, Jean Dixon and Grant Mills, in the pivotal roles give performances that have been rendered perfect by the long New York run. Mr. O'Connell is the mental nonentity who becomes a great executive; Miss Dixon, the girl who originated the idea of the school of elocution and then played the part of its chief instructress with an incisiveness that only another Rose Stahl could match.

Charles Halton, as Herman Glogauer, the producer, and Robert Barratt, as Lawrence Vail, the playwright, who had been on the lot for six months without an assignment, turn in high-power and hysterical portrayals. So do all the others to a total number of 39, as a matter of fact.

For a lively, keenly satirical and thoroughly amusing evening of expert theater, no discriminating amusement seeker can go wrong on this one. Manager L. Stoddard Taylor exercised sound judgement in lending it the added impetus of his strong personal indorsement.

NATIONAL

"PRIVATE LIVES." Arch Selwyn presents Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger in an intimate comedy in three acts by Noel Coward. Reviewed Monday night by Dorothea Lewis.

THE CAST

Sybil Chase.....Helen Gilligan
Elyot Chase.....Otto Kruger
Victor Prynne.....Hugh Huntley
Amanda Prynne.....Madge Kennedy
Louise (a maid).....Marjorie Clark

That betting game to the contrary, this is a case where two pairs equal a full house—an almost too full house when one pair is quite so furiously mad as Amanda and Elyot.

Noel Coward has penned a potent, saucy, frenziedly funny play which whizzes with all the speed and apparent lack of direction of a whirling dervish, yet it gets just where it should and sweeps the audience along most mirthfully.

Otto Kruger, a delicious, droll, lovable devil of an Elyot, and Madge Kennedy, lovely as the adorably naive sophisticate, Amanda, take the brilliant tip-toe dialogue of Coward and shimmer it into absolutely thrilling entertainment.

If you spend your first honeymoon at St. Moritz don't spend the second in France, for that's just what Amanda and Elyot did with explosive results. And in France, they had Sybil and Victor along, each very curious about just what went on at St. Moritz that first time when there were just Amanda and Elyot.

With insanity almost of the very same sort, and a terrified attraction each for the other to pull them together, and only a husband and wife and a wall to keep them apart, Coward's Amanda and Elyot do just what you would expect them to do. On to Paris for love making, flippant and natural and now and then appealingly serious, and paralyzing furies of boundless rage—interrupted by their peace-making catchword, Sollaacks.

Kruger is crisp and smooth. He never wastes a motion, yet his stage business and pantomime are as vital as his vigorous shadings of his lines. A thoroughly ingratiating performance of a thoroughly ingratiating troublemaker.

Madge Kennedy drawls her merriest moments and most poisoned satiric darts with a curious little, attractive, affected drawl that, after the first two lines or so, points both her own personality and that of Elyot. Vivid and unforgettable, she makes her Amanda with quick little inflections, rapid tempers, beautiful clothes and a lovely, lovely singing voice in a song of the versatile Mr. Coward's.

Helen Gilligan and Hugh Huntley, in the somewhat ungrateful parts of Sybil and Victor, fill in the quartet that crowds both France and Amanda's Parisian flat.

Incidentally, the first act set is unusually attractive, and all the second act set needs, considering the storm that is to come, is the sofa with its ends very far apart for their bad moments and the middle cosily close together for their good ones.

Miss Gilligan is very, very pretty and silly enough as Sybil, but in the first act, she reads her lines far too rapidly, snapping into Elyot as though to taste the last or next to the last of his syllables. No Sybil could think as fast as this Sybil talks. Hugh Huntley blusters convincingly as Victor and helps make conventionality unpleasant.

But it is on the much, much more than capable shoulders of Miss Kennedy and Mr. Kruger that Mr. Coward has laid his deft and delightful burden and how superlatively well they carry it! A second act, eons long in reading, becomes far too short. The naturalness of their interplay is to be particularly commended.

It's all quite breathless—but racing is so good for the mind.

GAYETY

If you like singing, dancing and pretty girls, Joe Levitt's presentation now playing at the Gayety, "Dixie Beauties," featuring Jack Hunt, Clyde Bates and Kitty Warren, with shapely Wanda DeVon as guest star, should please; for it abounds in excellent dancing and catchy music.

Wanda DeVon steals the show. Easy to look at and with a pleasing voice, this beautiful redhead was called back time and time again. Sharing honors were four attractive girls, Kitty Warren, Doris Sennett, Evelyn Burk and Margie Block. This quartet scores in a big way with many good numbers.

Having two comedians of the caliber of Hunt and Bates and with the support of Larry Amon and Eddie Innes, the fun end of the show should be much better than it is. The scenes "What Happened at the Ritz" and "We're in the Army Now" are good. Also, Bates made a hit as bartender in the cafe number. With these exceptions the comedy drags along without much punch.

Discovered at the amateur contest Friday night, Mike Casey was presented by Jimmy Lake in several songs and made a decided hit.

The ladies of the ensemble, eighteen well chosen damsels, presented their numbers in an approved manner. W. L. W.

German Exchanges Closed.

Berlin, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The boerse committee announced tonight that stock exchanges throughout Germany will remain closed until further notice.

The exchanges went out of operation last Monday as a result of the temporary suspension of the gold standard by Great Britain.

Another important financial action today was the appointment of Eugene Ernst, a member of the Prussian ministry of trade, to the post of federal commissioner of banks. Clothed with wide powers, he will have the duty of correcting tendencies toward credit crises, such as the emergency which developed last July, requiring a realignment of the nation's budget policies and drastic measures to "freeze" foreign investments in Germany.

The commissioner is empowered to collect accurate information about banking activities, although, it has been explained, no attempt will be made to intervene in the actual administration of banks unless an emergency develops. The commissioner will work in close cooperation with the reichsbank.

Warns Against Inflation.

Chancellor Heinrich Bruening warned the German Association of Savings banks today that the nation can not risk another period of inflation. The action of Britain in suspending the gold standard has made it more important than ever for the government to steer a steady financial course, he said, and he pledged the cabinet to stick to the program of deflation.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

PURSUANT to a thought that was somewhat sketchily dwelt upon in this department's Sabbath column, it is interesting to note in the September 26 issue of the Motion Picture Herald that Terry Ramsaye, one of the most erudite of the commentators upon the cinema, advocates the establishment of a motion picture museum to house such historic works, for example, as "The Squaw Man"—current in its latest form at the Palace—which in the course of its three picturizations is held to represent the finest exhibit extant of the amazing mechanical progress of film making during the past quarter-century.

To go a little deeper into detail than was done Sunday, "The Squaw Man" was first written by Edwin Milton Royle in 1904 as a one-act sketch, originally presented at a Lambs' Gambol in New York. A year later he made a full-length play of it, which opened in Toledo on October 11, 1905, and moved thence into Wallack's Theater, New York. It was in this company that William Faversham was star and William S. Hart, George Fawcett and the late Theodore Roberts—all subsequently notables of the celluloids—prominently assigned.

It was in 1913 that Cecil B. De Mille—Cecil B. De Mille, by the way, seems to have an exclusive franchise covering the direction of this subject, no matter when or by whom produced—and Jesse Lasky acquired the motion picture rights to the play for $5,000, for the first venture of the newly formed Lasky concern. Dustin Farnum was the star and cheated himself out of a fortune by preferring $5,000 in cash to a 25 per cent interest in the firm.

In 1917, with the progress of the art of the silent screen to encourage him, De Mille made "The Squaw Man" over again.

And now, as Mr. Ramsaye expresses it, "in the new world of the talking picture, 'The Squaw Man' is new once more."

It is worth while, I believe, to quote Mr. Ramsaye just a little further:

"The three motion picture versions, all made by the same man, the gifted Mr. De Mille, present to the serious student of the art of the motion picture an extraordinary opportunity to examine the development of technique on the screen, and most interestingly to observe how stage lines were converted into pantomime, how pantomime improved in a second version, and how, in turn, the greater scope of the talking screen has given to the picture as a drama of words and action a breadth beyond the power of the stage for which the story was primarily conceived. It should be the obligation of some custodian of the archives of the art to preserve copies of each version. Once again the importance of the early establishment of a motion picture museum is indicated."

Speaking of the Motion Picture Herald, in its issue of September 19, whose beaming face, wreathed handsomely in smiles, should shine out at you from the Managers' Round Table department but Orangelo Ratto's! Mr. Ratto, as of course you know, is manager of Loew's Palace, a composer and a piano accordionist of parts—all of which is duly noted by the Round Table.

Senorita Raquel Torres, the Hermosillo, Mexico, girl, who made good in the city and will appear next week at the Fox in an act that is reputed to be the last word in smartness and humor, will close her current vaudeville tour with the local engagement. It is my understanding that Senorita Torres, immediately upon the close of her week on F street, will entrain for New York, whence she will sail on the first outgoing liner for a vacation in Europe.

And who should have been up at the Press Club last Saturday in company with Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, but Jack Lait, one of the best known writing men in the game. Mr. Lait it was who wrote "Bad Company"—coming soon to RKO-Keith's—as a screen vehicle especially tailored to the talents of Helen Twelvetrees and Ricardo Cortez.

It is in this connection that Mr. Lait adheres to his customary practice of shattering precedent. He admits that "Bad Company" is an elegant picture and that the producers did NOT emasculate his story until it was unrecognizable. He insists, on the other hand, that they followed his ideas to the letter and made a better picture of it than he thought they could.

He must have another one to sell!

Hardie Meakin, since we are on the subject, is setting great store by his next attraction on Fifteenth street—Ann Harding in "Devotion," opening Friday. In point of appeal, personnel and all-around excellence, he brackets "Devotion" with "East Lynne," in which Miss Harding scored one of the most notable successes of her career.

When "Peter Flies High," the Myron C. Fagan comedy in which Leonard Bergman presented Glenn Hunter to open the season at the National a fortnight ago, inaugurates its second week in Philadelphia last night, it will be in the revised form evolved by Frank Craven, the famous actor-author-director, who was called in as consulting specialist last Wednesday.

When Earl Carroll's "Vanities"—eighth edition, not the ninth, now on Broadway—comes to town a fortnight hence, Washington will have its first Sunday night opening of the season, the good Dr. Carroll planning to burst all that beauty and pulchritude upon us the night of October 11.

And that reminds me. Two dancers, formerly of the "Vanities" and the Club Richman in New York, Fawn and Jardon, will inaugurate the formal season of fall and winter dinner and supper dance sessions at the Shoreham on Thursday evening, October 1, which is by way of being day after tomorrow.

The Columbia Players—and haven't a lot of items piled up over the week-end?—will hold their first meeting of the year at Wilson Teachers College tonight, when the program for the coming season will be discussed.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been selected for the annual melodrama, "They Knew What They Wanted" will probably be the first production, under the direction of Orris Holland, who was responsible for "Hell Bent for Heaven" last year. Nonmembers who are interested are welcome.

Tut, tut! It was only a week ago today you were kicking about a temperature of 101!

RECEIVER IS NAMED OF M'ADOO PROJECT

Former Treasury Secretary and Others Seek to Prevent Foreclosure.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Guaranty Trust Co. was appointed today equity receiver of a realty enterprise in which William Gibbs McAdoo, of Santa Barbara, Calif., former Secretary of the Treasury; Henry H. Cotton, of Los Angeles, and Joseph P. Day, New York realtor, were managers.

The enterprise involved the purchase and development of 789 acres in what is described as the Jamaica-Hillside section of Queens Borough. It was started on November 13, 1925, by Messrs. McAdoo, Cotton, Day and thirteen others, who contributed between them $900,000 to get the project under way.

The property was acquired from the J. A. Wigmore Land Co. for $5,000,000, of which $800,000 was paid in cash, and was made subject to an agreement to which the syndicate, the land company and the Guaranty Trust Co., as trustees, were parties.

The complaint, filed on behalf of McAdoo and associates, sets forth that to date $3,000,000 has been paid on account to the land company, and that although contracts which will yield an additional $750,000 are outstanding and the City of New York is obligated to purchase a "strip" for parkway purposes for $750,000, the land company is insisting upon immediate payment or foreclosure.

The complaint further states that Joseph P. Day, Inc., is negotiating to close sales which should bring $1,500,000 to the syndicate and that the land company, apparently intent on foreclosure, is throwing every possible obstacle in the way of the syndicate.

Federal Judge Julian W. Mack appointed the equity receiver.

The report will be presented by Max Rhoade, the only Washington resident to attend the congress.

Mr. Rhoade will tell about the stormy scenes which witnessed the retirement of Dr. Chain Weizmann, famed international leader of the Palestine movement. The speaker also will tell of some of his experiences on his European tour, which carried him to England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy.

Mrs. Dave Alpher, president of the local senior chapter of Hadassah, will call the meeting to order. A brief tribute will be paid to the memory of Mrs. I. Sakolski, veteran member of the organization who died during the summer. A musical program and a social hour also are on the program.

Fumes From Mash End Woman's Life

2 Men Overcome but Are Revived After Visit to Cellar of Home.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—A woman was killed and two men overcome last night by gas fumes rising from a quantity of mash beside a still in the cellar of a home near here.

The dead woman is Mrs. Meta L. Jones, 24, and those overcome, Stanley Jones, 22, a cousin, and Harold Ferguson, 16. The two young men had gone into the cellar to stir the mash and when they did not return the woman went to investigate.

The husband, returning home from an automobile trip, discovered the three unconscious forms in the cellar. The woman died a few minutes after being carried from the building but the young men quickly recovered. The coroner said gas fumes had caused the woman's death and gave a verdict of accidental death.

Bank Thief Gets Money Despite Tear Gas Fumes

Milltown, N. J., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—A robber today held up a clerk in the First National Bank and escaped with several packages of $20 bills, notwithstanding a flood of tear gas released by the cashier. The man thrust a revolver through the cage at Russell Grey, a teller, and said, "Stick 'em up. I want money."

Other employes heard the demand and fell to the floor as Grey pushed the packages to the robber. Edward Kuhlthau, the cashier, pressed the button of a tear gas system but the robber ran from the building to his automobile before the gas took effect.

Tellez's Successor Is Due in October

Dr. Jose Puig-Casaurane Given Approval by United States.

Mexico City, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The newspaper El Universal Grafico reported tonight that the American Government has pronounced Dr. Jose Manuel Puig-Casaurane persona grata, and that he is preparing to leave early in October to succeed Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez as Ambassador at Washington.

Ambassador Tellez was ordered by his government to return to Mexico City September 22, but the reasons for his instructions were not made known. It was reported he was to take over a high post in Mexico City.

His reported successor has served as secretary of education and secretary of industry, commerce and labor in the Mexican government.

Admiral Kelly New Head Of British Atlantic Fleet

London, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Admiral Sir John Kelly was named commander of the Atlantic fleet today, succeeding Admiral Sir Michael Hodges, who resigned due to illness.

First Lord of the Admiralty Sir Austen Chamberlain told the House of Commons that Sir Michael had asked to be relieved. The Atlantic fleet recently was paralyzed by "unrest" due to pay cuts. At that time Sir Michael was on sick leave.

Snow on Ground, Heat Forbidden in Moscow

Moscow, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The first snow of the winter fell today and householders in overcoats and galoshes found in the morning paper a decree forbidding all citizens to heat their homes without special authorization by the municipal government.

The decree is part of a campaign for economy of fuel because coal production is lagging far behind the five-year plan schedule.

STOCK PRICES DROP AGAIN UNDER SALES

Pressure Sends Some Issues to New Low Levels; Net Losses Are Light.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Handicapped by the tangled state of foreign currencies, stocks were unable to make much headway today, and declined in the last hour when selling was resumed on a moderate scale.

Although Wall street did not feel that the gold suspensions by Norway and Sweden would have direct repercussions in this country, selling of those countries' bonds, as well as fresh declines in many other foreign listings and U. S. Governments, proved distinctly unsettling.

Stocks ruled steady to firm in the morning, feeling their way upward behind the metal and railroad shares. The last hour or so, however, witnessed a resumption of pressure against the general list. Net losses ranged from 1 to 3 points for active issues, while the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite was depressed 1.8 to 83.4, a new bear market low. The turnover fell off to 1,487,050 shares, the smallest since September 10.

General Motors Decline.

General motors was especially soft, dipping more than a point to 26¼, a new minimum. Selling reflected uncertainty as to maintenance of the present dividend rate into next year. U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Chrysler, Paramount, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse and Bethlehem lost 1 to 1¾ net, while Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Atchison, Rock Island and National Biscuit were off in the vicinity of 2 points.

Kresge, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont and Procter & Gamble proved vulnerable and yielded 3 or more. Kresge slumped when support, which had been apparent all last week, was finally withdrawn. Coca Cola was again an air pocket, off 8. Metal shares, which had been up 1 to 2, forfeited their improvement. S. H. Kress, exceptionally strong, rallied almost a dozen points.

More Gold Withdrawn.

Withdrawal of $52,000,000 in gold, either for earmark or for immediate exportation, brings the yellow metal loss in less than a fortnight to roughly $240,000,000. One effect is apparent in the money markets where interest charges are stiffening. Some 90-day loans were said to have been negotiated at 2½ per cent.

Foreign exchanges were very excitable. Swedish, Dutch and Italian currencies touched new lows, although the guilder rallied. Bank of the Netherlands raised its rate from 2 per cent to 3 per cent, but it was denied that Holland intended to abandon the gold basis. The German mark and Norwegian krone on the other hand, firmed and sterling held above Saturday's close, finishing at $3.85¾, or near the top, for a net gain of nearly 5 cents.

Bankers point out that there would be no cause for alarm in a rather sizeable reduction in our enormous gold reserve. Further withdrawals, expected in many quarters, would have a firming influence on money but it would take heavy shipments even to threaten America's credit position. A reduction of the large French balances here is regarded as among the possibilities; $19,038,000 of the total withdrawn today goes to Paris.

Grains were slightly heavy, influenced largely by the weather. Wheat's losses were ½ to ¾; corn's about half cent. Cotton worked lower, closing to 12 points off.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Readjustments on a gold basis in various European countries put further weight on grain prices today, despite enlarged purchases of North American wheat for overseas. Sweden and Norway's abandonment of the gold standard was construed bearish. Late weakness of Wall street securities was also a disturbing factor.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜@¾ cents lower. Corn, ⅜@⅝ down. Oats, ¼@⅜ down, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

Instability of foreign exchange had an early bearish effect on wheat prices, and there was also notice taken that the official estimate of the Hungarian wheat crop was now 73,600,000 bushels, compared with previous estimates of 65,036,000. An additional handicap to bulls was a detailed report indicating that the average price of wheat last week at 500 shipping points in the United States was 37.1 cents a bushel, against 68 cents a year ago, and that in this exhibit the prices of hard winter wheat had been cut more than those of spring wheat or hard winter.

Rallies in wheat were weak-kneed, the worst quotations of the day were reached during the last half hour, simultaneous with fresh downturns in the New York stock market. The fact, too, that most of the North American wheat export business was in Canadian wheat, 1,800,000 bushels, compared with 250,000 bought by Europe from the United States, left an unfavorable impression. A decrease, however, of 1,506,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply weekly total afforded some comfort to bulls.

Independent weakness showed itself in the corn market owing to weather well adapted for field work. New crop deliveries of corn sold within a fraction of the season's low price record. Chicago receipts of corn continued liberal. Oats closed with corn and as a result of 856,000 bushels enlargement of the oats visible supply.

Provisions were irregular, lard selling down to the lowest level since 1899, but rallying later on account of buying for cash interests.

BOND PRICES LOWER IN HEAVY TURNOVER

Day's Sales $16,297,000 With Foreigns Leading General Decline.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The bond market was generally lower today on a heavy turnover in all classes of issues. Sales totaled $16,297,000 on the stock exchange, a total which was not the highest for a full session this year but which was higher than most others.

The news that Norway and Sweden had gone off the gold standard was not altogether unexpected, but the slump of both countries dropped sharply to new low prices. The same was true of Danish bonds. Swedish 5½s of 1954 dropped to a new low at 68 and closed with a net loss of 19¾ points, the largest individual decline of this group. Other losses among the foregoing issues were unusually wide, however.

Several German and Argentina loans moved contrary to the general trend.

The average price of twenty bonds each of industrial, public utility and railroad issues reached another new record low level at 84.8, a net loss of seven-tenths of a point for the day. Losses of 1 point were common throughout the domestic list and a number of them were much larger.

Sales of five bonds of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. exceeded $500,000; an unusually large turnover for them, and they closed with varying losses. Atchison general 4s dropped 1 point on heavy sales. All of these bonds are regarded as high grade. The downward movement was not confined to the more speculative issues.

Active bonds to lose 1 point or more included Canadian National 5s of October, 1969, Erie 5s of 1975, International Match 5s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, National Dairy Products 5½s and Pennsylvania series D 4½s.

Liquidating pressure continued to dominate United States Treasury and Liberty Bonds. Sales of this group exceeded $2,000,000. Almost all of them established new low levels for this year.

3 CARDINAL REGULARS INJURED AS SERIES NEARS

Adams, Martin May Play But Haines Is Definitely Out of This Year's Classic

Doctors Order Pair to Rest Due to Leg Injuries.

Cards Use American League Ball in Workout.

By EDWARD W. LEWIS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Two mainstays of the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant machine nursed injuries today as the National League champions began practice for the world series, which opens here Thursday.

Sparky Adams, diminutive third baseman, has a sprained ankle. Pepper Martin, center fielder, has a wrenched knee. Both players were ordered to rest by Dr. Robert Hyland, club doctor, in hope they might be in playing condition for the first game.

Coupled with this gloomy news for Cardinal fans was the the official admission, often rumored, that Jesse Haines, leading pitcher of the National League, appears definitely out of the series. Haines injured a shoulder muscle early in September. It has failed to respond to treatment.

Cards Lose Best Bet In Haines.

Loss of the veteran right-hander will rob Manager Gabby Street of possibly his best pitcher. Haines defeated Bob Grove last year, and in the last three world series in which the Cards have appeared, scored three victories to one defeat.

Street refused to admit that he had fallen back on Lanky Paul Derringer, recruit from Kentucky, as his choice for starting pitcher.

"I'll decide that question when I come to it—perhaps tomorrow," Street said.

Derringer, with eighteen victories in his first major league season, is considered in best form of any Red Bird pitchers at present. Burleigh Grimes and Bill Hallahan, the other two aces, have been hammered hard in late season games.

Today's practice was with the American League baseball. Watkins and Frisch slammed it for long blows. Frisch, although in uniform today, is another ailing player. He had a tooth pulled and complains of pains. Rumors that Frisch might be out of the series brought a laugh from the Fordham flash.

Victory Parade Lacks Enthusiasm.

Meanwhile the city started World Series Week with the usual fanfare. The first man was in line for a bleacher rush seat. Stickers with pictures of Red Birds on them were on thousands of motor cars. Hotels reported all rooms taken. The grafters were getting together their grandstand tickets and as usual reported "business poor." It will pick up before game time.

Tomorrow the National League champions will doff their hats to the home towners. Sylvester Johnson, the hard-luck pitcher of the club, was assigned car No. 13 in the parade. So was bill Hallahan, the only Card southpaw. Phlegmatic as usual, he said he was satisfied Johnson will try to hop a ride in another car. There will be ticker tape, toy balloons, six airplanes circling overhead, but the victory parade seems to have aroused little enthusiasm. The pennant had been in "the bag" too long.

Louisiana Calls Off Grid Trip to Mexico.

Alexandria, La., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Coach Henry Malden announced today that Louisiana College has canceled the football game scheduled for next Saturday at Mexico City with the National University of Mexico.

Inability of the two institutions to arrive at a satisfactory guarantee was given as the reason. He said it was possible the college and the Mexico university might arrive at a satisfactory agreement later in the season.

Argentine Poloists Bow to Templetons

Westbury, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 28 (A. P.).—Scoring three goals in a rousing last-period rally, Devereux Milburn's Templeton Polo Four defeated Lewis Lacey's Hurlingham Team from Buenos Aires, 10 to 8, in a semifinal match of the Monty Waterbury Cup tournament on International Field today.

The match terminated when there still was two and a half minutes to play in the final period. Lacey, leader of the South Americans, was struck squarely in the back of the head by a ball driven by his team mate, Cyril Harrison. He did not fall from his pony, but he was hurried to a hospital for an X-ray examination to determine the extent of his injury. There was no attempt to continue the contest.

Southern "Big Ten" Colleges to Organize

Atlanta, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The formation of a ten-team athletic association within the Southern Conference for 1932 seemed probable today with the announcement here that representatives of eight colleges would recommend such action to their faculty athletic committees.

The basis of the association would be uniform scholarship requirements. A statement said the new group was conceived because of a "feeling that the time has come when scholastic standards should be emphasized rather than technicalities in eligibility."

The proposed body, tentatively formed at a meeting here last night, would be limited to Southern Conference schools with the following eight as original members:

Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), Georgia School of Technology, the University of Georgia, the University of North Carolina, the University of Kentucky, Vanderbilt University and Tulane University.

Tentmaker Tailors Uniform for Tackle

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 28 (A. P.).—Omar, the tentmaker, is one fellow who doesn't pay any attention to depression.

He has just finished making a football uniform for Big Jack Torrence, 266-pound Louisiana State University linesman, and the task took many working hours.

His apprentice worked on a suit for Capt. Ed Khoury, also a tackle. But Ed is a little fellow—weighing only 218 pounds.

Phillies Rout Macks, 5-0, as Klein Stars

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—The Phillies, who could finish no better than sixth in the National League race, defeated the world champion Athletics, 5 to 0, in a charity game here today.

It was the Athletics' last appearance here until they return from St. Louis next Monday for the third game of the world series.

Phil Collins and Clise Dudley held the Athletics to three hits. Collins began the pitching assignment and allowed one hit in four innings. One of the two hits off Dudley came in the ninth inning.

Chuck Klein, slugging Philly outfielder, was the offensive star of the game. Klein hit two home runs, each coming with a man on base. He accounted for his team's other run when he scored Dudley with a long fly in the final inning.

Hoyt and Mahaffey pitched for the losers.

Some 4,000 fans paid $8,529.50 to see the game.

Cards Have None to Compare With Ace of Mackmen.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Taken as a group, the Philadelphia Athletics do not have the greatest outfield in the world, but Al Simmons, the "big punch," himself, plays left field for the American League representatives.

The St. Louis Cardinals boast a fine, well-rounded corps of flychasers, but there is no Al Simmons in the lot. Charles "Chick" Hafey, the National League's outstanding slugger, is the closest approach. For the purposes of a short series, in which the championship might ride on a single batted ball, the Athletics hold the aces.

Simmons Likely to Break Up Any Game.

Simmons, who has amassed a .390 average this season to lead the American League for the second straight time, is likely to break up a ball game any time he goes to bat. The pitchers insist he has no weakness. This year he has made 72 extra-base hits, including 22 home runs, and has driven in 125 runs.

Roaming the Athletic gardens with the volatile Al are two veteran teammates, George "Mule" Haas in centerfield and Edmund "Bing" Miller in right. Neither is a star of the first magnitude, but each is capable and both have been through the world series mill for two years. Although he has been handicapped by an injured wrist for the last month and been forced to let young Roger Cramer fill in for him, Haas finished with an average of .326 and had 44 extra-base knocks. Miller, the weakest hitter of the trio, posted a .281 mark.

Cramer or Moore Not in Class Of Haas.

Conceding Simmons an advantage over Hafey, bespectacled star of the Cardinals, Haas also appears to rate an edge over Pepper Martin, the rookie sensation who opposes him in center. That is, providing the "Mule" has rounded into top shape for the big series. If he has not, the Athletics will find themselves seriously outnumbered in that position.

Neither Cramer nor Jim Moore, Connie Mack's best available substitutes, can hold a candle to Martin, who has hit at a .298 clip his first year in the majors. If Martin is unable to play because of his injured leg, wrenched Saturday, Sergeant Street has two capable substitutes in Wally Roettger, .318, and Ernest Orsatti, .295.

The confident youngster, who this time a year ago was playing with Rochester, is the only new face in either outfield. He is not so accomplished a ball hawk as Haas, but he partly makes up for it in pepper and hustle. He was good enough to win a regular berth this year over Taylor Douthit, one of the smartest outfielders in the business. Whatever he does against Athletic pitching should be an improvement over Douthit's record in the 1930 series—two hits in six games. Haas, for that matter, made only two hits in the last series.

Roettger, Blades Available Against Mack Southpaw.

In George Watkins, the Cards have a right fielder who is at least a standoff for Miller. His fielding average does not compare with Bing's .990, the highest of any fly chaser on either club, but Watkins has proved himself slightly the better hitter over the season, with a mark of .285.

If Street desires to make a shift against the Athletics' crack southpaws, Grove and Walberg, he has a couple of fine replacements in Roettger and Ray Blades, both right-hand hitters. Blades, the club's leading hitter last year, only hit .284 this season, but he is a capable fly hawk.

Of the five regular Gardeners who are facing each other for the second straight year, Simmons has proved by far the greatest "money" player. He hit for a noble .364 average in the 1930 classic, while Hafey posted a respectable .273, Watkins .167, Miller .143 and Haas .111.

Some smart baseball men expect Martin, if he plays, to prove the individual hero of ths approaching series. He has never encountered either Lefty Grove or George Earnshaw, and is blissfully confident he can murder anything they toss at him. He might do it, but until he does the great majority of the fans will look to Simmons for the main fireworks.

Maureen Orcutt Canada Medalist

Defending Champion's 80 Leads Mrs. Stirling by 1 Stroke.

Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, of Ottowa, former American champion, finished one stroke behind Miss Orcutt, with Miss Marjorie Kirkham, of Montreal, Canadian closed champion; Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, and Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, bunched behind with 83s. Enid Wilson, British champion, took an 84 as did Marjorie Kerr, also of Great Britain.

The tournament was robbed of some of its color by the withdrawal of Miss Helen Hicks, United States champion, and Mrs. Glenna Collet Vare, who lost to Miss Hicks in the final round of the title play in Buffalo last week.

Toronto, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Headed by Miss Maureen Orcutt, the defending champion, 16 United States women golfers qualified among the 32 today for the match play of the Canadian ladies' open golf championship. Fourteen Canadians and two British players complete the field. Miss Orcutt led the field with an 80.

A's Deputy Outfielders, Cramer and Moore, Handy Players to Have Around

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—It isn't likely that Jim Moore or Roger Cramer will be asked to do anything brave in the world series, because these boys are deputy outfielders, and Connie Mack's three habituals, Simmons, Miller and Haas, are now in good enough repair to handle the work, barring mishaps. Still, Haas has been gentling a sprung tendon, Simmons has a recurrent stringhalt and Miller has been known to come down of the misery from time to time. So just in case there is some extra work to be done out there, it will further one's appreciation of the case to know a few odds and ends about Moore and Cramer.

Moore is out of Texas. He is tall, and there is a lot of man in any suit of clothes he happens to be wearing. He is strung together along symmetrical lines, which a tailor would call a figure, so he doesn't lump up before the eye in the rugged mass of a Hack Wilson or a Lou Gehrig.

The young man, himself by no means insensible of his own grace and charm, adorns his stature with stylish checks and stripes, set off by daring effects in shoes and hats and sometimes spats. He has been known to carry a walking cane. In the beauty contest he might win the title of Mr. America, for he carries around the biggest trunkful of duffle ever maintained by a ball player on the road, and not even Johnny Farrell, the clothesHorse of the golf tournaments, can out-gaudy him, now that he is earning major league wages.

When Hollywood Moore, as the athletes call him, comes out of the yard on a Ladies' Day the sighs of the girls around the players' door would blow his hat across the street but for the fact that he always comes out bowing, with his hat in hand, not only to save his hat but to catch the sun glint on his curls.

He is very pretty, indeed, and, moreover, if it matters, when Connie wishes him to go out and play a mess of ball in place of some ailing outfielder, Jim Moore can go out and play him a very handsome mess of ball.

He is a good hitter, and while it seems plain that he hasn't been a star fielder up to now, else he wouldn't be a substitute, still, he can catch a fly ball when one comes his way and throw as far and straight

Barry Wins Over Wine At Fort

2,500 See Capital Boy's Speed Gain Decision.

Irving Stops Pollock; Vance, Eschinger Triumph.

By JACK ESPEY.

HIS padded fists popping faster than machine gun bullets though much less forcibly, Reds Barry tried to play the leather lullaby for Frankie Wine in Fort Washington's ring last night, but they parted company with Frankie still wide awake and the redhead merely a winner on decision for lack of a kick in his act. Twenty-five hundred pairs of ears nestling in top-coat collars heard Announcer Jimmy Lake bawl: "Unanimous—Barry."

Once again Barry's fistic flurries failed to damage his opponent, but his speed and general boxing ability was all that could be asked of an 18-year-old heavyweight. There was no sparkle whatsoever in Wine, who had been touted to the skies as the conqueror of Kayo Christner and others far out of Barry's class.

It was rat-a-tat-tat for all eight rounds, Barry's left and right connected flush on Wine's broad face and had the Barberton (Ohio) boy failed to force the fighting, the judges would have had to dig up a better name than unanimous for the verdict.

Wine Forced to Chase Barry.

Wine did make the fight, following Reds for miles around the ring, but as the local lad backed off with fancy footwork he managed somehow to land a punch. Reds tossed fists from all angles, straight, side-armed and a la Ad Liska. Sometimes he wound up before cutting loose, but Wine never gave up the pursuit.

Wine's chief stock in trade was a vicious, though not accurate, left hook. He missed badly more often than he struck home, while his right was good for only one effective blow during the entire bout.

In the third round Wine caught Reds with a right to the head which forced the Capital youngster to clinch for safety, this punch earning the visitor a decisive victory for that round.

The Washingon Post scoresheet gave Barry every round but the third and the first when Wine's aggressiveness alone was sufficient to win the edge. Toward the close Barry began to slow up and hold but he scored the few clean blows in evidence.

Preliminaries Steal Show.

Preliminary bouts stole the show with two knockouts spread among six matches. Henry Irving, who has the wallop Barry would love to own, knocked out Jack Pollock after 2 minutes 20 seconds for the second round in the scheduled six-round semifinal. A pile-driving right on the chin that followed a body-bending left hook to the stomach finished Pollock and gave Irving sweet revenge for the only loss he has sustained since joining the professionals. It was Henry's sixth knockout in seven fights. The weights were Irving, 161; Pollock, 169.

The other knockout was scored by Soldier Smith, Fort Washington lightweight, whose victim was Soldier Sagon, also of the fort. Smith landed the sleep-producer 45 seconds after the opening bell.

They tossed Jumbo Eggleston in with Frankie Vance and the former surprised by staying the 4-round limit though Vance was the victor by several county blocks. Jumbo was in his prime when Fort Washington was a single sentry. Soldier Clark, of the fort, drew with Jack Cody, Fort Myer, in six rounds of slugging, while in the other bouts Willie Eschinger, this city, outpointed Soldier Shasburger, and Benny Toothman, Baltimore, defeated Joe Piscatelli, Fort Myer, on decision.

Hafey Is St. Louis' Chief Threat; Martin May Be Hero.

Septic Poisoning Lays Schaaf Low

Boxer, in Boston Hospital, May Postpone Bout With Dorval.

Boston, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, fourth ranking heavyweight boxer, was at St. Elizabeths Hospital tonight under treatment for septic poisoning of his left forearm.

Hospital authorities said his condition was "good" and anticipated no operation.

The infection was received while training for his recent Chicago bout with Tuffy Griffiths, which Schaaf won by decision, his first failure to knock out an opponent in eight starts.

It was expected his bout with Napoleon Jack Dorval, scheduled for October 6 at Boston Garden, would be postponed.

BAN TULANE GRIDMAN.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the Southern Conference, meeting here today, ruled that Jack Wilson, of Tulane University, is ineligible for participation in football games this year.

It was found he was graduated from a senior college in California. He and Tulane authorities had believed the California school was only a junior college and, therefore, he had been regarded as eligible.

Pitt Squad in Shape for Iowa Saturday.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The University of Pittsburgh Football squad emerge from the Miami game Saturday without an injury and was put through a stiff workout today. The Panthers meet the University of Iowa, at Iowa City this Saturday.

Stribling to Oppose Peterson October 27

Atlanta, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—W. L. Stribling, who lost a chance at the world's heavyweight crown with his defeat by Max Schmeling in Cleveland last July, will fight again October 27.

"Pa" Stribling, his father and manager, announced today W. L. has been matched for a bout with "Big Boy" Peterson in New Orleans on that date.

Stribling has been in retirement since the Schmeling triumph.

PENNANTS PRACTICE.

The Petworth Pennants will practice tomorrow night at the Iowa Avenue Playgrounds, and would like to arrange a Sunday game with a good 150-pound team.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Mr. John Heydler,
President National Baseball League,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Heydler:

I see by the papers that the world series is coming on again and that next Thursday your St. Louis boys who have won the championship of your league will meet the Athletics in the first game of the 1931 baseball classic.

It seems to me, Mr. Heydler, that your National League ought to begin to show some consternation, or at least concern, over the trend of the world series games in recent years. If I remember rightly, the boys in your league haven't won a world series since 1926 when the Cardinals beat the Yankees in seven games. As a matter of fact, I might even venture that your champions have won only three of the nineteen games which have been played in the world series since 1927.

Do I have to remind you, Mr. Heydler, that in 1927 the Yankees of the American League smeared four straight defeats on your Pittsburgh Pirates and the next season came right back to plaster four straight on your St. Louis Cardinals. There was slight improvement in 1929 when your Chicago Cubs managed to win one of the five games from the Athletics and last year your Cardinals were able to win two from the same Athletics while absorbing the customary four beatings that are required to decide the series against the National League champions.

Now, it would be too bad, Mr. Heydler, if the impression became widespread that the National League is just a minor league compared to the American. That would mean that your league would be subject to draft, and all of that. But the situation in your league is rapidly becoming no better and if you are to retain its status as a major league, I respectfully suggest that you find ways and means of winning a world series some time soon.

I know it must be galling to you to encounter your American League brethren in the annual joint meeting of the big league magnates and witness the patronizing air with which the American Leaguers treat you National League folks. But, Mr. Heydler, you can't blame them for feeling slightly puffed up over the success of their champions.

I don't say your boys don't play good ball in the National League but they don't seem to stack up to the American Leaguers in the world series. They say you can't judge on a short series just how good the champions of the two leagues are, comparatively, but sixteen defeats in the last nineteen games for the National League champions ought to prove something. Or maybe I'm wrong.

It seems to me, Mr. Heydler, that if it isn't one thing that beats the National League champions in the world series, it's another. Now back in 1927 and 1928, the National League champions met up with guys like Ruth and Gehrig who offset everything that the Yankee pitchers lacked. And in 1929 and 1930, your champions didn't have Ruth and Gehrig to contend with, so Connie Mack introduced the National League to Howard Ehmke, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, the likes of which your boys hadn't seen before.

Each year in the pre-world series dope, your champions stack up great with the American League champions on paper, but then the teams go out and play the games on grass and your boys don't seem to do so well. It seems, too, that every year, the National League champions have the real speed boys of baseball on their club. Fellows like Hazen Cuyler, Frankie Frisch, the Waner boye, Chick Hafey, Charley Galbert, Taylor Douthit and other fast steppers that make the American Leaguers look like a traffic jam. But you can't steal first base. They discovered that years ago.

I don't know, Mr. Heydler, that all this history isn't very encouraging. But I do want to be a help. You see, I don't want your boys to go into the series overconfident.

YOURS TRULY.

New Kenwood Holes Ready for Open Event.

Sweeping changes in the course at Kenwood Country Club, scene of the National Capital open, starting November 7, were announced yesterday. The nine new holes, which open Thursday, will encompass 25 new traps; while changes will be in effect on the regular nine.

The order of the open was changed slightly yesterday by the committee in charge, which ruled that the first day of play would be given over to 18-hole qualifying play. The first 60 qualifiers will play 36 holes on the following day, instead of the 18 originally planned.

The nine new holes at Kenwood will be opened Thursday by an exhibition foursome in which Virginia Williams, club champion, and Al Houghton, Kenwood pro, will meet Betty Meckley, District champion, and George Diffenbaugh, assistant pro at Indian Spring. The match will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Houghton spoke over WOL last night on Tom Creavy, the new P. G. A. champion, and other golfing topics.

Hawthorne's Gold Cup Sought by Sun Beau

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Thirteen of the fleetest stake horses of the Nation today were nominated for the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup event to be decided October 8. Included among them were the "big three" of American turf—Twenty Grand, Sun Beau and Mate.

The others nominated for the dash over a mile and a quarter were Mowris, Spinach, Brown Wisdom, Jim Dandy, St. Brideaux, Kai Feng, Fluck Play, Chief John, My Dandy and Mike Hall.

Sun Beau, record money winner of turf, arrived at Hawthorne today with five other bearers of the Willis Sharpe Kilmer colors. A. C. Bostick, owner of Mate, wired that he would ship his star some time during the latter part of the week.

Vines Adds Another Net Title While Celebrating 20th Birthday

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, king pin of American tennis, won his twelfth 1931 doubles title today, teaming with Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, to achieve his second Pacific Southwest tournament crown. Vines and Gledhill turned in a startling victory over the national doubles champions, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, 6—4, 6—4, 7—5. It came as a well-earned birthday gift to Vines, for today the national singles king turned 20.

With one more tournament to go, Vines has already set an unparalleled United States season record. Yesterday he successfully defended his Pacific Southwest singles title by defeating Fred Perry, of England, thus increasing his singles championships to thirteen.

He plans to leave here Wednesday night to participate in the Pacific Coast championships at San Francisco, playing in both the doubles and singles.

Fan Sits 80 Hours to Buy Ticket To Series and Win Bet of $200

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28 (U.P.).—After 80 hours more of sitting on a folding chair in front of Sportsmen's Park ticket office, Horace Espaugh, "baseball fan as is a baseball fan," will buy the first bleacher seat for the first world series game.

He already has a ticket in the grandstand, but by purchasing the first bleacher seat he hopes to win $200 from a friend who bet him he couldn't do it. And $200 is a lot of money to Horace, because he hasn't had a job since he was a hotel clerk in Horton, Kans., many months ago.

So Horace squirmed on his seat tonight, because it was hard. He covered himself with a blanket and a raincoat because it was cold. He hired an urchin to bring him a can of hot water and shaved himself with a razor he had in his hip pocket because a news photographer asked him to.

"Anything to oblige," said Horace, "except get off this chair. I need that $200."

WHITE CLOVER II SCORES BY HEAD IN FEATURE AT HAVRE

Morsel Loses In Stretch Drive

Coltiletti Overcomes Poor Getaway With the Winner.

Your Flag Winner by Head Over Tantalizing in Sixth.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 28.—That old saying, "class will tell," was amply demonstrated this afternoon before 8,000 spectators when the Foxcatcher Farm's White Clover II, after being left at the post, came from far back to win the Federal Hill, the day's mile-and-one-sixteenth feature.

When Starter Milton allowed Fortunate Youth, Morsel, Nostaw and Esear to go off running with White Clover II standing in the stalls, the crowd gave vent to its feelings by booing and jeering.

Coltiletti, who was astride White Clover II, the favorite, went after his field and gradually picked it up. He was second to Morsel, the pacemaker, turning for home and in a spectacular whipping finish got up in the closing stride to win from Morsel. Nostaw outgamed Fortunate Youth for third money.

Your Flag Wins Fifth By Head.

D. C. Harrison's Your Flag raced a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48 3-5 to win the fifth by a head from Tantalizing with Trice heading the other nine starters.

Sand Bell set the pace for three quarters where Your Flag took command. She had to be hard urged through the stretch to outlast the fast closing Tantalizing.

Basil Hall claimed Sand Bell out of the fifth race for $1,500.

Nick Tromberio, of Baltimore, who broke his maiden on Noras Grace, one that paid $135 at Timonium, scored another win in the mile and one-sixteenth of the sixth when he drove J. R. Leslie's Peach Basket home ahead of Bubola, the odds-on favorite, with Voltabush third.

Tromberio took Peach Basket to the top at the rise of the barrier and she led every step of the journey to pay $18.70.

Trainer Willie Knapp, who has been laying low with Mrs. John D. Hertz's horses, came to life in the six furlongs of the third when Outbound, 3-year-old bay son of Luke McLuke and Inbound, raced six furlongs in 1:13 to win handily from Phillip, the favorite, with Suneros, third.

Phillip broke on top but Steffen sent Outbound up fast and took the lead after an eighth of a mile. Once on top Steffen kept Outbound to his task and the colt showed plenty of gameness by holding his lead the rest of the way home.

Line of Fire Finds Hole to Cop Second.

S. Ryan's Line of Fire found an opening turning for home in the six furlongs of the second and got up in time to win from Night Vintage, a field horse, with Donna Dear heading the other nine starters.

Watermark and Annie A. outran the field from the break, but at the stretch turn they swung wide and the gap proved very inviting to Georgie Fields, who shot through with Line of Fire. The ground thus saved enabled the 2-year-old chestnut gelded son of By Hisself and Anna Mac to win.

Maxie Hirsch turned a good thing loose in the day's six-furlong opener when he sent the Loma Stable's On Post to the barrier.

Pete Walls waited back of the pace until the stretch turn when he let On Post down. The bay son of On Watch and Kippy soon raced to the front to win in hand from Porgie, with Lad Field next in line.

Mrs. H. Payne's 6-year-old gelding, Strongheart, was forced to come strong in the final furlong by Harrisil, after having raced under restraint in the early going, to win the seventh race of one and one-quarter miles. P. Remillard rode the winner, which paid $6.30 in the $2 mutuels.

Remillard held Strongheart back until midway of the backstretch and then drew him clear to take the lead away from Manzana, which eventually gave up. Harrisil, under good handling by E. Smith, then emerged from tight quarters on the rail and rushed forward to battle it out with Strongheart in the final 220 yards. The winner showed gameness in staving off this challenge.

Daddy Nelson was always a factor, but hung in the stretch to finish third, ahead of Abeth.

—Havre de Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 28.—The Middle Classes Handicap, a gallop at a mile and sixteenth, to be run as the fourth race, will feature an evenly balanced program of seven events here tomorrow. Unless rain falls in the meantime, the various contests will be run over a lightning-fast track.

Mrs. K. E. Hitt's SUNVIR, which defeated Blind Lane, an easy winner last Thursday, dopes best in the Middle Classes despite the fact he will be the high weight under 126 pounds. Every horse in the race, with the exception of ALDERSHOT, takes on about equal weights over their last races, so we are not going to worry about SUNVIR'S package.

Sun Briar's son is very good right now and if anything beats him it will be poor racing luck. SIDNEY GRANT may be the runner-up. This fellow showed improvement his last out. MERIDIAN QUEEN went fairly well in a fast sprint race last week. That was in the way of a conditioner for a longer test. The race did her no harm. She was second to Fortunate Youth in the final handicap at Marlboro. MERIDIAN QUEEN beat ALDERSHOT in Canada last summer.

FIRST RACE — POLYCRON and CONSUMMATION, both from good stables, are hard to separate in the initial event. POLYCRON turned in a good race back of Stimulator and Wayden at Saratoga on August 24 and then came back with a poor effort a few days later. He broke very slowly in the latter contest. CONSUMMATION had a light campaign last summer. He is said to be fresh and good. ROYAL AL was well supported to beat mediocre platers his last start in New York.

SECOND RACE—Trainer Buddie Stotler has dropped THE HEATHEN down a few pegs. Taking a line through Phillip and Aldershot, Donnacona's son should score in the second. THE HEATHEN beat Aldershot last Tuesday and the latter came back a few days later to score an easy victory. DUNLIN'S LAD has turned in several good trials during the past week. He's in good hands. HACKY H. hasn't been to the post for some time, but the clockers say he is dead fit. BACCIOCCO will be dangerous if he gets off the also eligible list.

THIRD RACE—SEVEN VEILS needs only to repeat her Tom Boy Handicap race to score in the Gadabout Purse. The daughter of Luke McLuke stepped 6½ furlongs in 1:20 flat to win the Tom Boy and she was only galloping at the end. GENERAL ADVANCE will be the runner-up if she is up to a good race. DELICACY was injured while in the paddock here last week. She has fully recovered from the mishap, according to those close to the Greentree Stable. DELICACY ran a few good races in New York last summer.

FIFTH — SQUEEZE PLAY had Mouthpiece extended to beat him last Wednesday. The son of Mad Play apparently is at the top of his best form and needs only to repeat that last race to win the fifth. FERVID was soundly beaten by Mouthpiece and SQUEEZE PLAY, but that was his first start for some time, and he might have been short. ARRAS is a money possibility.

SIXTH—FOURTH WARD is taken to beat the cheap field of platers named to go in the sixth. The Lucky Hour gelding broke very slowly last Tuesday and was a fast-going third in a twelve-horse field. If hustled away from the gate he may get up this time. VOWED VENGEANCE and DANISH PRINCE are both possessed of good early speed. VOWED VENGEANCE figures to hang on the longer.

SEVENTH—The nightcap is an extremely open race. A mile and a furlong seems a long way for CROSSBONES, but he received a good conditioner for just such a contest last Thursday. BARITONE and STAR LASSIE beat CROSSBONES. STAR LASSIE came back to be an easy winner Saturday. FAIRDALE has won two straight, and he is again well placed. ALL BLUE may break into the picture.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ON POST, $7.60, $6.10, $4.70; PORGIE, $6.30, $4.30; LADFIELD, $4.80.

ON POST, rushed hard in the opening furlong, was taken in hand when reaching a contending position, moved into the lead without effort when straightened into the home stretch and finished with speed in reserve. PORGIE forced a steady early pace, made repeated challenges and held on well. LADFIELD displayed good speed, saved ground, but faltered in the final drive. KLIPDRIFT, slow to get going, circled his field and closed gamely. BYZANTINE lacked early speed and was unable to make up any ground in the final stages. INGLENOOK weakened after going forwardly in the early stages.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:48. Off at 2:52. Winner, S. Ryans ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LINE OF FIRE, $3.90, $3.10, $2.70; NIGHT VINTAGE (Field), $4.00; DONNA DEAR, $9.20.

LINE OF FIRE, away in the first flight and following in close attendance of the leaders, slipped through on the inside when making his final effort, came determinedly to shake off NIGHT VINTAGE and was gradually drawing clear. NIGHT VINTAGE, steadied well up in early contention, made a stout effort when straightened into the home stretch, but could not withstand the winner's drive after moving a bit head. DONNA DEAR, slow to find her stride, closed stoutly. LOUIS MERRYMAN finished gamely. ANNE A. and WATERMARK were used up setting the early pace. WILDER almost fell when leaving the back stretch. HOT SCOTCH had a rough trip.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:22. Off at 3:25. Winner, Mrs. J. D. Hertz's b. c. (3), by Luke McLuke—In Bounds. Trained by W. Knapp. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OUTBOUND, $6.80, $3.00, $2.60; PHILLIP, $2.50, $2.30; SUNEROS, $3.10.

OUTBOUND, quick to get going and displaying good speed, drew clear after the opening furlong, saved a lot of ground throughout and held on stoutly when placed to punishment nearing the finish. PHILLIP, a stout factor from the start, lost ground entering the home stretch but came willingly on gradually and improved his position gamely after three furlongs. PORTCODINE weakened when the real test came. MUD went evenly. INDIAN CHIEF and FLYING MAX were worked out a mile.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,600; allowances. The Federal Hill. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls for all but White Clover II. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:55½. Winner, Foxcatcher Farm's ch. c. (5), by Simon Pure—Lovely Cloverly. Trained by P. M. Burch. Value to winner, $1,125; second, $275; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25, 0:49 3-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:40 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WHITE CLOVER II, $4.80, $2.60, $2.40; MORSEL, $3.00, $2.90; NOSTAW, $6.70.

WHITE CLOVER II, unprepared for the start, was whipped by his rider to reach his company, went along under steadying restraint until settled in his stride, came to the outside for the final drive and, finishing courageously, wore MORSEL down in the final stride. MORSEL, slightly interfered with at the start, responded to a stout drive by Steffen and, taking command midway of the far turn, saved ground when in command, but could not resist the winners final bid. NOSTAW, a keen factor throughout, weakened in the stretch run. FORTUNATE YOUTH was reserved until challenged, but was unable to stay when called on. ESSARE had no excuses.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:25½. Winner, D. C. Harrison's ch. f. (3), by American Flag—Ring Tale. Trained by D. C. Harrison. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:15, 1:42, 1:48 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—YOUR FLAG, $6.70, $3.70, $3.50; TANTALIZING, $5.80, $4.70; TRICE, $5.60.

YOUR FLAG, reserved within striking distance of the pacemaker, moved up stoutly when entering the homestretch, disposed of SAND BELL, but had to be vigorously urged to stall off TANTALIZING. Latter, in hand for six furlongs, was rounded when moving to the leaders in the final half mile and finished under weak handling. TRICE continued with good courage while saving ground all the way. DEA closed fast. SAND BELL had too much taken out of him when rushed hard early, and had nothing left when challenged.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 5:01. Winner, P. R. Leslie's ch. c. (3), by My Play—Step Daughter II. Trained by L. M. Carver. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:49, 1:15, 1:41 3-5, 1:48 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PEACH BASKET, $17.70, $4.10, $3.10; BUBOLA, $2.50, $2.30; VOLTABUSH, $4.00.

PEACH BASKET outran her field and displayed good speed to move clear at once. She was rated along and held BUBOLA safe under slight urging. BUBOLA, hurried into early contention, went along under slight pressure early and finished gamely for the final test. VOLTABUSH, ridden stoutly from the start, swung wide into the home stretch, but closed willingly. ORADISET faltered after seven furlongs. GAY WIDOWER was in-hand safe. The others had no excuses.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:30. Off at 5:31. Winner, Mrs. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—STRONGHEART, $8.30, $4.60, $3.70; HARRISIL, $12.70, $6.90; DADDY NELSON, $3.60.

STRONGHEART, taken under stiff restraint until midway of the back stretch, drew clear but was forced to a stout drive in the final furlong. HARRISIL, a keen factor from the start, was in close quarters on the inner rail until straightened into the home stretch. He finished with excellent courage. DADDY NELSON reached contention while under restraint, but hung during the final drive. ABETH went well and had no mishaps. JUDGE CAVERLY weakened when put to a drive. MANZANA quit.

G. P. O. NINE WINS WEEK-DAY SERIES TITLE

Typos Defeat Commerce By 6-3

Corkins Yields Five Hits; 3,500 See Final Game.

Ben Schneider Tops Winning Attack With 4 Hits.

THE long arm of Old Man Surprise, who has been ruling the Week-Day League series since the start of the games two weeks ago, reached into the diamond doings on the Ellipse yesterday and boosted Government Printing Office into the championship, and at the same time shunted Commerce down into second place on the short end of a 6-to-3 score.

Thirty-five hundred fans saw Frank Corkins fling a masterful game of ball, allowing the big bats of the Commerce sluggers only five clean connections with the horsehide, while the G. P. O. men behind him found the combined pitching efforts of John Kearney and "Shout" Taylor for the sum of nine hits, including three doubles.

G. P. O. Leads From Start.

G. P. O. went into the lead from the start and hung there to the finish. Gartland, shortstop, singled Homan home, but saw Commerce even the count in their section of the opening inning when Povich singled, was moved to second on Shapiro's sacrifice, went to third on an infield out and scored on Hessler's infield hit.

G. P. O. scored again in the second and tied the game up in the fourth and fifth with four runs, two of them rammed across the plate through the stick work of B. Schneider, whose four hits out of four times at bat all but accounted for the difference between the two teams.

It was a heavy blow for Commerce, which had the championship apparently locked up tight last week, and needed only a win over Eldbrooke M. E. last week to reap the award attendant to the title. But Eldbrooke turned in a series' greatest upset by downing the "sure winners," a defeat which put G. P. O. back in the running.

In the playoff for the title G. P. O. won the first game, 5 to 1, and dropped the second, 3 to 0.

Hitting The Head Pin

NUMBERING in its ranks many of the leading fraternal orders of the city, the Civic Clubs Bowling League will tee off tomorrow night at the Arcadia for the start of what promises to be a banner season. Formed in 1929, with eight clubs, the loop now has ten, a 27-week schedule, and this year will be guided by John H. Shreve, of the Rotary Club and Raymond Gatlin, of the Optimist Club.

The teams concerned are the Civitan Club, Cosmopolitan Club, Kiwannis Club, Lions Club, Monarch Club, Newcomers Club, Optimist Club, Rotary Club, Round Table Club and Reciprocity Club. Team managers are, respectively, G. A. Bonnett, Edwin Carl, Earl D. Kreson, Dr. Hugh B. Callahan, Thomas Pitt, Phil Baldwin, Raymond Catlin, John H. Shreve, Monroe Stockett, and Ralph H. Bangs. The league pennant was won in 1929 by Kiwanis and last year by the Cosmopolitans.

Managers of teams in Class B section of the Capitol Hill League will meet tonight at the home of Milton Levy, 1415 H street northeast, at 7:30 o'clock. The season opens Thursday.

The Men's Agricultural League opened last night at Columbia with nothing spectacular upsetting the evening's pin bending. Farm management won all three of its games, as did Grain, but Standards, Crop, Fruits and Vegetables and Horticulture all took it on the chin.

The Petroleum League opened last night at Columbia, with American Oil and Lord Baltimore winning, 3-0, from Tidewater and Crew Levick, respectively, and J. Ed Chapman and Stenard taking two from Texas and Gulf.

In the King Pin Business Men's League last night the Maccabees took three defeats from the National Litho Co. Chestnut Farms administered the same sort of treatment to Hecht Annex Juniors while Lansburghs was scalping the First Americans by the identical score.

AMERICAN U. SELECTS 8 REGULARS

Only Quarter, Guards Not Named for Game With Lynchburg.

THE American University Team, which opens its season against Lynchburg College at Lynchburg, Va., on Saturday, was identified yesterday by Coach Walter Young in eight of the eleven positions. The mentor of the Eagles is worried about the quarter back berth and the guards, but has hopes of determining definitely the best candidates for these jobs prior to the squad's departure Friday night.

In the end positions Young named Al Buffington, a freshman, and Wayne Larson, from last year's team. The tackles are Russell Lambert, biggest man in the squad and a veteran, and Scott Crampton, a freshman. John Mohr, another freshman, is the center choice.

Johnson, D. C. Boy, Earns Berth at Half.

A Washington boy, Danny Kessler, has won one of the wing back positions, while Fred Johnson, of the 1930 back field, retains the other. Ed Parke, an end last season, has been shifted to full back. The work of Kessler, a freshman, formerly of Eastern High School and Landon Prep, was particularly impressive yesterday in the Eagles' two-hour scrimmage.

LYONS, GROSS ARE AILING AT C. U.

SPECIAL treatment for two Catholic University line dependables was prescribed yesterday as the Cardinals resumed football work at Brookland.

Although no injuries of any consequence were reported after Saturday's Boston College game, a more thorough examination yesterday revealed that Jim Lyons, rugged guard, and Phil Gross, giant tackle, had suffered painful wrenches.

A lame back may keep Lyons inactive when New York City College is met at Brookland Saturday, while a twisted side is bothering Gross. A "baking out" process for both is being supervised by Trainer Louis Bruno.

An effort to correct mistakes detected in Saturday's play was made yesterday during an abbreviated session. Reserves and sophomores, for the most part, received the careful attention of Head Coach Bergman and his assistants.

Columbia's Women Win in Team Match

In the women's interclub team match played on the course of the Columbia Club yesterday between teams from the Army-Navy and Columbia Clubs, the latter team won, 8 points to 1.

Mrs. J. W. Beller and Mrs. H. R. Quinter, Columbia, vs. Mrs. J. M. Shock and Mrs. L. H. Hedrick, Army-Navy. Columbia, 2 points; Army-Navy, 1.

Mrs. Wm. S. Corby and Mrs. H. King Cornwell, Columbia, vs. Mrs. W. F. Holtzman and Mrs. C. K. Osborne, Army-Navy. Columbia, 3 points.

Mrs. Norman B. Frost and Mrs. J. R. DeFarges, Columbia, vs. Mrs. J. T. O'Rear and Mrs. Lewis Coxe, Army-Navy. Columbia, 3 points.

Announcement was made yesterday that the women's club championship tournament at the Columbia Country Club will begin on Monday, October 12. Mrs. Everett Eynon, the defending champion, will return to the city today.

CENTENNNIALS WORK TONIGHT.

Those Centennials hold a practice tonight at 7:30 on the New York Avenue Playgrounds.

Selection of G. U. Lne-up For Saturday Puzzles Mills

STILL laboring on the problem of selecting a first-string team, Coach Tommy Mills opened practice yesterday for his Georgetown football players, who encounter their first important test next Saturday when Western Maryland comes to Griffith Stadium with a record of no defeats in 27 games.

Despite the fine showing of one group who scored all the points registered against Lebanon Valley last Saturday, Mills announced that only three players out of the 50 under his wing are certain now of starting against the Green Terrors.

The trio whose efforts last Saturday lifted them to the position of regulars are Maurice "Mush" Dubofsky, 200-pound guard, who is playing his third season at the Hilltop; Ray Hudson, experienced right end, and Tommy Carolan, a sophomore who performs at left end.

Mills' announcement was surprising in two respects, first that he did not pick the entire eleven who gained the decision from Lebanon, and second, that he did not nominate Wilmer Bradley, the sophomore fullback, who turned in a 77-yard touchdown run among other notable bits of offensive play.

While he made no further comment, it is suspected that Mills sees strong possibilities in Leroy Bordeau, a veteran, as the first-string full back. Bordeau performed last Saturday with the starting team that gave a poor account of itself. However, Bordeau was an exception among a group that obviously was unsatisfactory.

Bradley is not out of the running by any means, Mills offered before dismissing the subject, and the husky sophomore doubtless will receive plenty of attention in the daily drills preceding the game.

DEPUTY OUTFIELDERS USEFUL TO MACKS

as the rest. He has relieved both Miller and Simmons at times this year.

In last year's world series Moore appeared long enough to earn his letter, when he went up as a pinch-hitter the day Connie Mack took Earnshaw out and sent Grove in. If he doesn't play any outfield in the impending series, quite likely he will get a chance to hit in the pinches, for he has been very reliable in several big moments this season, and Connie now figures that even if Moore pops out to the pitcher, at least he has had a tussle for his money.

Cramer is a Jerseyman from down around that lonely shore where Harry Sinclair and the DuPonts before him have been raising thoroughbreds and shelling ducks and field birds in the fall for several generations. Cy Perkins, then sitting out the last years of his career with the Athletics, discovered him pitching for a long pants ball team in a village named Manhawkin and, on a long gamble, engaged him on his own responsibility and shipped him to Philadelphia.

It was a daring thing of Cy to do, for he had no authority to spend the ball club's money for players. But he took a sporting chance and spent $1.45, this being the price of Cramer's railroad ticket, and sent him in, not knowing whether he would get the money back.

But Cramer assayed at least $5,000 worth in his crude state, so Connie reimbursed Cy and sent Cramer to Portland, Oreg., for schooling. He spent most of two seasons there, and after this year's training trip Connie regained him for outfield insurance. The policy soon paid off, too, for when Haas sprung his left wrist Cramer relieved him and Kid Gleason described his hitting manners a little too well perhaps, as the nearest imitation he had seen of Shoeless Joe Jackson's.

Cramer is now 24 years old; and though he spent several years learning to be a carpenter, he probably will not saw and hammer any more. He seems pretty certain to move into a steady outfield job in a year or two, and lately, as an off-season occupation, he has been selling insurance.

Midshipmen to See Navy Play Maryland

The corps of Midshipmen from the Naval Academy which will accompany the Navy football team to Washington on October 10, when the Annapolitans play Maryland in Griffith Stadium, will sit in the bleachers on the south side of the gridiron.

The Middies like to be out in the open and they are used to doing their colorful stunts at grid games from wooden seats, as they sit on similar ones at the contests on Farragut Field in Annapolis.

Widespread interest has been shown in the game and thousands of tickets have been sent out from Annapolis and College Park. Tickets are available here at Griffith Stadium.

PLAYGROUND NET FINAL TODAY

ROSEDALE and Burroughs fought their ways into the final round of the Junior Playground Tennis League play-off yesterday afternoon on the courts at Chevy Chase grounds, and this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will battle it out for the championship in four singles and one doubles match.

Rosedale entered the title round by eliminating Chevy Chase, while Burroughs' victim was Georgetown. Both matches were decided by the narrow margin of 3—2.

Paul Clements and Joe Shank, of Rosedale, gave their team its winning margin yesterday by beating the hard-driving pair of Stewart Robey and Sam Root, 9—7, 6—4. Clements and Shank won through their ability to keep the ball in play, and were aided by occasional wildness on the part of the eventual losers. The match started at 5—5, at which point it was postponed Friday.

May and Robb, of Burroughs, showed their gameness in winning over the Lomax brothers, of Georgetown, 6—2, 5—7, 6—3, after trailing, 0—3 in the third set.

COLUMBIA DRILLS.

The Columbia A. C. will drill tonight and Thursday night at Seventeenth and B streets northwest. The Columbia wants 160-pound backs.

DIXIE PIGS DRILL.

The Dixie Pigs unlimited grid team will practice tonight at 8 o'clock on Seat Pleasant Field.

BUSINESS TO SEE ACTION TODAY

Open With Emerson; Western to Scrimmage A. U.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

EMERSON INSTITUTE and Business High will serve to keep the high school football rolling today, when they meet in what is annually a romp for Emerson on the Monument Lot at 3:30 o'clock. Amounting to little more than a practice game at best, the tussle should keep Emerson in trim for next Saturday's game with Gettysburg and introduce Business to what promises to be another sad chapter in the athletic life of the Stenographers.

Made up of such lightweights as Cavanaugh, Strasser, Purr, Cooke, Kalinsky and Capt. Mastromarino, Business is rated three touchdowns poorer than Emerson, not that Emerson is the local berries among the schoolboys, but its bulk and general individual brilliance should account for that much of an advantage.

Tech and Central buckled down to business yesterday afternoon, with a view to presenting their strongest possible teams for Friday afternoon when Central goes out to even a 33-0 defeat John Marshall High, of Richmond, handed it last year, and Tech travels to Episcopal, with the same end in view, that of righting a 1930 wrong.

Tech Plays at Episcopal.

The two games stand preeminent in the week of high school sports. It is only through a shift in the scheduled plans that they will not vie with each other for the local customers' patronage. Tech was due to meet Episcopal at Tech. The occasion was to have marked the formal opening of the Tech Field and bid fair to go far toward ridding Tech of the debt incurred by the purchase of equipment for its giant squad. Incomplete inclosure of the field by fence forces it to be played at Episcopal.

Good crowds should consequently flock to the Central game at Central Stadium Friday. The first effort of Coach Bert Coggins has been brightened by the return of good material to the team. No less than eleven members of the outfit have had high school series experience, and a new note of "die for dear old Central" is pervading the region of Thirteenth street and Florida avenue, a spirit which has been missing for several years.

Central, in Frank Koscis and Frank Cumberland, has the two best backs in the high schools. Big shifty boys, their names will stud the headlines before the season progresses far.

Western Scrimmages American U.

Western celebrates its fifth practice of the year today by scrimmaging American University, at American. Dan Ahearn has not much in the way of material at the Georgetown school, excepting good line prospects, augmented by the veteran Buscher boys. He has been attempting to transform several incipient forwards into backs. Jackie Lynham, chief ball toter to date, tips the scales at 135, wet.

Western opens Friday with Gonzaga at Gonzaga. Gonzaga has been showing ragged edges to date, particularly in the back field, and Friday's tussle gives promise of being long of defense and puerile on offense.

Capital Golfers In Tie In Baltimore Contest.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—In the best-ball professional-amateur golf match at the Suburban Club today, two pairs knotted for first place. They were Gene Larkin and Charles Mackall, of Washington, with 35—33—68, two under the orthodox figures, and Carroll MacMasters, Rolling Road pro, and Dave Crook, 35—33—68.

Three teams tied for the next honors. One was the father-and-son duet, J. Munro Hunter, sr., and J. Munro Hunter, jr., from Indian Spring. This pair accounted for 37—32—69. Others in the same knot were Glenn Spencer, Maryland Country Club pro, and G. J. Campbell and Cliff Spencer and Spencer Overton, Forest Park Golf Club.

The Larkin-Mackall team made an eagle three on the 500-yard ninth.

Scores of the other Washingtonians among the 40 entrants follow: Archie Clark and Forest Thompson, 35—36—71; Robert Barnett and Richard Davidson, 34—37—71; George Diffenbaugh and J. W. Harvey, 35—36—71; Arthur Thorne and Dr. M. Harris, 37—35—72.

White and Williams Draw in "Y" Feature

Five bouts in a boxing exhibition, the first of a series preparing the Twelfth Street "Y" team for engagements in Baltimore and Philadelphia, were staged last night. In the feature, Johnny White and Battling Williams fought two extra rounds to a draw in the fifth. The semiwindup, between Cholly Wells and Kid Perry, also ended in a five-round draw.

Other bouts on the card saw Charley Walker outpoint Sid Norris, Tuffy Cleveland gain the verdict over Walter Nelson and Kid Williams get the decision over Young Kid Chocolate.

Congress Heights Works.

The Congress Heights 135-pound gridmen will practice every night this week at 5 o'clock. Sunday they tackle the Northeast Trojans at Eleventh and Savannah.

FENLON LOST TO COLONIAL ELEVEN

Ankle Bone Broken; Carlin, Coogler Also Injured.

WHATEVER satisfaction George Washington rooters got out of Saturday's one-sided victory Shenandoah has given way to alarm over injuries received by a trio of its back-field stars.

Johnny "Soapy" Fenlon, by long odds the best back on the squad, is definitely lost to the team for some time. An X-ray revealed that "Soapy" has a broken bone in his ankle. The injury was sustained in training camp. At first it was thought to be only a sprain, but the X-ray confirmed the pessimistic belief of a broken bone when the injury failed to respond.

Carlin, Coogler Also Injured.

As if Fenlon's injury wasn't enough hard luck for one day, two other quarter backs came out of Saturday's game considerably the worse for wear and tear. Lee Carlin, who starred, received a twisted knee and ankle on the same leg, so he likely will be doing bench duty for a couple of weeks, and Frank Coogler also had his troubles.

Coogler replaced Carlin in the back field and looked good during the time he was in the game. But hard luck dogged his tracks, too, for he received a badly broken nose and will have to play with a special guard when he is able to don the spangles again.

VETERAN REFEREE DIES.

Revere, Mass., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Jack Sheehan, 69, dean of New England boxing referees, died tonight at his home after a short illness. He had acted as referee for 44 years, and on several occasions was the third man in the ring with such fighters as Dempsey, Jeffries, Corbett and Sharkey.

PING PONG TOURNEY.

The first annual ping pong tournament, staged by the Columbia Ping Pong Courts, will be held beginning October 12 at the tables in the Riggs Bank-Tomkins Building, Fourteenth and Monroe. Trophies to be awarded to the winners are on display at R. Harris & Co., jewelers. Entries are being received by Herbert L. Shepard, at the Columbia Courts.

PROPOSAL TO MERGE GAS UTILITIES BARED AT QUIZ INTO OWNER

Hearing Here Reveals Plans for Combine Offered by Pierce's Company.

VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND PLANTS ALSO INCLUDED

Attorney Denies Knowledge of Papers Reported as Taken From Files.

The Central Public Service Corporation, $400,000,000 utilities holding concern headed by Albert E. Peirce, of Chicago, planned to combine gas companies of Washington and nearby Maryland and Virginia into one large concern as a part of their financing and management, it was developed at the gas ownership hearings before the Public Utilities Commission yesterday.

The plan was asked about by William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, in the course of his examination of Walter M. Russell, chief engineer of the local gas company, who occupied the witness chair throughout the session.

Mr. Russell said that he had never prepared any "carefully considered plan" for carrying out such a scheme, but added that he believed that it would be good business for everybody concerned. The companies mentioned were the Washington, Georgetown, Washington and Georgetown companies of Montgomery County, Rosslyn, Alexandria, Hyattsville, and the Patuxent gas companies. Mr. Russell said he could not say whether the Patuxent company was a subsidiary of the Central Public Service Corporation.

Papers Subject of Inquiry.

Arthur Dean, member of the firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, of New York, counsel for the Central Public Service Corporation officers before the commission, as soon as the hearing was resumed yesterday took notice of published reports that certain papers were missing from the gas company files.

Referring specifically to a so-called organization chart, about which Mr. Roberts questioned company officers last week, who professed ignorance of its existence, Mr. Dean said that he had ordered all copies of the chart destroyed because he believed it might have a bad effect on the morale of the personnel of the local gas company, inasmuch as it proposed that outsiders sent here from Chicago should displace local officers. The chart, Mr. Dean said, had been prepared without authorization and had no weight.

"I don't know of a single document that bears on this case which has not been supplied the commission," Mr. Dean added, obviously referring to reports that other papers were missing from the gas files. Mr. Dean said he had informed Mr. Roberts three weeks ago that the so-called organization chart had been destroyed.

Central Connection Admitted.

Mr. Russell, when he took the stand, admitted that he "knew vaguely" of the connection of the Central Public Service Corporation with the local gas company. He said that he understood the corporation had a minority interest in the local company.

Recalled to the witness stand by Mr. Roberts in an effort to get into the record more definite information about the control exercised by the corporation over the local company than was drawn from corporation officers, Mr. Russell gave his answers slowly and carefully.

He admitted that the west plant of the gas company was old and its machinery antiquated, and that he had recommended its abandonment and the improvement of the east plant to care for future needs of the company. The west plant lies in territory which is to be taken over by the Government for park development. Its elimination, too, would have been reflected in the valuation figure of the company, and might affect any showing which was sought to be made in support of a stock or bond issue.

Improvements Are Cited.

Despite his recommendation that the west plant be abandoned as soon as possible, Mr. Russell admitted, officers of the Central Public Service Corporation had ordered extensive improvements of it and its continued operation.

Alfred Hurlburt, engineer sent here by the Chicago headquarters, went over his head and communicated directly with his subordinates at times, Mr. Russell admitted. One of these occasions was in connection with a plan to cut down operating expenses and save $401,900 a year by the discharge of many employes.

The Chicago communication said that it was known that a lot of old men would be affected, but declared that the sooner Washington company executives made up their minds to fire many and reclassify others it would be better for all concerned.

This plan was communicated to Washington from Vice President McClure, of the corporation.

The deal whereby the Chicago headquarters planned to make the Washington company pay for a natural gas pipe line, already owned by the Washington company, also was touched on. Mr. Russell admitted that he had "protested" against a charge of $2,400 a month in this connection when the first bills came to his attention for approval.

Bills Finally Paid.

The bills were paid, however, although the arrangement subsequently was suspended.

No formal notice was taken yesterday of publication of a letter written by James Piper, Baltimore attorney, to Donald F. McPherson, of Chicago, general counsel for the Central Public Service Corporation. The letter dealt with changes it was proposed to make in the contract held by the Washington gas company for natural gas. The letter was not introduced in the hearing and probably will not be, inasmuch as it is a letter from one attorney to another, and some of it, at least, might be privileged matter.

George A. G. Wood, president of the local gas company, is to take the witness chair when the hearing is resumed at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. Roberts said he expected to conclude his examination today.

Police and Neighbors Join In Wide Search for Boy, 3

B. V. Pumphrey, Jr., Missing Since Noon; Appeal Sent Over Radio.

A child-hunt which began at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a worried mother reported to police that her 3-year-old son had strayed from their home at 1367 C street northeast, had grown to city-wide proportions late last night, with scores of neighborhood residents helping police comb the section and radio listeners in on Station WJSV asked to be on the lookout for Bernard Vincent Pumphrey, jr., the missing boy.

Mrs. Estelle Pumphrey, the mother, said Bernard slipped out of the house about noon without her knowledge. Discovering his absence, she concluded that he was with neighbors and did not become worried until 3 o'clock. Then she notified police.

Every member of the department was ordered by radio to be on the lookout for the youngster and all hospitals were checked, to no avail. Neighbors and residents for blocks around pressed their automobiles into service to look for Bernard.

He has blond hair, fair complexion and blue eyes and was wearing a green jersey suit, pink sweater and black and white shoes.

NEW TITLES ISSUED ON FOURTH OF CARS

Van Duzer Explains Bar to Use of Autos Lacking Certificates.

Eighty week days remain in which Washington auto owners may obtain titles for their cars under the new District law, and at the rate applications are being received at the Traffic Bureau many cars will not have titles and will be barred from the streets after January 1.

According to Director William A. Van Duzer yesterday, in a plea to local automobile owners to cooperate with his bureau and send in their applications, nearly two months have gone by since the first car was titled and only 30,000 certificates have been issued, leaving a total of 90,000 to be handled before the first of the year.

In commenting, Mr. Van Duzer said:

"It will be impossible for automobile owners to obtain 1932 tags before their cars have been properly titled. In addition to this a law has been passed in Congress which definitely states that no car shall be driven on the streets after the first of the year without a title.

"Obviously, this takes the matter entirely out of our hands, and even should this office allow an extension on 1931 tags it would be illegal for a driver to operate a car without a title."

Mr. Van Duzer pointed out that his staff for the titling work is limited to 30 employes and that there is no reason to believe that it will be possible to increase this number. "We are receiving 700 applications a day," he said. "It is evident that at this rate there is going to be a heavy rush toward the end of the year." He explained that approximately four days is required for a title to be granted.

Commenting on effectiveness of the new title law, Mr. Van Duzer said that more than 50 stolen cars have been detected among those for which titles have been asked. He explained that in most of these cases the owners were entirely innocent, presenting what they believed to be valid bills of sale.

Rescue Squad Car And Sedan Collide

Ambulance Proceeds and Aids Girl Suffering From Indigestion.

A fire rescue squad ambulance, speeding on an emergency call late yesterday, collided with the sedan of George Frediani at Thirteenth and K streets northwest, causing slight damage to both vehicles. The ambulance continued to 1417 K street, its destination, where Miss Pauline Hollinger, a secretary in the Boss & Phelps real estate office was treated for acute indigestion. Later she was removed to Emergency Hospital.

Daniel J. McCarty was driving the rescue squad car. Frediani is 55 and lives at 1309 M street northwest.

Several hours earlier a Fire Department hose wagon and Francis M. Coffey's sedan collided at Thirty-fifth and R streets while the former was bound for a fire near the intersection. No one was hurt. Coffey lives in Bethesda, Md. The blaze, which was in J. E. Creed's house at 2116 Thirty-seventh street, was extinguished with little loss.

Girl Loses Two Teeth As Automobiles Crash

In a collision of two automobiles at Twentieth and K streets northwest last night, Elinor Marie Smith, 22, of the Park Lane Apartments, suffered lacerations of the mouth, face and two broken teeth. She was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Miss Smith was riding with Philip N. Partridge, 22, of 1409 Sixteenth street northwest, when his car struck that of Anis Peterson Bradshaw, 27, of 5336 Colorado avenue. Partridge's car overturned, but he was not badly hurt.

AIR LEGION WILL ASK NEW ZONING OF LAND

Application, With 26 Others, to Be Heard at Meeting on October 7.

Application of the Air Legion, Inc., to change the zoning of a 125-acre tract adjacent to Conduit road is the most important of 27 petitions scheduled yesterday by the District Zoning Commission for hearing at its fall session on October 7 at 10 a. m., in the boardroom of the District Building.

The Air Legion proposes to erect a five-story air embassy for use of its members, together with an air landing field and a golf course. The tract is bounded by Loughboro road, Conduit road, Klingle street and a proposed 160-foot boulevard to run between Loughboro and Conduit roads.

If the application to change the zoning from "A" restricted to residential "B" is granted, the promoters propose to close McComb, Dearing, Watson and Maud streets, and Weaver terrace, and to return the property to the former owners.

Among other applications is one to change from residential "A" to "B" restricted area the interior parts of squares bounded by Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, W and Calvert streets northwest, so as to permit the erection of a number of row houses. A new short street will be cut through the property.

The square bounded by Alton place, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Yuma streets is designated in one application for change from residential "A" restricted to residential "B" so that apartment houses may be erected in the area.

Man Dies in Hospital After Being Hit by Auto

Struck by an automobile at Fifth and I streets northwest last night, George Belt, colored, died a few minutes after being admitted to Casualty Hospital. Internal injuries proved fatal. He was 47 years old and lived at 9 Limerick court southwest.

Joseph F. Garrett, 25, 3624 Connecticut avenue, was driving the machine which ran down the pedestrian, according to police. He was released in custody of his father, pending action by the coroner.

Truck Fractures Skull Of 3-Year-Old Child

Knocked down by a large truck into the path of which she ran near her home at 1112 Penn street northeast, 3-year-old Mary Sizer was in a serious condition last night with a skull fracture. Harry Burns, 26, 216 First street southwest, was operating the truck, police reported.

The child was taken to Casualty Hospital by Burns. He was detained pending the outcome of the child's condition.

Telephone Orders Net Two on Liquor Charges

Using the telephone order system, Policemen H. G. Wannamaker and T. M. McVeary made two rum arrests within a short time last night and seized a small quantity of alleged liquor. The prisoners, Wade S. Barron, 23, and Calvin Petty, 35, were charged with illegal possession.

The same phone number brought Barron and, a few minutes later, Petty to a spot near Sixth and G streets northwest, where the policemen were waiting. The former gave 900 Eighth street southeast as his address, and Petty said he lives at 3120 Dumbarton avenue.

Speakers Bureau to Combat Reds.

A speakers bureau to combat Communism has been established by the District of Columbia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, according to D. B. Axtell, director of correspondence and safety, of the local organization. Any request addressed to the national headquarters of the society at 1227 Sixteenth street northwest will bring a speaker, he said.

Tar Seizes Man Suspected Of Swindling Him of $100

Sailor Lavaugh Cobb, who reported being flimflammed out of $100 Sunday by two strangers, yesterday carried on the Navy's traditional "Don't give up the ship" determination.

Going back to the scene of his financial defeat at a bus depot, Cobb yesterday encountered a man whom he said he recognized as one of the "land pirates" who took him into camp the day before.

Cobb seized the man and held him until police arrived.

The suspect denied ever having seen the sailor, who has been on leave here and who was preparing to return to his ship, the U. S. S. Asheville, anchored at Boston, when relieved of his money. The accused man gave the name of Lem Harris, 45 years old, and was booked at the Third Precinct on a charge of larceny by trick pending further police inquiry.

ANOTHER CARLOAD OF FURNITURE FOR SCHOOLS ARRIVES

Swelling List at McKinley, Central and Langley Causes Concern.

CRANE BLAMES CONCERN FOR EQUIPMENT DELAY

Kramer Admits That Pupils Haven't Conveniences They Are Entitled to.

District school officials wore happier expressions yesterday as another carload of delayed furniture rolled into Washington. But at the same time they expressed concern over the swelling enrollment at Central and McKinley High Schools and the Langley Junior High School.

Unless the enrollment at Central increases to an unexpected degree it will not be necessary to introduce a double shift program, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Stephen E. Kramer said yesterday afternoon. The same applies to the other schools.

Mr. Kramer admitted that pupils at the congested schools are not enjoying all the conveniences they are entitled to. For example, the auditoriums and libraries have to be used for study periods and laboratories are used for section classrooms. Enrollment at Central is 2,932. The school is supposed to accommodate 2,400 pupils. McKinley has 2,662 pupils, against a normal enrollment of 2,300. Langley Junior High has 1,400 pupils enrolled, while the maximum enrollment is supposed to be 1,200.

Work of fitting the new schools with furniture is going forward as fast as the new equipment arrives. Meanwhile, classes without new furniture are using substitute equipment. Jere J. Crane, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, said yesterday that he is still "mad" over the confusion caused by the delayed furniture, but could not say exactly who he is "mad" with.

Has Been Assured.

He pointed out that if the Derby company had carried out the specifications of its contract to have the furniture ready in 45 days, the equipment would have reached here a week before schools opened, plenty of time in which to place it in the new schools. He said he was assured by a representative of the Derby company two weeks before schools opened that the furniture would be here in time and, in view of this, did not make any emergency arrangement.

Mr. Crane was asked about one phase of the delay which was not brought to light when the furniture agitation was at its height. This concerned the time between which bids were received by Mr. Crane from the District purchasing officer and the time he returned a recommendation to the purchasing officer as to which contractor should be awarded the job.

Was Sent On May 15.

Records show the schedule of contractors was sent to Mr. Crane by the purchasing officer on May 15 and that a recommendation was returned to the latter on June 12. The school business manager admitted his recommendation could have been submitted sooner if he had neglected other work or worked overtime. He explained that he did not deem this necessary, as neither he nor any one else was able to forsee complications arising through contest of the contract by a lower bidder.

Mr. Crane observed that even if his recommendation had been sent to the purchasing officer sooner, the arrival of the furniture would not have been expedited, because the Comptroller would still have been called on to render a decision in the case and the Derby Co. would have taken the same time over manufacturing and delivering the furniture.

Woman Struck by Car Sues for $25,000

Suit for $25,000 damages against Franklin T. Howe, 1730 Twenty-first street northwest, was begun in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Frances Dold, of the LaSalle Apartment, through Attorney Howe P. Cochran.

The suit alleges that an automobile operated by Howe struck Miss Dold as she was walking at Connecticut avenue and L street northwest, on May 12, 1931. She sustained severe injuries, some of which, it was alleged, were of a permanent nature.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

CONSOLATION.

WAGES merrily drop
As our dividends stop;
England's payments in gold
are suspended;
But suppress all your sighs
For a big banker cries—
"It's a sign the depression is ended."

All the stocks that I hold
Have been "heavily sold;"
To the world and his wife I'm a debtor;
Europe's future is blurred
But I'm cheered by the word
Of an expert who says "things look better."

I'm behind in my rent—
All my money's been spent,
And the outlook seems far from seductive;
All the world's up a tree
But the brokers agree
That the happenings all are "constructive."

HIGHER taxes are near
And we'll never get beer,
Near the rocks many nations are moving;
There's a sheriff in charge
But I'm cheered, by and large,
By a statement, "The outlook's improving."

I have just sold my car,
All my nerves are ajar,
And my neck would make some one a ropeful;
They have called all my notes
But my broker (in quotes)
Says, "The signs are decidedly hopeful."
I am hungry—and how!
And I'm yearning for chow;
To the poor farm I seem to be breezing.
But I ought to feel gay
For I hear the czars say,
"All the signs are distinctly more pleasing."

I'VE a wife sick abed
And I'm deep in the red;
There is nothing to eat on the table.
But I feel I should cheer,
For a big financier Says, "Conditions are now getting stable."

I have six kiddies ill
And I can't pay a bill;
How we all feel the pinch of privation!
But I'm kept from despair,
For my brokers declare,
"Things are now on a firmer foundation!"

Possibly the recent rise in railroad stocks was due to a report from a locomotive engineer that he thought he saw a man signaling as if he meant to ride on a train.

HALLOWEEN PARTY PLANS MATURED BY SPONSORS OF FETE

Seven Silver Cups Adopted as Major Awards for Parade Winners.

DANCE, MUSIC AND PRIZE SUBCOMMITTEE NAMED

Chairmen of Groups Report Participation Promised by Civic Bodies.

Progress in plans for Washington's first city-wide Halloween celebration was made by the general committee arranging the event at a lengthy meeting last night. Many details were approved at the session, and a number of subcommittees were appointed and their parts in the project outlined.

Decision to award seven silver loving cups for different types of participation in the carnival procession, feature night event, was made. A number of smaller awards were also agreed upon. Major awards will be for winners in the following classes:

Civic or local organization floats; commercial floats; out-of-town floats; decorated private vehicles; out-of-town costume groups; local or civic organization costume groups, and individual costume.

Start Near Seventh Street.

After a report by H. I. Swanton, chairman of the parade committee, that traffic officials had advised that the starting point of the procession be somewhere near Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, it was agreed to acquiesce with that suggestion, but designation of the actual forming point was deferred until later.

L. S. Trundle, chairman of a subcommittee appointed to develop the celebration idea among citizens' associations, reported he is obtaining an enthusiastic response. Many have signified their intention of having either floats, costumed groups or both in the parade. Mrs. E. C. Rittue and Mrs. Susanne Rauscher, of a subcommittee appointed to work with parent teacher groups, reported they expected participation by those bodies.

Three Subcommittees Named.

Subcommittees appointed by General Chairman William A. Roberts, last night included groups to provide lighting and decoration of Constitution avenue for the Mardi Gras ball and dancing carnival after the parade to arrange for music and to plan for prizes.

Besides participation in the parade by local musical organizations such as the Boys' Club Band, the music committee was instructed to do all possible to obtain at least one if not more of the Marine, Infantry, Naval and other military bands on station in or near the District.

Subcommittees designated last night are as follows: Music, A. C. Case, chairman; Joseph L. Gammell, Dewey Zirkin and Col. E. G. Bliss; lighting, E. C. Graham, chairman; J. W. McGarry, Mrs. M. Z. Baughman; prizes, A. K. Shipe, chairman; Mrs. Clara Wright Smith and Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle.

Mrs. E. K. Peeples, director of community centers, was designated by Chairman Roberts to arrange advice to various groups in the matter of float and costume designing.

Skull of School Boy Broken in Auto Mishap

Twelve-year-old Edward Williams was in a serious condition at Alexandria Hospital last night, after being struck by an automobile yesterday morning on the Lee-Jackson Highway, about two miles west of Fairfax Courthouse. He was transferring from one school bus to another when the accident occurred.

Ernest Denty, Pender, Va., youth, was driving to Oakton High School when his machine hit Williams, according to Fairfax authorities. He was not held. An operation was performed to save the boy's life. He suffered a fracture of the skull and numerous body injuries. Capt. H. J. Durrer investigated the accident.

Lyon Lectures on Japan.

An illustrated lecture on the working and living conditions of Japan was delivered last night by Gideon A. Lyon, of the Washington Star, at a meeting of the North Capitol Citizens Association, held in the new McKinley High School.

Dictators Rule Backward, Pergler Replies to Butler

National University Dean, at Opening of Term, Takes Issue With Columbia President; Justices Also Speak at Exercises.

Taking direct issue with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia University president, who last week asserted that dictatorships produced intellectual giants while democracies "have brought midgets into the seats of the mighty," Dr. Charles Pergler, dean of the graduate department of National University, declared last night that dictatorships arise in "comparatively" backward countries and that the dictators themselves merely have the "illusion of greatness" through comparison.

A democracy, on the other hand, Dr. Pergler said, presupposes a high leval of education among its masses and therefore its leaders do not appear to tower so high above their fellow citizens.

Speaking at the opening exercises of National University's sixty-third fall term, and sharing the stage with two Federal justices, Dr. Pergler cited the frequent assertion that the present is a "lawless age." This characterization, he said, has been applied more frequently to the United States where, he insisted, it does not belong.

"Frequent violations of law by individuals, or even groups," Dr. Pergler asserted, "are an ominous phenomenon, but conditions are even worse where governments disregard laws and constitutions. That is a charge which can not be made in America, but is valid in many other countries."

The jurists who spoke briefly were Chief Justice Fenton W. Booth, of the United States Court of Claims, who is professor of elements of jurisprudence at National University, and Justice Oscar Luhring, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, who is National's professor of law of suretyship.

Tribute was paid by the speakers on National's opening program to Dr. Charles Francis Carusi, chancellor of the university who died last wniter, and Justice Frederick L. Siddons, of the District Supreme Court and veteran member of National's faculty who died in the spring.

3 INDICTED CONTEST GRAND JURY ACTION

Abatement Pleas Are Filed in Test of Validity of True Bills.

Three persons indicted by the illegal grand jury have already served official notice that they intend to contest legality of their indictments. Pleas in abatement, the formal manner of launching a contest over the validity of an indictment, have been filed for Hazel M. Chinn, charged with abortion, Harry W. Stevens, charged with embezzlement and forgery, and Thomas Redmond, charged with two cases of housebreaking and larceny.

Attorney Cedric Johnson, appearing for Miss Chinn, yesterday went to the office of the Criminal Court clerk and formally presented a motion withdrawing a plea of not guilty that Miss Chinn had entered. In its stead he filed a plea in abatement, which attacked the indictment.

A ruling on the plea can not be had except by especial arrangement with Justice Adkins, who is now sitting, until the fall term of the Criminal Court opens October 6. At that time, there will have to be a judicial ruling on the question of whether or not the grand jury, with a Spanish-American War pensioner serving, was properly constituted.

Miss Chinn was indicted for her alleged share in an operation that caused the death of a young woman. David Leroy Russell entered a plea of guilty to the operation and was sentenced to serve four years in jail. When he was sentenced the Government entered a nolle prosse to the charge against Miss Chinn. For reasons that developed later, the charge against her was again presented to the grand jury by which she was indicted.

Mid-City Citizens Seek Signal Lights

Judge Mattingly Praises Neighborhood Group for Work.

The Mid-City Citizens Association, at a meeting last night in the Thomson Community Center, Twelfth and L streets northwest, adopted a number of resolutions asking the director of traffic to equip dangerous intersections in that section with adequate safety devices.

Signal lights were requested at the intersection of Vermont avenue, Twelfth and R streets northwest and Twelfth and M streets northwest. The association also asked that traffic lights be continued east on H street from Seventh street to New York avenue northwest. A stop sign was requested to be placed at Fifth and L streets northwest.

Judge Robert E. Mattingly, of the District Police Court, who is a member of the organization, delivered the principal address. He spoke on civic improvements and lauded the association for its work in the community. The meeting closed with the discussion of plans for participation in the civic celebration on Halloween night.

Jar Tops Fail to Prove Possession of Liquor

A Police Court jury yesterday indicated it did not believe two jar tops constituted possession of liquor. That finding freed Frank P. O'Brien, 19 years old, of a charge of possession.

Mr. O'Brien was arrested September 14 after he had thrown two jars from his machine while police were near him. The jar tops were salvaged and a possession charge was made out, but the jury found for Mr. O'Brien. Previously he had been fined $25 for breaking glass in the streets.

DAVISON PLANNING NEW WAGE SCALES

Rates Designed to Please Unions Would Govern Work Contracts.

A new wage scale, designed to please Secretary of Labor Doak and labor union officials, may be submitted to the District Commissioners today by Maj. D. A. Davison, acting engineer commissioner, following several conferences yesterday with contractors.

While declining to reveal what the scale may be, Maj. Davison said that he expected to have the scale formulated at once. He admitted that he had held numerous conferences recently with officials of the Labor Department on the problem of adapting wages on District government building projects to the Bacon-Davis prevailing wage law.

In view of recent developments it is expected that the new scale will be higher than that rejected several weeks ago by the Commissioners after Secretary Doak had disapproved of it. The wages will in all probability be close to the union standard.

The Secretary of Labor is understood to have made such a demand in a letter sent last week to Majj. H. L. Robb, asistant engineer commissioner, but its receipt and content have been kept secret.

Just how the new scale will affect contracts which have already been awarded on the present wage basis is something that the Commissioners will have to determine.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride gave the opinion on the former wage scale proposal, after Secretary Doak had voiced his disapproval, that the inclusion of such a scale in a contract would be illegal. Just how the new scale may be adapted is conjectural.

Pressing Prices May Drop To Cent in Father-Son War

Attorneys for Benjamin and Maxwell Sherman, father and son, whose price-slashing war has virtually monopolized all the cleaning and pressing trade in the Brightwood section, promised Justice Jesse C. Adkins yesterday in the District Supreme Court that they would get the warring factions together and attempt to effect a settlement.

The Shermans were in business at 5305 Georgia avenue until six months ago, when Maxwell decided to set out for himself two doors above his father's shop. The court action was due to the fact that Maxwell advertised on his window, "Under Sherman Management." His father objected to this, and a price-cutting battle ensued.

Then the father began his legal fight. This made Maxwell the more determined to win, so he had a banner stretched across the front of his store advertising that he would press a suit for a nickel. This seemed to be the winning price, as Benjamin said he couldn't compete with that.

Justice Adkins, after hearing a brief portion of the story in court yesterday, advised the attorneys to try to get the two together. From what little he heard, Justice Adkins said he was of the opinion that the name advertised by the son was a bit unfair to his father, inasmuch as the shops are only two doors apart.

Maxwell declared last night that he had not heard from his attorney, but that as far as he was concerned he would carry the fight all the way, as Sherman was the name his father gave him and he had a right to use it. He has a sign all ready in case his father beats his nickel price to advertise the fact that he will press a suit for a cent. In the meantime the male residents of Brightwood are probably the best-pressed men in town.

200-FOOT PILLARS AT BRIDGE CALLED AVIATION MENACES

Commerce Department and Board of Trade Oppose Arlington Plans.

PROTEST IS SUBMITTED TO GOVERNMENT BODY

Responsibility for Safeguarding Planes Put Up to U. S., District Heads.

Objections to plans for two 200-foot granite columns at the south end of the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, on the grounds that they will present a hazard to aviation due to their proximity to the Washington Hoover Airport, came yesterday from the Department of Commerce and the aviation committee of the Board of Trade.

Announcement was made at the offices of Col. U. S. Grant 3rd, executive officer of the Arlington Memorial Bridge Commission, that the objections will be given consideration by the commission at an early date.

Committee Is Named.

Members of the Board of Trade aviation committee appointed a subcommittee to present its objections to Col. Grant. This subcommittee consists of Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the aviation committee; William P. MacCracken, jr., former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and Charles M. Saxelby.

Erection of the columns on Columbia Island within a short distance of the approach to the Washington-Hoover Airport would be a distinct hazard to aviation, it was pointed out. The aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce stated that failure of the Federal and District Governments to establish an airport in Washington made it incumbent upon them to safeguard a commercial development.

As an alternative proposal, the aeronautics branch suggested that the shafts be adequately lighted if they are erected. Either flood lights on clear nights or red lamps when visibility is poor were proposed for this purpose.

May Abolish Road.

The Board of Trade committee tabled a motion to urge removal of Military road which runs past the airport. Elimination of the highway, it was stated, would make possible the unification of the two airports on either side of the highway should the two companies decide to combine.

The committee received a report that negotiations are under way to bury the high-tension wires which now cross the south end of the field. The committee discussed the possibility of establishing an airport at Gravelly Point, but agreed this objective was too far distant to be considered seriously at this time.

Food Conserving Office Looted.

Theft of $10 worth of stamps from the Conservation Food Committee's headquarters at 1016 Pennsylvania avenue northwest was reported to police yesterday. Entrance was gained Sunday, it was believed, and though the place appeared thoroughly ransacked, nothing else was found to be missing.
